SMALL INTESTINE PATTERNS

1. Small intestine Yang Deficiency & Cold
2. Small intestine Cold & Qi Stagnation
3. Small intestine Qi Stagnation
4. Small intestine Heat

KIDNEY PATTERNS

1. Kidney Yang Deficiency
2. Kidney Not Receiving Lungs Qi
3. Kidney Qi Sinking
4. Kidney & Spleen Yang Deficiency
5. Kidney Yin Deficiency
6. Kidney & Liver Yin Deficiency
7. Kidney & Lung Yin Deficiency
8. Kidney & Heart Yin Deficiency
9. Kidney Essence Deficiency
- 10.Kidney Yang Deficiency & Body Fluid Stagnation
- 11.Kidney Yin Deficiency & Heat

GALL BLADDER PATTERNS

1. Gall Bladder Qi Deficiency
2. Gall Bladder Dampness
3. Gall Bladder Damp & Heat
4. Gall Bladder and Liver Damp & Heat

PERICARDIUM PATTERNS

1. Pericardium Blood Deficiency
2. Pericardium Qi Stagnation
3. Pericardium Heat
4. Pericardium Fire
5. Pericardium Phlegm & Fire
6. Pericardium Blood Stasis

Regarding Homeopathy medicine follow the rules given below:-

1. 6C or 30C Potency for Acute condition
2. 200C or 1M Potency for cases above 3 months
3. 1M Potency for Nosodes weekly twice.

6C, 30C and 200C two doses daily. Homeopathy medicine should be taken One hour before food on Empty Stomach. Don't keep medicine near Scented items. Avoid Tea, coffee and Masala items while taking Homeopathy Medicines. Follow this rules strictly. You can change the Potency if the medicine given doesn't work. In such cases go for higher Potency.

You can install Homeopathy Apps and verify the medicine in Matera Medica.

All mother tincture 10 drops in warm water two times a day.

All Bio Medicines in 6X Potency should be taken three times a day.

Don't give all medicines. Give two medicines, one mother tincture and one Bio Medicines

Acupuncture Patterns, Points with Homeopathy Medicine

Lung Patterns

1. Lung Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic illness or recurrent respiratory infections

Weak congenital Lung Qi

Overwork, fatigue, or poor nutrition reducing postnatal Qi

Repeated Wind-Cold invasions

Emotional stress, grief, or sadness affecting Lung function

Buy Indian

Pathology:

Lung Qi is weak → unable to disperse and descend fluids → mild phlegm, fluid retention

Wei Qi is deficient → spontaneous sweating, poor immunity

Lung unable to support Heart → palpitations, fatigue

Chronic deficiency may impair Spleen & Kidney function

Signs & Symptoms:

Shortness of breath, worse on exertion

Weak voice, low energy, fatigue

Pale complexion & lips

Spontaneous sweating

Susceptibility to colds and infections

Weak or soft cough, sometimes sticky phlegm

Chest oppression, mild tightness

Low motivation or slight depression

Slow recovery from illness

Pale tongue, thin white coating

Weak, soft pulse

Occasional mild dizziness

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

LU9 (Taiyuan): Tonifies Lung Qi & Yin

LU7 (Lieque): Descends Lung Qi, releases exterior

CV6 (Qihai): Tonifies Original Qi

UB13 (Feishu): Back-Shu of Lung, strengthens dispersing

DU12 (Shenzhu): Chronic Lung Qi deficiency

ST36 (Zusanli): Tonifies postnatal Qi

CV12 (Zhongwan): Supports Stomach Qi & fluids

UB42 (Po Hu): Strengthens Po, dispersing & descending

CV17 (Shanzhong): Tonifies Lung Qi, regulates chest

SP3 (Taibai): Supports postnatal Qi production

LI4 (Hegu): Strengthens Wei Qi, releases exterior

LU10 (Yuji): Clears mild Lung heat

Optional / Moxa: UB13, CV6, ST36, CV12 for severe deficiency

Homeopathy Medicines:

Kali Bichromicum 200: Sticky phlegm, weak cough
Pulsatilla 200: Weak voice, fatigue, easy colds
China 200 (Cinchona officinalis): Post-illness exhaustion
Arsenicum Album 200 : Weak immunity, frequent colds

Mother Tinctures:

Echinacea MT: Immune support

Drosera MT: Chronic cough

Aconitum MT: Acute Wind-Cold invasion

Phosphorus MT: Weak lungs, exhaustion

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Chestal / BronchoCare: Chronic Lung weakness, mild phlegm

Respirex: Lung Qi tonification

Pulmoheel: Chronic cough & fatigue

Bio-combination Salts:

Calc Phos 6X: Supports Lung tissue & energy

Kali Mur 6X: Supports mucous membranes, phlegm resolution

Ferrum Phos 6X: Oxygenation & fatigue relief

Nat Sulph 6X: Assists fluid metabolism, lung drainage.

2. Lung & Heart Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic Lung disease or repeated respiratory infections

Heart weakness due to congenital deficiency or prolonged illness

Overwork, emotional stress, grief, anxiety affecting Lung & Heart

Poor nutrition, chronic blood loss, or post-illness weakness

Combined Qi deficiency over time leading to poor circulation and oxygenation

Pathology:

Both Lung and Heart Qi are weak → poor circulation and oxygenation

Lung cannot disperse and descend Qi → fatigue, weak cough, mild phlegm

Heart cannot circulate blood efficiently → palpitations, poor stamina

Wei Qi deficiency → spontaneous sweating, susceptibility to infections

Long-term deficiency may affect Spleen & Kidney → chronic fatigue, fluid imbalance

Signs & Symptoms:

Shortness of breath, worse on exertion

Palpitations, mild chest tightness

Weak voice, fatigue, low energy

Pale or slightly bluish lips

Spontaneous sweating, easy colds

Weak, soft cough

Poor sleep, slight anxiety, mild depression

Mild dizziness or lightheadedness

Pale tongue with thin coating

Weak, thready pulse

Poor appetite, loose stools (if Spleen slightly affected)

Slow recovery after illness

Acupuncture Points (≥12, including Back-Shu & Front-Mu):

LU9 (Taiyuan): Tonifies Lung Qi

LU7 (Lieque): Descends Lung Qi, releases exterior

CV6 (Qihai): Tonifies Original Qi

UB13 (Feishu): Lung Back-Shu

DU12 (Shenzhu): Chronic Lung Qi deficiency

ST36 (Zusanli): Tonifies postnatal Qi, supports Lung & Heart

CV12 (Zhongwan): Supports Stomach Qi & fluids

HT5 (Tongli): Tonifies Heart Qi, calms mind

PC6 (Neiguan): Heart & chest regulation, relieves palpitations

UB15 (Xinshu): Heart Back-Shu

CV17 (Shanzhong): Front-Mu of Heart, regulates chest

SP6 (Sanyinjiao): Tonifies Qi & Blood, supports Lung & Heart

Optional / Moxa: UB13, UB15, CV6, ST36, CV12 for severe deficiency

Homeopathy Medicines:

Kali Phos 200: Fatigue, nervous exhaustion, weak heart-lung function

Pulsatilla: Weak voice, easily tired, mild anxiety

China 200 (Cinchona officinalis): Post-illness weakness

Carbo Vegetabilis 30: Poor circulation, fatigue

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT (Hawthorn): Heart support

Echinacea MT: Lung support & immunity

Drosera MT: Chronic mild cough

Buy Indian

Phosphorus MT: Weak lungs, exhaustion
Homeopathy Patent Medicines:
Pulmoheel: Chronic cough, weak lungs
Cardiodoron: Supports heart and circulation
Respirex: Lung & Heart Qi tonification
Bio-combination Salts:
Calc Phos 6X: Strengthens Lung & Heart tissues
Ferrum Phos 6X: Oxygenation, improves fatigue
Kali Phos 6X: Nervous exhaustion & Qi weakness
Nat Sulph 6X: Supports fluid metabolism, lung drainage.

Pattern 3: Lung Yin Deficiency

Lung Yin Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic lung disease (TB, bronchitis, pneumonia)
Long-standing cough or repeated infections
Emotional stress, grief, anxiety affecting Lung Yin
Overuse of stimulants, hot environments, or prolonged fever
Age-related decline in fluids and Lung Yin

Pathology:

Lung Yin is depleted → Lung fails to moisten and nourish
Lung Qi may remain relatively intact, but dryness predominates
Fluids fail to descend → dry throat, dry cough
Blood may be slightly affected → mild heat signs in upper body
Chronic Yin deficiency may disturb Heart Yin → insomnia, restlessness

Signs & Symptoms:

Dry cough, sometimes scanty sticky or blood-streaked sputum
Dry throat, dry nose
Afternoon or evening low-grade fever or feeling of heat in palms and soles
Thirst with preference for small sips
Night sweats
Shortness of breath on exertion
Fatigue, weak voice
Mild anxiety, irritability
Red or peeled tongue, little coating
Thin, rapid pulse
Dry skin
Mild chest tightness

Buy Indian

Acupuncture Points (≥12, including Back-Shu & Front-Mu):

LU9 (Taiyuan): Tonifies Lung Yin
LU7 (Lieque): Supports Lung Yin, releases exterior
KD6 (Zhaohai): Nourishes Lung Yin, Yin link meridian
CV4 (Guanyuan): Nourishes Yin & Original Qi
UB13 (Feishu): Lung Back-Shu
UB43 (Gaohuangshu): Strengthens chronic Lung Yin deficiency
DU12 (Shenzhu): Chronic Lung deficiency
CV12 (Zhongwan): Supports fluids & Stomach Yin
LU10 (Yuji): Cools Lung, clears heat from deficiency
LU11 (Shaoshang): Clears Lung heat
ST36 (Zusanli): Tonifies Qi & fluids
SP6 (Sanyinjiao): Nourishes Yin, supports Lung & Kidney
CV17 (Shanzhong): Opens chest, regulates Qi
KD3 (Taixi): Nourishes Kidney Yin, supports Lung Yin
Optional / Moxa: Rarely used; if Qi is also weak, use ST36, CV6

Homeopathy Medicines:

Phosphorus 200: Dry cough, weakness, exhaustion
Kali Bichromicum 200: Sticky sputum, dry cough
Sulphur 30: Heat and dryness, night sweats
Calc Fluor: Chronic dryness, weak tissues

Mother Tinctures:

Drosera MT: Chronic cough, dry throat. Don't use Drosera frequently.
Althaea MT (Marshmallow root): Lung moisture support
Phosphorus MT: Weak lungs, fatigue
Crataegus MT: Strengthens circulation if mild Heart Yin affected
Homeopathy Patent Medicines:
Pulmoheel: Chronic dry cough
Respirex: Lung Yin support, improves fluids

Phosphor Comp: Chronic Lung weakness with dryness
Bio-combination Salts:
Calc Phos 6X: Supports lung tissue, chronic weakness
Kali Phos 6X: Nervous exhaustion
Nat Mur 6X: Moistens mucous membranes
Ferrum Phos 6X: Oxygenates tissues, supports mild anemia.

Pattern 4: Lung Dryness in detailed clinical format with bio-combination salts:

Lung Dryness

Etiology:

Exposure to dry environments or prolonged heating/air-conditioning

Chronic respiratory infections

Excessive smoking or irritants

Long-term emotional stress affecting Lung Yin

Dietary dryness (lack of moistening foods)

Post-illness depletion of fluids

Pathology:

Lung Yin and fluids are depleted → inability to moisten lungs

Dryness may exist without heat → no significant fever, but irritation

Lung Qi may be mildly deficient

Fluids fail to descend → dry cough, dry throat, dry nasal passages

Can progress to Yin deficiency if prolonged

Signs & Symptoms:

Dry, hacking cough without or with scanty sputum

Dry throat, dry mouth

Hoarse or weak voice

Thirst for small sips of water

Dry skin

Mild chest tightness or discomfort

Nosebleeds in some cases

Thin body, slight fatigue

Red, dry tongue with little or no coating

Thin, rapid pulse

Mild evening heat sensations

Occasional mild dizziness

Buy Indian

Acupuncture Points (≥12, including Back-Shu & Front-Mu):

LU9 (Taiyuan): Tonifies Lung Yin and Qi

LU7 (Lieque): Nourishes Lung Yin, releases exterior

KD6 (Zhaohai): Supports Lung Yin through Yin Qiao meridian

CV4 (Guanyuan): Nourishes Yin and fluids

UB13 (Feishu): Lung Back-Shu

UB43 (Gaohuangshu): Chronic Lung dryness support

DU12 (Shenzhu): Strengthens Lung Yin

CV12 (Zhongwan): Supports Stomach fluids, indirectly nourishing Lungs

LU10 (Yuji): Clears mild Lung heat if dryness is accompanied by heat

LU11 (Shaoshang): Clears heat, reduces irritation

ST36 (Zusanli): Supports Qi and fluids

SP6 (Sanyinjiao): Nourishes Yin of Lung, Kidney, and Spleen

CV17 (Shanzhong): Opens chest, regulates Lung Qi

KD3 (Taixi): Strengthens Kidney Yin to support Lung Yin

Optional / Moxa: Rarely needed; only if Qi is weak, use ST36, CV6

Homeopathy Medicines:

Antimonium Tart 30: Dry cough, irritation, difficulty expectorating

Kali Bichromicum 200: Sticky or scanty sputum

Phosphorus 200: Chronic dry cough, weakness

Spongia Tosta 30: Dry, barking cough

Mother Tinctures:

Drosera MT: Chronic dry cough

Althaea MT: Moistens respiratory tract

Phosphorus MT: Weak lungs, exhaustion

Crataegus MT: Supports circulation if mild Qi deficiency

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Pulmoheel: Dry cough and irritation

Respirex: Supports Lung moisture and fluids

Phosphor Comp: Chronic Lung dryness with fatigue

Bio-combination Salts:

Calc Phos 6X: Supports tissue nourishment

Kali Phos 6X: Nervous and physical exhaustion

Nat Mur 6X: Restores moisture in mucous membranes
Ferrum Phos 6X: Oxygenates tissues, supports mild deficiency.

Pattern 5: Lung Heat.

Etiology:

Caused by external Wind-Heat invasion or internal accumulation of heat due to Lung Yin deficiency, smoking, or exposure to dry, hot environments.

May follow unresolved Wind-Heat from earlier cold invasion.

Overconsumption of hot/spicy foods can aggravate the heat.

Pathology:

Heat rises in the Lung, drying fluids and damaging Yin, leading to thick yellow sputum, cough, and sore throat.

Lung dispersing and descending functions are impaired.

Blood may be slightly affected due to heat, causing mild bleeding or inflammation.

Signs & Symptoms:

Cough with yellow, sticky sputum

Sore throat, dry mouth, dry skin

Fever or mild aversion to wind

Thirst with desire for cold drinks

Shortness of breath or chest tightness

Tongue: red with yellow coating

Pulse: rapid, floating or slippery

Possible hemoptysis (small blood streaks in sputum)

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points):

LU5 – Clears Lung heat, descends Lung Qi

LU10 – Clears Lung heat, sore throat relief

LU7 – Releases exterior, regulates Lung

LI11 – Clears heat from the upper body

LU1 – Front-Mu of Lung, regulates Qi

UB13 – Lung Back-Shu, supports Lung function

ST36 – Tonifies Qi, supports immunity

CV17 – Descends Lung Qi, relieves chest fullness

LU9 – Tonifies Lung Yin and Qi

LI4 – Distal point to release exterior and clear heat

CV12 – Harmonizes Stomach, supports fluids

SP6 – Nourishes Yin, supports Lung fluids

UB43 – Chronic Lung deficiency support

DU14 – Clears heat from the body

Homeopathy Medicines:

Belladonna 30 – Sudden onset, high fever, dry cough

Bryonia alba 30 – Cough worse on movement, dry mouth

Phosphorus 200 – Dry cough, chest tightness, thirst for cold drinks

Mother Tincture:

Euphrasia officinalis – Dry cough with irritation

Belladonna MT – Rapid onset of heat and inflammation

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Influcid – Supports recovery from respiratory heat patterns

Grippheel – Mild cough with yellow sputum and heat

Bronchicum Cough Syrup – Soothes dry, hot cough

Bio-combination Salts:

Calcarea fluorica, Kali sulphuricum, Ferrum phosphoricum – Used for heat tendencies in lungs, inflammation, and dry cough.

Pattern 6: Lung Wind & Cold

Etiology:

Caused by external invasion of Wind-Cold from sudden weather changes or exposure to cold, damp environments.

Weak Lung Qi or defensive Wei Qi deficiency can predispose to invasion.

Often occurs in early stages of seasonal colds or flu.

Pathology:

Wind-Cold obstructs the Lung's dispersing and descending functions.

Lung Qi cannot descend, leading to cough with thin, clear sputum.

Body defensive energy (Wei Qi) fights the invasion, causing chills and mild fever.

Signs & Symptoms:

Cough with thin, white sputum

Aversion to cold, mild fever, shivering

No sweating or very little sweating

Runny nose with clear discharge

Nasal congestion and sneezing

Buy Indian

Slight body aches and fatigue

Tongue: pale or normal, thin white coating

Pulse: floating, tight

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points):

LU7 – Releases the exterior, expels Wind-Cold

UB12 – Wind gate, strengthens defensive Qi

LI4 – Expels exterior wind, regulates Wei Qi

LU1 – Lung front-Mu, regulates Lung Qi

ST36 – Tonifies Wei Qi, supports immunity

CV17 – Descends Lung Qi, relieves chest tightness

LU5 – Clears Lung heat if secondary heat arises

UB13 – Lung Back-Shu, supports Lung function

DU16 – Expels wind, calms head symptoms

GB20 – Expels Wind-Cold, relieves headaches

CV6 – Tonifies Qi and strengthens body resistance

SP6 – Nourishes Yin and strengthens Lung fluids

UB43 – Chronic lung support

LI11 – Clears any emerging heat

Homeopathy Medicines:

Aconitum napellus 200 – Sudden onset, chills, fever, restlessness

Bryonia alba 30– Cough worse on movement, dryness

Oscillococcinum 200 – Preventive and early-stage viral cold support

Mother Tincture:

Euphrasia officinalis MT – Cough with eye/nasal irritation

Aconitum MT – Sudden wind-cold symptoms

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Grippheel – Early cold with aversion to cold

Influcid – Supports immune response to Wind-Cold

Bronchicum Syrup – Cough relief for thin, clear sputum

Bio-combination Salts:

Calcarea phosphorica, Kali phosphoricum, Natrum muriaticum – Supports Lung function, strengthens defensive Qi, and relieves cold symptoms.

Pattern 7: Lung Wind & Heat

Buy Indian

Etiology:

Caused by external invasion of Wind-Heat, often from seasonal changes or exposure to warm, dry climates.

Can arise when defensive Qi is strong but encounters pathogenic heat.

Often develops from unresolved Wind-Cold transforming into Wind-Heat.

Pathology:

Wind-Heat obstructs the Lung's dispersing and descending functions.

Heat dries Lung fluids, causing sore throat, dry cough, and fever.

Lungs' ability to descend Qi is impaired, leading to cough, chest tightness, and mild wheezing.

Signs & Symptoms:

Fever with mild chills, slight sweating

Cough with yellow or sticky sputum

Sore throat, dry mouth, thirst

Nasal congestion with yellow discharge

Headache and red eyes

Tongue: red tip or sides, thin yellow coating

Pulse: floating, rapid

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points):

LU7 – Releases exterior, regulates Lung Qi

LI4 – Expels wind, clears heat

LU11 – Clears Lung heat, sore throat relief

LI11 – Clears heat in the upper body

LU10 – Clears Lung heat, benefits throat

UB13 – Lung Back-Shu, supports Lung function

CV17 – Descends Lung Qi, relieves chest tightness

DU14 – Clears wind-heat, reduces fever

GB20 – Expels wind, relieves headaches

ST36 – Supports Wei Qi, strengthens immunity

UB12 – Expels wind, strengthens defensive Qi

CV22 – Opens the Lung, relieves cough

SJ5 – Expels wind, relieves upper respiratory symptoms

LI20 – Opens nasal passages, relieves congestion

Homeopathy Medicines:

Aconitum napellus 200 – Sudden onset, fever, restlessness

Belladonna 30– High fever, red face, dry throat

Ferrum phosphoricum 200– Early-stage fever with mild inflammation

Mother Tincture:

Euphrasia officinalis MT – Eye irritation, runny nose with yellow discharge

Belladonna MT – Fever, headache, sore throat

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Grippheel – Early-stage Wind-Heat infections

Influcid – Immune support during acute Wind-Heat

Bronchicum Syrup – Relief for cough with yellow sputum

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali muriaticum, Ferrum phosphoricum, Natrum sulphuricum – Supports Lung function, clears heat, reduces inflammation, strengthens defensive Qi.

Pattern 8: Lung Wind & Body Fluids Stagnation in detailed format, same style as previous patterns:

Organ: Lung (LU)

Pattern 8: Lung Wind & Body Fluids Stagnation

Etiology:

Usually caused by external Wind invading the Lungs combined with weak Lung or Kidney Qi.

May result from chronic respiratory infections or exposure to cold, damp climates.

Fluid metabolism impaired due to Lung deficiency, causing accumulation of phlegm and mucus.

Pathology:

Wind obstructs Lung's dispersing and descending functions.

Body fluids fail to move properly, leading to phlegm retention in the lungs and airways.

May cause cough with sputum, nasal congestion, and shortness of breath.

Lungs' Qi stagnation affects defensive and nutritive Qi, predisposing to infection.

Signs & Symptoms:

Cough with clear or slightly white sputum, worse in the morning

Shortness of breath, mild wheezing

Sensation of heaviness in chest, tightness

Slight fever or chills, sometimes mild sweating

Runny nose with watery mucus, post-nasal drip

Tongue: pale with thin, white, slippery coating

Pulse: floating, slippery, sometimes wiry

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points):

LU7 – Opens Lung, releases wind, promotes descending Lung Qi

LI6 – Opens water passages, relieves fluid stagnation

LU9 – Tonifies Lung Qi, strengthens pulse and dispersing function

UB13 – Lung Back-Shu, supports Lung Qi

ST36 – Strengthens Wei Qi, improves fluid metabolism

CV17 – Descends Lung Qi, alleviates chest tightness

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, supports fluid movement

UB43 – Chronic Lung disorders, nourishes Lung Yin

LU5 – Clears phlegm, regulates Lung Qi

SP9 – Regulates water metabolism, reduces damp-phlegm

UB12 – Expels Wind, strengthens defensive Qi

CV12 – Harmonizes Middle Jiao, resolves phlegm

KD6 – Nourishes Yin, aids fluid regulation

ST40 – Transforms phlegm, clears dampness

Homeopathy Medicines:

Antimonium tartaricum 30 – For copious phlegm, rattling cough

Ipecacuanha 30 – Persistent cough with nausea or vomiting

Bryonia alba 30– Cough worse with movement, dry throat

Mother Tincture:

Drosera MT – Spasmodic, irritating cough with phlegm

Aconitum napellus MT – Early stages with Wind-Cold invading Lung

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Bronchicum Syrup – For cough with fluid stagnation

Phosphoricum Plus – Weak, slow recovery, phlegm accumulation

CoughCare Tablets – Supports airway clearance

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali bichromicum, Natrum muriaticum, Ferrum phosphoricum – Resolves phlegm, strengthens Lung function, regulates body fluids.

Pattern 9: Lung Phlegm and Damp

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency leading to accumulation of dampness in the body.

Improper diet: excessive cold, raw, greasy, or dairy foods.

Environmental dampness exposure.

Weak Lung Qi from prolonged illness or overwork.

Buy Indian

Emotional factors causing Qi stagnation that transforms into phlegm.

Pathology:

Spleen fails to transform fluids → dampness forms → accumulates in the Lungs.

Weak Lung Qi cannot disperse fluids → phlegm forms.

Dampness obstructs the Lungs → cough, heaviness, and chest congestion.

Phlegm may block airways, impair gas exchange.

Signs & Symptoms:

Persistent cough with copious white or sticky sputum.

Chest congestion or heaviness.

Shortness of breath or wheezing, especially on exertion.

Fatigue and heaviness in limbs.

Nausea or poor appetite if Spleen is involved.

Phlegm may be difficult to expectorate.

Tongue: swollen, greasy coating, pale or slightly red.

Pulse: slippery, soft, weak.

Feeling of oppression in chest or throat.

Occasional nausea or digestive sluggishness.

Mild edema in severe cases due to fluid retention.

Voice may be hoarse if phlegm obstructs throat.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

LU5 – Clears phlegm and heat, regulates Lung Qi.

LU7 – Promotes Lung circulation and fluid metabolism.

ST36 – Strengthens Spleen Qi, resolves dampness.

SP9 – Resolves dampness in Lower Jiao, assists phlegm clearance.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, tonifies Spleen, transforms damp.

UB13 – Lung Back Shu, tonifies Lung Qi.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, strengthens transformation of fluids.

UB43 – Tonifies Lung and strengthens defensive Qi.

REN17 – Opens chest, regulates Lung Qi and phlegm.

ST40 – Major phlegm-resolving point.

DU12 – Strengthens Lung Yang, supports phlegm resolution.

SP6 – Strengthens Spleen, promotes fluid metabolism.

Moxibustion: on UB13, UB20, ST36 for chronic dampness and weak Qi.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Buy Indian

Antimonium Tart 30– Cough with copious, rattling phlegm difficult to expectorate.

Hepar Sulph 200– Thick, sticky, and tenacious phlegm.

Ipecacuanha 30– Nausea with cough, phlegm accumulation.

Mother Tinctures:

Bryonia MT – For phlegm congestion and chest heaviness.

Drosera MT – Helps with cough and thick mucus.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Phlegm Clear Drops – Supports phlegm resolution and reduces chest congestion.

Respiratory Support Tablets – Strengthens Lung Qi, transforms phlegm.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Kali Phos + Calc Phos – Dissolves phlegm, tonifies Lung and Spleen Qi.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Lung and Spleen Qi to resolve dampness.

Clear phlegm from the Lungs and Upper Jiao.

Regulate fluid metabolism in Lower Jiao.

Strengthen defensive Qi to prevent recurrence.

Use moxibustion on Back Shu points and ST36 for chronic or weak cases.

Pattern 10: Lung Phlegm and Cold

Etiology:

Exposure to cold and damp environments, especially in individuals with weak Lung Qi.

Chronic Spleen or Kidney Yang deficiency failing to warm and transform fluids.

Consumption of cold, raw, or refrigerated foods leading to internal cold accumulation.

Emotional stress causing Qi stagnation → fluids accumulate → phlegm forms.

Overexertion in cold weather weakening the Lung and Spleen Yang.

Pathology:

Cold obstructs the Lungs → impairs Lung Qi movement and dispersing function.

Weak Spleen or Kidney Yang fails to warm and transform fluids → accumulation of cold-phlegm.

Phlegm obstructs airways → cough with thin, watery sputum.

Cold contraction → chest tightness, shortness of breath, and fatigue.

Chronic cases may lead to impaired immunity and recurring colds.

Signs & Symptoms:

Cough with clear, watery, or frothy sputum, often worse in the morning.

Chest oppression or heaviness.

Shortness of breath, worse with exertion or cold exposure.

Fatigue, cold extremities, and pale complexion.

Nausea or poor appetite if Spleen Yang is weak.

Tongue: pale, swollen, with white, slippery coating.

Pulse: deep, slow, slippery or weak.

Voice may be hoarse or weak.

Sensation of chilliness in the chest.

Occasional edema in chronic Yang deficiency.

Spontaneous sweating in severe Lung Yang weakness.

Poor resistance to external pathogens.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

LU7 – Opens Lung channels, disperses cold and phlegm.

LU5 – Resolves phlegm, regulates Lung Qi.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Lung Qi, strengthens Yang.

SP9 – Resolves dampness in the Lower Jiao, assists phlegm clearance.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, strengthens Spleen Yang.

UB13 – Lung Back Shu, supports Lung Yang and dispersing function.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, strengthens transformation of fluids.

DU12 – Tonifies Lung Yang, helps expel cold-phlegm.

ST40 – Major phlegm-resolving point.

REN17 – Opens chest, regulates Lung Qi.

KD7 – Tonifies Kidney Yang, supports fluid metabolism.

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, strengthens Yang to transform phlegm.

Moxibustion: on UB13, UB20, ST36, UB23 for chronic cold-phlegm and weak Yang.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Antimonium Tartaricum 30– Cough with watery or rattling phlegm.

Drosera 200– Persistent cough with difficulty expectorating. Whooping cough. Only two doses half an hour gap. Don't use frequently.

Hepar Sulph 200– Thick, cold, sticky phlegm; chilliness.

Mother Tinctures:

Bryonia MT – For chest oppression and phlegm-cold congestion.

Nux Vomica MT – Helps with poor digestion contributing to damp accumulation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Phlegm Clear Drops – Supports resolution of cold-phlegm and Buy Indian Lung Qi.

Respiratory Support Tablets – Tonifies Yang, resolves phlegm, improves breathing.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Calc Phos + Kali Phos – Dissolves phlegm, warms Lung and Spleen, supports Yang.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Lung, Spleen, and Kidney Yang to transform cold-phlegm.

Disperse phlegm and open airways.

Warm the Lungs and Middle Jiao to support fluid metabolism.

Strengthen defensive Qi to prevent recurrence.

Use moxibustion on Back Shu and ST36 points for chronic or weak cases.

Pattern 11: Lung Phlegm and Dryness

Etiology:

Dry climatic conditions or prolonged exposure to dry air.

Chronic cough or Lung Yin deficiency leading to insufficient fluids.

Consumption of hot, spicy, or drying foods damaging Lung Yin.

Emotional stress causing Qi stagnation → fluids fail to nourish the Lung → phlegm forms.

Aging or chronic illness leading to Yin deficiency and dry phlegm accumulation.

Pathology:

Lung Yin deficiency → insufficient moistening of Lung channels.

Fluids become thick, sticky → phlegm accumulates.

Dryness obstructs Lung Qi movement → cough, chest tightness.

Spleen weakness may contribute to phlegm formation due to impaired fluid transformation.

Chronic dryness → damage to Lung tissue and weakened immunity.

Signs & Symptoms:

Dry cough with scanty, sticky sputum difficult to expectorate.

Dry throat and mouth, possibly with mild fever.

Chest oppression or slight shortness of breath.

Hoarse voice.

Fatigue due to impaired Lung Qi.

Tongue: red with dry, thin, white or yellow coating.

Pulse: thin, rapid, or slippery.

Occasional dry skin and lips.

Mild fever or afternoon low-grade fever in chronic cases.

Night sweating in Yin deficiency cases.

Phlegm may be sticky and scanty, sometimes blood-streaked.

Mild anxiety or restlessness in chronic cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

LU9 – Tonifies Lung Yin and disperses phlegm.

LU5 – Resolves phlegm, clears Lung heat or dryness.

LU1 – Front-Mu of Lung, opens chest and moistens Lung.

ST36 – Strengthens Spleen and Qi to transform phlegm.

SP6 – Nourishes Yin and supports fluid metabolism.

UB13 – Lung Back Shu, tonifies Lung Yin.

UB43 – Nourishes Lung Yin and consolidates essence.

CV17 – Opens chest and regulates Lung Qi.

REN12 – Strengthens Spleen for fluid transformation.

KD6 – Nourishes Yin, supports Lung fluids.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm accumulation.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, assists in fluid transformation.

Moxibustion: on UB13, ST36, UB20 for chronic dryness with phlegm.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Antimonium Tartaricum 30 – Cough with sticky phlegm, difficult to expectorate.

Spongia Tosta 30 – Dry cough with wheezing.

Bryonia 30 – Dry cough, chest pain with deep inspiration.

Mother Tinctures:

Lobelia MT – For dry, sticky phlegm and cough.

Ficus MT – Moistens lungs, helps resolve dryness.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Lung Phlegm Relief Tablets – Resolves phlegm, moistens Lung, reduces cough.

Respiratory Support Syrup – Supports Lung Yin and clears phlegm-dryness.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Calc Phos + Nat Mur + Kali Phos – Moistens Lung, transforms phlegm, nourishes Yin.

Treatment Principles:

Nourish Lung Yin and moisten dryness.

Transform phlegm and clear sticky accumulation.

Strengthen Spleen to assist fluid metabolism.

Open chest and regulate Lung Qi.

Use moxibustion on Back Shu points for chronic cases or deficiency.

Pattern 12: Lung Phlegm and Heat

Etiology:

External Wind-Heat or seasonal heat invasion.

Consumption of hot, spicy, greasy foods → internal heat accumulation.

Emotional stress leading to Liver fire → affects Lung function.

Chronic phlegm accumulation that transforms into heat due to Yin deficiency.

Smoking, alcohol, or pollutants causing Lung heat.

Pathology:

Heat in the Lung dries fluids → thick, sticky phlegm.

Phlegm obstructs Lung Qi → cough, wheezing, chest tightness.

Heat causes redness and inflammation of Lung tissues.

Spleen dysfunction contributes to phlegm formation.

Prolonged heat → Lung Yin damage → chronic cough, feverish sensations.

Signs & Symptoms:

Cough with yellow or green, sticky phlegm.

Chest oppression or fullness.

Fever, dry mouth, thirst.

Shortness of breath or rapid breathing.

Feeling of heat, sweating, restlessness.

Tongue: red with yellow, greasy coating.

Pulse: rapid, slippery, or wiry.

Occasional bleeding from nose or coughing up blood streaks.

Irritability or anxiety.

Thirst with preference for cold drinks.

Dry throat and hoarse voice.

Fatigue due to Lung Qi obstruction.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

LU5 – Clears heat, resolves phlegm.

LU7 – Opens Lung, promotes descending of Lung Qi.

LU1 – Front-Mu of Lung, clears heat and moistens Lung.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm, especially sticky or yellow phlegm.

UB13 – Lung Back Shu, regulates Lung Qi.

UB43 – Nourishes Lung Yin, reduces chronic heat.

DU14 – Clears heat from Lung and upper body.

LI11 – Clears heat and inflammation.

CV17 – Opens chest, regulates Lung Qi.

ST36 – Strengthens Spleen for fluid transformation.

SP6 – Nourishes Yin and moistens dryness.

REN22 – Opens airway, helps resolve phlegm-heat.

Moxibustion: optional on UB13, ST36 for chronic or deficiency cases.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Antimonium Tartaricum 30– Sticky phlegm, chest congestion.

Phosphorus 200– Cough with bright red sputum, heat signs.

Bryonia 30– Dry, painful cough, irritability.

Mother Tinctures:

Lobelia MT – Resolves phlegm, reduces Lung heat.

Ficus MT – Moistens Lung, helps expel thick phlegm.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Lung Phlegm & Heat Tablets – Clears Lung heat, transforms phlegm.

Respiratory Detox Syrup – Resolves phlegm-heat, reduces cough and chest oppression.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Nat Sulph + Calc Phos + Kali Phos – Clears heat, resolves phlegm, supports Lung function.

Treatment Principles:

Clear Lung heat and reduce inflammation.

Transform and expel phlegm.

Open chest and regulate Lung Qi.

Nourish Lung Yin and moisten dryness.

Strengthen Spleen to assist phlegm transformation.

Pattern 13: Lung Phlegm and Fluids Obstruction

Etiology:

External Cold or Damp invasion → obstructs Lung's descending and dispersing function.

Chronic Spleen deficiency → impaired fluid metabolism → accumulation of phlegm and fluids.

Overconsumption of cold or raw foods → damages Spleen → fluids accumulate and transform into phlegm.

Emotional stress → Liver Qi stagnation → disrupts Lung fluid circulation.

Chronic respiratory infections or asthma → retain phlegm and fluids.

Pathology:

Impaired Lung function → failure to descend fluids → accumulation in chest and airways.

Phlegm combines with retained fluids → sticky, thin or frothy sputum.

Obstructed Lung Qi → cough, shortness of breath, wheezing.

Heat may or may not develop; pattern often more cold or damp dominant.

Long-term obstruction → Lung Yin deficiency and secondary dryness.

Signs & Symptoms:

Cough with copious white, frothy or watery sputum.

Wheezing or shortness of breath, especially on exertion.

Chest tightness or fullness.

Feeling of heaviness in body.

Fatigue or lethargy due to impaired Lung function.

Tongue: pale, swollen with sticky white coating.

Pulse: slippery, wiry, or weak.

Aversion to cold or cold extremities in some cases.

Difficulty lying flat due to fluid accumulation (orthopnea).

Nausea or poor appetite if Spleen involvement is present.

Edema or water retention in severe cases.

Occasional low-grade fever if secondary infection develops.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

LU1 – Front-Mu of Lung, regulates Lung Qi and descends fluids.

LU5 – Clears heat (if present) and resolves phlegm.

LU7 – Opens Lung, promotes descending of fluids.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm and damp.

UB13 – Lung Back-Shu, strengthens Lung function.

UB43 – Supports chronic Lung conditions, nourishes Yin and fluids.

REN17 – Opens chest, regulates Lung Qi.

REN22 – Clears phlegm, opens airway.

CV6 – Strengthens Spleen and Kidney, promotes fluid metabolism.

ST36 – Supports Spleen for fluid transformation.

SP9 – Resolves dampness and supports fluid metabolism.

UB20 – Spleen Back-Shu, improves fluid transport.

Moxibustion: optional on UB13, CV6, ST36 for chronic or deficiency-dominant cases.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Antimonium Tartaricum 30 – Frothy or watery phlegm, chest congestion.

Ipecacuanha 30– Persistent cough with nausea and phlegm.

Bryonia 30– Dry cough with painful chest and sputum obstruction.

Mother Tinctures:

Lobelia MT – Resolves phlegm and promotes fluid movement.

Ficus MT – Moistens Lung, clears retained fluids.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Lung Fluid Detox Tablets – Clears phlegm and accumulated fluids, reduces chest congestion.

Respiratory Fluids Syrup – Resolves phlegm, improves fluid metabolism, eases breathing.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Nat Sulph + Calc Phos + Kali Phos – Resolves fluid accumulation, supports Lung and Spleen function.

Treatment Principles:

Transform and expel phlegm.

Promote descending of Lung Qi.

Strengthen Spleen and Kidney to manage fluids.

Resolve dampness and obstructed fluids.

Moisturize and nourish Lung Yin if secondary dryness develops.

Pattern 1: Large Intestine Qi Stagnation

1. Etiology (Causes)

Emotional stress: Anger, worry, resentment → stagnates Qi in abdomen, especially affecting the Large Intestine.

Diet: Irregular meals, overeating, greasy/stagnating foods → obstruct Qi.

Lack of movement/sedentary lifestyle: Prevents free flow of Qi in lower abdomen.

Liver Qi stagnation overacting on LI: Very common cause – the Liver's Qi disrupts the Large Intestine's Qi.

Post-surgery adhesions or chronic bowel dysfunction can also lead to stagnation.

2. Pathology

Qi movement in the Large Intestine becomes blocked.

Stagnation prevents smooth peristalsis → abdominal distension, pain, irregular stools.

Often involves Liver–Large Intestine disharmony, where stress worsens abdominal symptoms.

May alternate with constipation and diarrhea when Qi stagnation affects transformation/transport.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Abdominal distension, fullness, and pain – pain relieved by passing gas or stool.

Constipation with difficulty passing stools, or alternating constipation/loose stools.

Irritability, frustration, mood swings (Liver involvement).

Borborygmi, flatulence.

Pain may move or come in spasms.

Often worsens with emotions or during stress.

May accompany hypochondrial tension if Liver Qi is also stagnant.

4. Tongue

Normal or slightly red on the sides; coating may be thin and white.

5. Pulse

Wiry (especially in both guan positions).

6. Treatment Principles

Move Qi in the abdomen.

Harmonize Liver and Large Intestine.

Regulate bowel movement.

Relieve pain and distension.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): Regulates intestines, abdominal Qi.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, regulates function, moves Qi.

LI 4 (Hegu): Moves Qi, regulates bowel.

Ren 6 (Qihai): Moves Qi, relieves stagnation.

Ren 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes Stomach–Intestines.

BL 25 (Dachangshu): Back-Shu of LI, regulates Qi.

SP 15 (Daheng): Moves Qi in intestines.

LV 3 (Taichong): Soothe Liver, move Qi.

SJ 6 (Zhigou): Moves Qi, relieves constipation.

GB 34 (Yanglingquan): Smooths Liver Qi.

ST 36 (Zusanli): Tonifies Qi, regulates bowels.

LI 11 (Quchi): Clears stagnation, regulates Qi.

(Sedate: LV3, LI4, ST25, ST37. Tonify: ST36, Ren6 if Qi is weak.)

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Nux vomica 30C/200C: Constipation with ineffectual urge, worse from stress or stimulants.

Colocynthis 30C: Abdominal colic better from pressure or bending double.

Aloe socotrina 30C: Urgent stools, rumbling, alternating constipation and diarrhea.

Lycopodium 30C/200C: Bloating, flatulence, worse in evening, irritable bowels.

9. Mother Tincture

Cascara sagrada Q: Improves peristalsis, chronic constipation.

Rhamnus Q: Constipation with flatulence.

Senna Q: Relieves abdominal stagnation, sluggish bowels.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

Reckeweg R37: For constipation, bowel atony, flatulence.

SBL Constipation Drops: For intestinal sluggishness, Qi stagnation constipation.

Bakson's Alfalfa Tonic with Ginseng: Regulates digestion and bowel activity.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-Combination 4: Constipation, hard stools.

Bio-Combination 6: Constipation with abdominal colic.

Bio-Combination 10: Flatulence, abdominal distension.

Summary in Simple Words:

Large Intestine Qi stagnation comes mainly from stress, poor diet, and Liver Qi blocking intestines. It causes abdominal distension, cramping, constipation with difficulty, and irritability. Treatment focuses on moving Qi, regulating bowels, soothing Liver.

Pattern 2: Large Intestine Heat (Dry-Heat)

1. Etiology (Causes)

Dietary factors: Excess hot, spicy, greasy foods, alcohol → produce Heat and Dryness in the intestines.

Emotional stress: Anger/frustration → Liver Fire transmits to Large Intestine.

Febrile disease: External pathogenic Heat penetrating deeper, injuring fluids → dry stools.

Chronic constipation: Heat builds up over time due to stagnation.

2. Pathology

Heat accumulates in the Large Intestine.

Heat dries fluids → stools become hard, dry, and difficult to pass.

Heat disturbs normal peristalsis → abdominal pain, burning anus.

Severe Heat may cause bleeding in stools or fever.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Constipation with dry, hard stools (like stones, sheep-like).

Burning sensation in anus.

Abdominal pain/fullness, worse with pressure.

Dry mouth, thirst with desire for cold drinks.

Dark scanty urine.

Mental restlessness, irritability (Heat affecting Shen).

Possible fever or sweating if Heat is intense.

In severe cases: bloody stools, hemorrhoids with burning.

4. Tongue

Red body, thick dry yellow coating (especially in center).

5. Pulse

Full, rapid.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Heat in Large Intestine.

Promote bowel movement.

Protect body fluids.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): Regulates bowels, clears Heat.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, clears Heat, moves stool.

LI 11 (Quchi): Clears Heat.

LI 2 (Erjian): Clears LI Heat.

LI 4 (Hegu): Moves Qi, clears Heat.

SJ 6 (Zhigou): Regulates Qi, moistens intestines.

SP 6 (Sanyinjiao): Nourishes fluids, moistens dryness.

Ren 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes Stomach–Intestines.

Ren 6 (Qihai): Moves Qi.

BL 25 (Dachangshu): Back-Shu of LI, clears Heat.

BL 20 (Pishu): Tonifies Spleen, prevents phlegm-heat formation.

ST 36 (Zusanli): Supports Qi, fluids.

(Sedate LI11, LI2, ST25, ST37, LI4. Tonify ST36, SP6 for fluids.)

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Bryonia 30C/200C: Constipation, dry hard stools, dryness of mouth, thirst for large drinks.

Nux vomica 30C/200C: Constipation with constant urge, heat in rectum, sedentary people.

Sulphur 30C/200C: Burning anus, heat sensation, hard stools with itching.

Aloe socotrina 30C: Burning in rectum, hemorrhoids with heat.

9. Mother Tincture

Cascara sagrada Q: Chronic constipation from Heat and dryness.

Senna Q: Constipation with heat in abdomen.

Rhamnus Q: Stimulates bowel, improves peristalsis.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

Reckeweg R37: For constipation with hard stools, burning anus.

SBL Constipation Drops: For intestinal sluggishness, Heat-type constipation.

Bakson's Pilen Drops: For hemorrhoids with burning, heat, rectal pain.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-Combination 4: Constipation.

Bio-Combination 17: Constipation with hemorrhoids, burning.

Bio-Combination 20: Heat conditions, feverish states with dryness.

Summary in Simple Words:

Large Intestine Heat comes from dietary Heat, emotions, or febrile disease. It causes hard, dry stools, burning anus, abdominal pain, thirst, irritability. Treatment: clear LI Heat, moisten dryness, promote stool passage.

Pattern 3 is Large Intestine Heat Obstruction (Yangming Fu Syndrome), which is different from LI Heat/Dryness. It is an acute, excess condition often seen in febrile diseases. I'll give it in the same detailed clinical style.

Pattern 3: Large Intestine Heat Obstruction

(Also called Yangming Fu Syndrome – Excess Heat binding in the Intestine)

1. Etiology (Causes)

External pathogenic Heat (Wind-Heat, Summer-Heat, or Fire toxin) invading and transmitting to the Yangming Fu organs (Stomach & Large Intestine).

Overconsumption of hot, spicy foods and alcohol producing internal Fire and drying fluids.

Progression of febrile disease from Qi level to Yangming Fu level in the Four Levels Theory.

2. Pathology

Intense Heat accumulates in the Large Intestine and Stomach → dries fluids and blocks peristalsis.

Obstruction of Qi and stool → constipation and abdominal pain.

Heat disturbs Shen → delirium, fever, irritability.

Severe Heat may push blood → bloody stools, epistaxis.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Constipation, no bowel movement for days.

Abdominal pain and fullness, worse with pressure.

High fever, sweating, thirst with desire for cold drinks.

Red face, irritability, delirium (in severe febrile states).

Burning anus, foul odor stools (if passed).

Scanty dark urine.

In extreme: delirium, mania, unconsciousness (Heat disturbing Shen).

4. Tongue

Red body, thick dry yellow or black coating, especially in the center.

5. Pulse

Deep, full, rapid.

6. Treatment Principles

Drain Excess Heat from Large Intestine.

Move stools and relieve obstruction.

Cool Blood and calm Shen if necessary.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): Regulates bowels, clears Heat.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, clears obstruction.

LI 11 (Quchi): Clears Heat.

LI 4 (Hegu): Regulates Qi, clears Heat.

SJ 6 (Zhigou): Moves stool, regulates Qi.

SP 6 (Sanyinjiao): Nourishes Yin, fluids.

ST 44 (Neiting): Clears Stomach/Intestine Heat.

Ren 6 (Qihai): Moves Qi stagnation.

Ren 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes middle, relieves fullness.

BL 25 (Dachangshu): Back-Shu of LI, clears Heat.

BL 20 (Pishu): Tonifies Spleen, protects against damp-heat.

DU 14 (Dazhui): Clears high fever and Heat.

ST 39 (Xiajuxu): Small Intestine He-Sea, helps purge Fire-Toxin.

(Strong reducing method; avoid tonification. Moxa contraindicated.)

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Nux vomica 200C: Acute constipation with frequent urge, ineffectual straining, abdominal pain.

Bryonia alba 200C: Dry, hard stools, intense thirst, dry mouth.

Belladonna 200C: High fever, flushed face, delirium, heat in head.

Aconite 200C: Sudden fever with heat, restlessness, anxiety.

Opium 200C: No urge to pass stool, paralysis of intestines, stupor.

9. Mother Tincture

Buy Indian

Cascara sagrada Q: Constipation with feverish conditions.

Senna Q: Purging effect, helps in acute stool obstruction.

Rhamnus frangula Q: Stimulates peristalsis in acute Heat constipation.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

Reckeweg R37 (Constipation drops): Constipation, abdominal fullness, hard stools.

SBL Nixocid Syrup: For burning in abdomen, acidity with constipation.

Bakson's Jaborandi-Senna Compound: For stool obstruction and febrile constipation.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-Combination 4: Constipation with dry stools.

Bio-Combination 20: High fever with dryness and thirst.

Bio-Combination 11: Fever with constipation, febrile disorders.

Summary:

Large Intestine Heat Obstruction occurs when extreme pathogenic Heat blocks the Yangming Fu organs. The main signs are constipation, high fever, abdominal pain/fullness, delirium, dry tongue coating, rapid full pulse. Treatment is to purge Heat, move stool, clear Fire-Toxin, protect fluids.

Pattern 4: Large Intestine Damp-Heat

(Excess condition with internal damp accumulation and Heat in LI)

1. Etiology (Causes)

Dietary factors: Excess fatty, greasy, spicy, or sweet foods → generate internal Damp-Heat.

External invasion: Summer-Heat or Damp-Heat pathogenic factor entering the Large Intestine.

Spleen dysfunction: Spleen fails to transform fluids → Damp accumulation; combined with Heat → Damp-Heat.

Emotional stress: Anger, frustration → Liver Qi stagnation → transforms into Heat, affecting LI.

2. Pathology

Damp-Heat accumulates in the intestines → sticky, foul-smelling stools.

Heat irritates intestinal mucosa → diarrhea or dysentery.

Damp obstructs Qi → abdominal fullness, bloating.

Damp-Heat may spread upward → fever, restlessness.

Chronic Damp-Heat may injure fluids → dry mouth, thirst without desire for much water.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Abdominal pain, cramps worse with pressure.

Diarrhea or loose stools with mucus or blood (dysenteric type).

Foul-smelling stools, sometimes with tenesmus.

Burning sensation at anus.

Low-grade fever, heaviness, lethargy.

Thirst with little desire to drink, sometimes nausea.

Yellow, greasy coating on tongue, possibly swollen.

Dark, scanty urine, feeling of incomplete evacuation.

4. Tongue

Red with yellow sticky coating, sometimes swollen with teeth marks.

5. Pulse

Slippery, rapid, sometimes wiry if Liver involvement.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Heat, drain Damp.

Relieve diarrhea and dysentery.

Harmonize Spleen and Large Intestine.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): LI Front-Mu, regulates intestines.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, clears Heat, regulates bowel.

LI 11 (Quchi): Clears Heat from LI.

LI 4 (Hegu): Regulates Qi, clears Heat.

SP 9 (Yinlingquan): Drains Damp.

SP 6 (Sanyinjiao): Resolves Damp, harmonizes Spleen.

BL 25 (Dachangshu): Back-Shu of LI, clears Heat.

BL 20 (Pishu): Supports Spleen function, controls Damp.

Ren 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes middle Jiao, clears Damp-Heat.

ST 44 (Neiting): Clears Stomach/Intestine Heat.

CV 6 (Qihai): Supports Qi flow, relieves fullness.

GB 34 (Yanglingquan): Moves Liver Qi, harmonizes Shaoyang if stagnation present.

ST 36 (Zusanli): Tonifies Spleen and Stomach, strengthens digestive function.

8. Homeopathic Medicines

China (Cinchona officinalis) 200C: For diarrhea with undigested food, weakness from fluid loss.

Mercurius solubilis 200C: Dysenteric stools with mucus and blood, offensive odor.

Podophyllum 200C: Explosive diarrhea, early morning, watery with burning.

Veratrum album 200C: Diarrhea with cold sweat, weakness, exhaustion.

Aloe socotrina 200C: Urgent diarrhea with colic and tenesmus.

9. Mother Tincture

Berberis Q: Clears Damp-Heat in digestive tract.

Rhubarb Q: Drains Damp-Heat, promotes bowel movement.

Coptis Q: Damp-Heat clearing effect in intestines.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

SBL Dysentery Syrup: Diarrhea with mucus and blood, abdominal pain.

Reckeweg R15 (Diarrhea Drops): Damp-Heat type diarrhea, burning sensation.

Bakson's Diarrhea Compound: Damp-Heat in intestines, foul-smelling stools.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-Combination 4: Diarrhea with sticky, foul stools.

Bio-Combination 11: Damp-Heat febrile diarrhea.

Bio-Combination 20: Fever with digestive inflammation.

Summary:

Large Intestine Damp-Heat occurs when internal Damp combines with Heat, producing diarrhea, burning sensation, abdominal fullness, foul-smelling stools, sticky yellow tongue coating, and slippery-rapid pulse. Treatment focuses on clearing Heat, draining Damp, harmonizing Spleen and LI, relieving dysentery.

Pattern 5: Large Intestine – External Cold

(Invasion of Cold into the Large Intestine)

1. Etiology (Causes)

External pathogenic Cold: Exposure to cold winds, sudden temperature changes, or wet environments.

Dietary factors: Eating cold or raw foods, ice-cold drinks.

Weakened Wei Qi / defensive Qi: Individuals with Yang deficiency or weak immunity are more susceptible.

Excess exertion or fatigue: Weakens body's resistance → easier invasion of Cold.

2. Pathology

Cold constricts intestinal Qi → spasmodic abdominal pain, sluggish bowel movement.

Cold injures Spleen Yang → decreased digestive function → diarrhea.

Cold may lead to slowed peristalsis, undigested stools, and abdominal bloating.

Stagnation of Cold can combine with Damp → chronic colicky diarrhea.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Sudden onset abdominal pain, cramping, relieved by warmth.

Diarrhea / loose stools, often watery, undigested.

Feeling of cold in abdomen, sometimes cold limbs.

No fever or low-grade chilliness, aversion to cold.

Borborygmi (intestinal gurgling).

Nausea, sometimes vomiting if cold invades upper GI.

General fatigue if diarrhea is prolonged.

4. Tongue

Pale, moist coating, sometimes thin white.

5. Pulse

Deep, slow, tight (indicative of Cold).

6. Treatment Principles

Expel Cold, warm the Large Intestine, relieve diarrhea.

Support Spleen Yang to restore digestive function.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): LI Front-Mu, regulates bowel, expels Cold.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, regulates intestines, relieves diarrhea.

CV 6 (Qihai): Tonifies Qi, warms Yang, relieves Cold stagnation.

CV 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes middle Jiao, warms Spleen & Stomach.

UB 25 (Dachangshu): LI Back-Shu, regulates bowel.

UB 20 (Pishu): Supports Spleen Yang, controls Damp.

SP 6 (Sanyinjiao): Tonifies Spleen and Kidney Yang, resolves Cold.

ST 36 (Zusanli): Tonifies Spleen/Stomach, expels Cold.

LI 4 (Hegu): Moves Qi, relieves pain.

Ren 8 (Shenque): Direct moxa for warming Yang and intestine.

Ren 4 (Guanyuan): Strengthens Kidney and Spleen Yang.

DU 4 (Mingmen): Warms Kidney Yang, supports digestive Yang function.

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Aconitum napellus 200C: Sudden onset diarrhea after exposure to cold wind.

Arsenicum album 200C: Diarrhea with burning in anus, watery, exhaustion.

China (Cinchona) 200C: Weakness and diarrhea following fluid loss.

Dulcamara 200C: Diarrhea from cold, damp environment.

Rhus toxicodendron 200C: Diarrhea with abdominal cramping aggravated by cold, relieved by warmth.

9. Mother Tincture

Zingiber officinale Q (Ginger): Warms digestive tract, expels Cold.

Cinnamomum Q (Cinnamon): Warms Yang, supports Spleen/Stomach.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

SBL Dysentery Syrup: For cold-induced diarrhea.

Reckeweg R15 (Diarrhea Drops): Treats watery, cold diarrhea.

Bakson's Diarrhea Compound: Cold or Cold-Damp diarrhea, abdominal cramps.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-Combination 4: Watery, cold diarrhea.

Bio-Combination 11: Cold-Damp in digestive system.

Bio-Combination 20: For low-energy diarrhea with abdominal colic.

Summary:

Large Intestine External Cold is caused by exposure to Cold or Cold-Damp, producing sudden abdominal cramps, watery diarrhea, pale tongue, deep slow pulse. Treatment focuses on expelling Cold, warming Yang, regulating bowel, and supporting Spleen/Kidney Yang.

Pattern 6: Large Intestine – Internal Cold

(Chronic Cold in the Large Intestine leading to sluggish function)

1. Etiology (Causes)

Chronic exposure to cold: Cold environments, damp-cold climates, sitting on cold surfaces.

Dietary habits: Frequent consumption of raw, cold foods and drinks.

Yang deficiency: Weak Kidney or Spleen Yang predisposes to internal Cold accumulation.

Prolonged illness: Weakens digestive Qi and allows internal Cold to stagnate.

2. Pathology

Cold invades the intestines → constriction of intestinal Qi, leading to chronic constipation or diarrhea.

Cold slows peristalsis → abdominal distension and bloating.

Chronic Cold may transform into Damp-Cold → increased mucus or loose stools.

Weak Yang → inadequate warming of intestines → stagnation of fluids.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Abdominal distension, discomfort, sometimes relieved by warmth.

Constipation with pale, loose, or watery stools.

Cold sensation in the abdomen, may extend to lower back.

Fatigue, lethargy, feeling cold in limbs.

Aversion to cold, preference for warmth.

Mild nausea, bloating, borborygmi.

Slow digestion, poor appetite, sometimes indigestion after cold foods.

4. Tongue

Pale, wet, white coating, possibly slippery.

5. Pulse

Deep, slow, weak, especially at right rear (Large Intestine/Kidney).

6. Treatment Principles

Warm Large Intestine, expel internal Cold.

Strengthen Spleen and Kidney Yang.

Regulate bowel movement, relieve stagnation.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): LI Front-Mu, warms intestine, regulates bowel.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, moves Qi, relieves constipation/diarrhea.

CV 6 (Qihai): Tonifies Qi, warms Yang, relieves Cold stagnation.

CV 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes middle Jiao, strengthens digestive Yang.

UB 25 (Dachangshu): LI Back-Shu, regulates bowel.

SP 6 (Sanyinjiao): Tonifies Spleen/Kidney Yang, expels Cold.

ST 36 (Zusanli): Tonifies Spleen/Stomach, warms Yang.

LI 4 (Hegu): Moves Qi, relieves abdominal pain.

Ren 4 (Guanyuan): Strengthens Kidney/Spleen Yang, warms lower abdomen.

Ren 8 (Shenque): Moxa directly warms Yang and intestines.

DU 4 (Mingmen): Warms Kidney Yang, supports bowel function.

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Dulcamara 200C: Chronic diarrhea/constipation after cold-damp exposure.

China (Cinchona) 200C: Weakness, watery stools, cold abdomen.

Aconitum napellus 200C: Cold-induced intestinal spasms, sudden diarrhea.

Rhus toxicodendron 200C: Abdominal cramping, worsened by cold, relieved by warmth.

Calcarea carbonica 200C: Slow digestion, cold abdomen, lethargy.

9. Mother Tincture

Reckeweg R15 (Diarrhea Drops): Cold-induced abdominal cramping and bowel issues.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-Combination 4: Internal Cold with watery stools.

Bio-Combination 11: Damp-Cold digestive issues.

Bio-Combination 20: Chronic constipation/abdominal Cold with fatigue.

Summary:

Internal Cold of the Large Intestine arises from chronic exposure, Yang deficiency, and cold foods, leading to slow peristalsis, abdominal distension, constipation or watery stools, pale moist tongue, and deep-slow pulse. Treatment focuses on warming intestines, supporting Spleen/Kidney Yang, regulating bowel, and relieving Cold stagnation.

Pattern 7: Large Intestine – Dryness

(Insufficient fluids leading to dry, hard stools and constipation)

1. Etiology (Causes)

Chronic Qi deficiency → weak intestinal fluids.

Excessive heat in the body → injures body fluids.

Aging → natural decline in Yin and fluids.

Improper diet → too much dry, spicy, or processed food.

Dehydration → insufficient water intake.

Chronic illness → depletes fluids and Yin.

2. Pathology

Dryness in the Large Intestine → stagnation of fecal matter, leading to hard, dry stools.

Intestinal Qi is weak → constipation and difficult defecation.

Yin deficiency or Blood deficiency may coexist → poor lubrication of bowel.

Heat accumulation worsens dryness → burning sensation in anus, cracked lips, dry mouth.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Constipation with dry, hard, small stools.

Dry mouth, throat, and lips.

Abdominal distension and discomfort during defecation.

Bloating in lower abdomen.

Fatigue or general weakness.

Cracked anus or hemorrhoids due to hard stools.

Mild irritability, restlessness if heat is present.

4. Tongue

Dry, pale or red, scanty coating, may have cracks.

5. Pulse

Thin, choppy, or weak.

6. Treatment Principles

Moisten Large Intestine, nourish Yin and fluids.

Relieve constipation, support Qi.

Clear mild heat if present.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 25 (Tianshu): LI Front-Mu, regulates bowel, relieves constipation.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, moves fecal matter.

SP 6 (Sanyinjiao): Nourishes Yin and fluids, moistens intestines.

ST 36 (Zusanli): Strengthens Qi, supports digestion.

CV 4 (Guanyuan): Nourishes Yin, tonifies fluids.

CV 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes middle Jiao, strengthens digestion.

UB 25 (Dachangshu): LI Back-Shu, regulates bowel.

KD 6 (Zhaohai): Nourishes Yin, moistens intestines.

LI 4 (Hegu): Moves Qi, relieves abdominal discomfort.

CV 8 (Shenque) with moxa: Supports digestive Yang, gentle warming.

DU 20 (Baihui): Helps raise Qi, support intestinal function.

UB 20 (Pishu): Supports Spleen to generate fluids.

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Aloe Socotrina 200C: Constipation with hard, dry stools, burning anus.

Nux Vomica 200C: Constipation from sedentary lifestyle, spicy food, morning stools.

Bryonia alba 200C: Dry, hard stools, abdominal pain worsened by movement.

Calcarea carbonica 200C: Chronic constipation in weak, chilly individuals.

Silicea 200C: Chronic constipation with dry skin and brittle nails.

9. Mother Tincture

Ficus carica Q (Fig): Moistens intestines, lubricates stools.

Aloe Q: Promotes bowel movement, reduces dryness.

Cassia Q: Supports intestinal fluid production.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

SBL Constipation Syrup: Dryness and hard stools.

Bakson's Purgative Drops: Gentle relief for chronic dry constipation.

Reckeweg R4 (Intestinal Drops): Dry intestines with slow bowel movements.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-combination 5: Dry bowel constipation.

Bio-combination 12: Yin-deficiency related dryness.

Bio-combination 18: Chronic hard stools with fatigue.

Summary:

Large Intestine Dryness arises from Yin or fluid deficiency, chronic heat, aging, or poor diet, leading to hard, dry stools, constipation, dry mouth, and abdominal discomfort. Treatment focuses on moistening intestines, nourishing Yin, regulating bowel, and supporting Qi.

Pattern 8: Large Intestine – Qi Sinking

(Prolapse or weakness of the bowel due to deficiency of Large Intestine Qi)

1. Etiology (Causes)

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency → fails to hold organs and intestines.

Aging → declining Qi fails to maintain bowel tone.

Postpartum weakness → Qi depletion after childbirth.

Chronic diarrhea or prolonged illness → depletes Qi and weakens intestinal function.

Overstrain or heavy lifting → further weakens bowel support.

2. Pathology

Large Intestine fails to ascend fecal matter due to Qi deficiency.

Prolapse of rectum or hemorrhoids may occur.

Weak Qi cannot support the abdominal organs, leading to sagging.

Secondary spleen Qi deficiency exacerbates the condition.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Frequent loose stools or mild constipation with urgency.

Rectal prolapse or hemorrhoids.

Abdominal heaviness or dragging sensation.

Fatigue, weakness, especially in lower limbs.

Pale complexion from Qi deficiency.

Poor appetite, bloating, mild nausea.

Sense of incomplete evacuation after bowel movement.

4. Tongue

Pale, soft, slightly swollen, thin coating.

5. Pulse

Weak, soft, and deep; sometimes knotted if Qi stagnation coexists.

6. Treatment Principles

Raise Large Intestine Qi, tonify Spleen Qi, support bowel function.

Prevent prolapse and improve bowel regularity.

7. Acupuncture Point Protocol (≥12 points)

ST 36 (Zusanli): Tonifies Qi, strengthens Spleen and Stomach.

CV 6 (Qihai): Tonifies Qi, raises sinking Qi.

ST 25 (Tianshu): LI Front-Mu, regulates bowel movement.

UB 20 (Pishu): Strengthens Spleen to generate Qi.

UB 21 (Weishu): Supports stomach, improves digestion.

DU 20 (Baihui): Raises Qi, lifts prolapse.

CV 12 (Zhongwan): Harmonizes middle Jiao.

LI 4 (Hegu): Moves Qi, relieves abdominal discomfort.

ST 37 (Shangjuxu): LI Lower He-Sea, regulates intestines.

UB 32 (Ciliao): Supports rectal and pelvic organs.

DU 1 (Changqiang): Lifts rectum, strengthens prolapse.

CV 4 (Guanyuan): Tonifies Yuan Qi, strengthens Lower Jiao.

8. Homeopathic Medicines

Alumina 200C: Chronic constipation with weak, sinking rectum; prolapse.

Nux Vomica 200C: Weak bowel with overstrain, morning urgency, constipation.

China (Cinchona) 200C: Weakness, Qi depletion, loose stools.

Sulphur 200C: Weak rectal tone, prolapse, burning anus.

Aesculus hippocastanum 200C: Hemorrhoids, rectal prolapse, poor tone.

9. Mother Tincture

Rhus Q: Strengthens intestinal muscles, reduces prolapse.

Althaea Q: Moistens intestines, supports bowel movement.

Hamamelis Q: Strengthens veins, alleviates hemorrhoids.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

SBL Prolapse Care Drops: Supports rectal tone and bowel function.

Bakson's Constipation & Prolapse Syrup: Chronic constipation with weakness.

Reckeweg R4 (Intestinal Drops): Weak Qi, prolapse, sluggish bowel.

11. Bio-combination Salts

Bio-combination 5: Supports bowel tone, relieves constipation.

Buy Indian

Bio-combination 9: Weak Qi, prolapse, fatigue.

Bio-combination 12: Chronic Qi deficiency with lower abdominal heaviness.

Summary:

Large Intestine Qi Sinking occurs from Spleen Qi deficiency, aging, chronic illness, or post-strain weakness, leading to rectal prolapse, hemorrhoids, loose stools, dragging sensation, and fatigue. Treatment focuses on raising Qi, tonifying Spleen, lifting prolapsed rectum, and regulating bowel.

Pattern 1 → Spleen Qi Deficiency, in the same detailed style as Lung and LI patterns, including etiology, pathology, signs & symptoms, tongue, pulse, acupuncture points (≥12), homeopathy, mother tincture, patent medicine, and bio-combination salts.

Pattern 1: Spleen Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic overwork, poor diet (excess cold/raw/fatty foods).

Chronic illness or prolonged bleeding weakening Spleen.

Emotional stress (worry, overthinking) affecting Spleen function.

Excessive dampness or phlegm accumulation impairing Spleen transformation and transportation.

Pathology:

Spleen fails to transform and transport fluids/nutrients, leading to fatigue, edema, and poor appetite.

Qi deficiency affects the upward movement of clear Yang, causing organ prolapse, weak limbs, and loose stools.

Blood may not be contained (secondary issue), leading to easy bruising or mild bleeding.

Signs & Symptoms:

Fatigue, lassitude, weak limbs, poor appetite, bloating after eating.

Loose stools or diarrhea.

Pale complexion, tendency to bruise easily.

Weak muscles, slight edema in lower limbs.

Emotional instability: worry, pensiveness.

Tongue:

Pale or slightly swollen, teeth marks on edges.

Thin white coating.

Pulse:

Weak, soft, or frail (especially on right guan position).

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu and Front Mu):

SP3 – Tonifies Spleen, strengthens Qi.

Buy Indian

ST36 – Tonifies Qi and Blood, supports digestion.

CV12 – Front-Mu of ST, harmonizes middle jiao.

UB20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, tonifies Spleen Qi.

UB21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, supports Spleen function.

SP6 – Strengthens Spleen, harmonizes middle jiao, nourishes Yin.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi and Yang.

ST25 – Regulates intestines, supports Qi movement.

SP9 – Resolves dampness.

DU20 – Lifts Spleen Qi, prevents sinking/prolapse.

SP10 – Invigorates Blood, helps Spleen control Blood.

LI10 – Tonifies Qi and strengthens limb muscles.

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis 30– for fatigue, weak digestion, fluid loss.

Calcarea Carbonica 200 – chronic weakness, pale, cold.

Lycopodium 30– bloating, indigestion, irregular stools.

Mother Tincture:

Arum Triphyllum MT – digestive weakness, bloating.

Gentiana MT – poor appetite, low vitality.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

Nux Digestiva Tablets – improves digestion, tonifies Qi.

Calcarea Sandoz – strengthens general vitality.

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum + Kali Phos + Nat Mur – for fatigue, weak digestion, and poor nutrient assimilation.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi.

Resolve dampness.

Support digestion and nutrient absorption. Prevent Qi sinking/prolapse.

Pattern 2: Spleen & Lung Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic illness, prolonged fatigue, or poor diet weakening both Spleen and Lung.

Recurrent respiratory infections depleting Lung Qi.

Overthinking, worry, or emotional stress impairing Spleen function.

Inadequate nutrition leading to Qi and Blood deficiency.

Pathology:

Spleen fails to transform and transport nutrients, leading to weak digestion, poor assimilation, and fatigue. Lung Qi deficiency impairs defensive Wei Qi, reducing immunity and causing susceptibility to external pathogens.

Weak Spleen and Lung Qi results in shortness of breath, weak voice, fatigue, and spontaneous sweating. Fluid metabolism is impaired, possibly leading to mild edema or phlegm accumulation.

Signs & Symptoms:

Fatigue, lassitude, and low energy.

Shortness of breath, weak voice, easily catching colds.

Poor appetite, bloating, loose stools.

Pale complexion, pale lips.

Weak limbs, spontaneous sweating.

Occasional mild edema of lower limbs.

Tongue:

Pale with thin white coating.

Pulse:

Weak, soft, and frail.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu and Front Mu):

LU9 – Tonifies Lung Qi and Yin.

UB13 – Back-Shu of Lung, strengthens Lung Qi.

DU12 – Tonifies Lung Qi, supports immunity.

ST36 – Tonifies Qi and Blood, harmonizes Spleen and Stomach.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, supports middle jiao.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, tonifies Qi.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen and Lung, harmonizes middle jiao.

UB20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, strengthens digestion.

UB21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, supports nutrient absorption.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, supports Spleen and Lung function.

LI10 – Tonifies Qi and strengthens muscles.

DU20 – Lifts Spleen Qi, prevents sinking/prolapse.

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis – for fatigue, weak digestion, post-illness weakness.

Phosphorus – weak Lung function, easy respiratory infections.

Lycopodium – bloating, weak digestion, low energy.

Buy Indian

Mother Tincture:

Gentiana MT – poor appetite, digestive weakness.

Echinacea MT – weak immunity, respiratory susceptibility.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

Lymphomyosot – boosts immune function, supports Lung and Spleen.

Nux Digestiva Tablets – improves digestion, tonifies Spleen Qi.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Ferrum + Nat Mur – supports fatigue, low immunity, and poor nutrient absorption.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi to strengthen digestion and nutrient assimilation.

Tonify Lung Qi to improve immunity and respiratory function.

Prevent fluid accumulation and mild edema.

Support overall vitality and resistance to infections.

Pattern 3: Spleen Yang Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency, often from prolonged illness, poor diet, excessive raw/cold food.

Overwork, excessive worry, or aging weakens Spleen Yang.

Cold-damp environment or cold exposure may precipitate Yang deficiency.

Pathology:

Spleen Yang fails to warm and transform fluids, leading to internal cold and damp accumulation.

Poor digestion and fluid metabolism cause edema, bloating, and diarrhea.

Spleen Yang deficiency can lead to Spleen Qi sinking, organ prolapse, and blood deficiency over time.

Signs & Symptoms:

Fatigue, lethargy, cold limbs, and preference for warmth.

Loose stools or watery diarrhea, worse in the morning or after cold food.

Abdominal bloating, distension, and cold sensation in the abdomen.

Pale complexion, puffy face.

Edema, especially in lower limbs.

Poor appetite, nausea, and weak digestion.

Feeling of heaviness in the body.

Spontaneous sweating in some cases.

Tongue:

Pale, swollen, moist, with a white, greasy coating.

Pulse:

Deep, weak, slow, and forceless.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu and Front Mu):

UB20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, tonifies Spleen Yang.

UB21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, supports digestion and warming.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, strengthens middle jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach, strengthens Qi and Yang.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen function, harmonizes middle jiao.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen and Kidney Yang, harmonizes fluids.

CV4 – Supports Yang, tonifies Qi, strengthens lower jiao.

CV6 – Warms middle jiao, tonifies Qi and Yang.

SP9 – Resolves dampness, strengthens Spleen Yang.

ST28 – Moves water, alleviates edema from Yang deficiency.

DU4 – Mingmen point, strengthens Kidney and Spleen Yang.

UB22 – Back-Shu of Triple Burner, supports fluid metabolism.

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis – for fatigue, weakness, and cold extremities.

Arsenicum Album – chronic diarrhea, coldness, and weakness.

Carbo Veg – fatigue with bloating and cold body.

Mother Tincture:

Zingiber MT – warms middle jiao, strengthens Spleen Yang.

Gentiana MT – aids digestion and warming function.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

SYN-Boost Tablets – strengthens Qi and warms Yang.

Digestium Tablets – improves digestion and absorption.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos – supports Yang, digestion, and fluid balance.

Treatment Principles:

Warm and tonify Spleen Yang.

Strengthen middle jiao and digestion.

Resolve dampness and cold.

Support fluid metabolism and reduce edema.

Prevent chronic diarrhea and organ prolapse.

Buy Indian

Pattern 4: Spleen Qi Sinking

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency due to overwork, prolonged illness, poor diet, or emotional stress.

Repeated heavy lifting or excessive physical strain can further weaken Spleen.

Sinking Spleen Qi may also occur after chronic diarrhea or profuse sweating.

Pathology:

Spleen Qi fails to hold organs and fluids in place.

Leads to organ prolapse (e.g., uterus, rectum, bladder) and chronic diarrhea.

Weak transport of nutrients and fluids causes fatigue, poor digestion, and limb weakness.

Spleen Qi weakness may lead to secondary Lung or Heart Qi deficiency if prolonged.

Signs & Symptoms:

Chronic fatigue and low energy.

Loose stools or diarrhea, especially after eating.

Bearing-down sensation in the abdomen or pelvic organs.

Organ prolapse (uterine, rectal) in severe cases.

Pale complexion, weakness of limbs.

Poor appetite, bloating, nausea.

Spontaneous sweating.

Shortness of breath on exertion.

Tongue:

Pale with thin, white coating.

Pulse:

Weak, soft, and forceless.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu and Front Mu):

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, lifts sinking Spleen.

DU20 – Raises Spleen Qi, prevents prolapse.

ST36 – Strengthens Spleen and Stomach, tonifies Qi.

SP3 – Tonifies Spleen, harmonizes middle jiao.

SP6 – Strengthens Spleen and Qi, harmonizes fluids.

UB20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, reinforces Spleen function.

UB21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, aids nutrient absorption.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, supports middle jiao.

ST21 – Lifts Spleen Qi, reduces abdominal distension.

DU1 – Stabilizes prolapsed organs, supports lower jiao.

LI10 – Tonifies Qi and limb strength.

CV4 – Tonifies Qi and Blood, supports pelvic organs.

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis – chronic fatigue, weakness after illness, diarrhea.

Aurum Mur 30 – weakness, organ prolapse tendency.

Lycopodium 30– bloating, digestive insufficiency.

Mother Tincture:

Gentiana MT – supports digestion, strengthens Spleen Qi.

Ribes MT – for prolapse, poor nutrient assimilation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

Nux Digestiva Tablets – improves digestion, supports Spleen Qi.

Lymphomyosot – enhances overall vitality and resistance.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos – supports energy, Qi, and weak digestion.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi and raise sinking Qi.

Strengthen digestion and nutrient absorption.

Support pelvic organs and prevent prolapse.

Enhance overall vitality, reduce fatigue, and prevent chronic diarrhea.

Pattern 5: Spleen Blood Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency that fails to produce enough Blood.

Poor diet (insufficient protein, vitamins, or iron), excessive worry, overwork.

Post-illness weakness or prolonged diarrhea weakening Spleen's blood-generating function.

Aging or chronic disease reducing Spleen Qi and blood production.

Pathology:

Spleen fails to transform and transport nutrients, leading to Blood deficiency.

Blood fails to nourish muscles, skin, and organs, causing pallor, fatigue, and dizziness.

Chronic Spleen Blood deficiency can affect Heart and Liver Blood, leading to palpitations and dizziness.

Signs & Symptoms:

Fatigue, lethargy, and poor appetite.

Pale complexion, lips, and tongue.

Dizziness, blurred vision, and palpitations.

Weak limbs, muscle cramps, or numbness.

Loose stools or diarrhea.

Poor concentration and memory.

Menstrual irregularities in women (light or delayed menses).

Pale, dry skin; brittle nails; hair loss.

Feeling of heaviness in body; cold hands and feet in some cases.

Tongue:

Pale, thin, slightly dry, with little coating.

Pulse:

Thin, weak, forceless.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu and Front Mu):

UB20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, tonifies Spleen and nourishes Blood.

UB21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, supports digestion and nutrient absorption.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, strengthens middle jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach, generates Blood.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, harmonizes middle jiao.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, Liver, and Kidney; nourishes Blood.

CV4 – Tonifies Blood and Yin.

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, nourishes Blood directly.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi to support Blood production.

SP10 – Invigorates and nourishes Blood.

UB20 + UB21 moxa – Reinforces Spleen function.

ST36 moxa – Strengthens middle jiao and supports Blood generation.

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis 30 – for weakness, fatigue, and anemia after fluid loss.

Ferrum Metallicum 30– anemia, palpitations, and pallor.

Carbo Veg 30 – weakness, poor appetite, bloating.

Mother Tincture:

Gentiana MT – strengthens Spleen and Blood production.

Angelica MT – nourishes Blood and improves circulation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

Blood Tonic Tablets – strengthens Spleen and generates Blood.

Nutri-Sync Drops – improves nutrient absorption and supports Blood formation.

Bio-combination Salts:

Buy Indian

Ferrum Phos + Kali Phos + Nat Mur – strengthens Blood, supports Spleen, and balances fluids.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi and Blood.

Strengthen middle jiao to produce more Blood.

Nourish muscles, skin, and organs.

Support Heart and Liver Blood if affected.

Improve digestion, appetite, and energy.

Pattern 6: Spleen & Heart Blood Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency leading to insufficient Blood production.

Overthinking, worry, or emotional stress affecting Spleen function.

Prolonged illness, heavy menstrual loss, or post-partum weakness.

Poor diet lacking in iron, protein, and vitamins.

Combination of Spleen deficiency and Heart Yin/Blood depletion.

Pathology:

Spleen fails to transform and transport nutrients, reducing Blood production.

Heart, which houses the mind (Shen), is deprived of Blood, leading to palpitations, anxiety, and insomnia.

Muscles and skin are poorly nourished, causing fatigue, pallor, and weakness.

Emotional symptoms arise due to Blood deficiency affecting the Shen.

Signs & Symptoms:

Fatigue, lethargy, and weakness of limbs.

Pale complexion, lips, nails, and tongue.

Palpitations, anxiety, poor memory, and insomnia.

Dizziness, vertigo, or blurred vision.

Poor appetite, bloating, loose stools, or diarrhea.

Cold hands and feet in some cases.

Emotional instability, irritability, and low spirits.

Light or delayed menstruation in women; scanty or pale blood.

Muscle cramps, numbness, or dry skin.

Tongue:

Pale, thin, slightly dry, possibly with teeth marks.

Pulse:

Thin, weak, forceless, sometimes rapid if Heart Yin slightly affected.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):

UB20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, strengthens Spleen and Blood production.

UB21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, aids nutrient absorption.

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, nourishes Blood directly.

UB15 – Back-Shu of Heart, nourishes Heart Blood and Shen.

CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, strengthens middle jiao.

CV4 – Tonifies Blood and Yin, strengthens Qi.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach, generates Blood.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, harmonizes middle jiao.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, Liver, and Kidney; nourishes Blood.

HT7 – Tonifies Heart Blood, calms Shen.

PC6 – Nourishes Heart Blood, calms Shen, regulates Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi to support Blood formation.

SP10 – Invigorates and nourishes Blood.

UB20 + UB21 moxa – Reinforce Spleen and Stomach function.

ST36 moxa – Supports middle jiao and Blood generation.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Ferrum Metallicum 30 – for anemia, pallor, palpitations, and fatigue.

Carbo Veg 30– weakness, poor appetite, bloating.

China officinalis 30– fatigue after fluid loss, low energy.

Mother Tincture:

Gentiana MT – strengthens Spleen and Blood production.

Angelica MT – nourishes Blood and circulation.

Crataegus MT – supports Heart and Shen.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

Blood Tonic Tablets – strengthens Spleen and generates Blood.

Heart & Blood Support Drops – nourishes Heart and Spleen Blood, calms Shen.

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum Phos + Kali Phos + Nat Mur – strengthens Blood, nourishes Spleen, and supports Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi to generate Blood.

Nourish Heart Blood to calm Shen and support mental-emotional stability.

Strengthen middle jiao for proper nutrient transformation.

Improve appetite, energy, and circulation.
Address emotional symptoms, insomnia, and palpitations through Blood nourishment.

Pattern 7: Spleen & Liver Blood Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency leading to insufficient Blood production.
Liver Blood deficiency from prolonged stress, overwork, or irregular menstruation.
Poor diet lacking iron, protein, or nutrients.
Postpartum weakness, chronic illness, or blood loss.
Emotional strain affecting Liver function (anger, frustration, or depression).

Pathology:

Spleen fails to produce adequate Blood; Liver fails to store and nourish Blood.
Muscles, tendons, and eyes are inadequately nourished.
Circulation to extremities and internal organs is weakened.
Shen (mind) is affected indirectly, leading to anxiety or irritability.
Menstrual irregularities may develop due to Blood deficiency.

Signs & Symptoms:

Pale complexion, lips, nails; thin, weak body.
Fatigue, lethargy, and poor stamina.
Dizziness, blurred vision, floaters.
Muscle cramps, stiffness, or weakness.
Poor appetite, bloating, or loose stools.
Scanty or delayed menstruation, amenorrhea in severe cases.
Emotional instability, irritability, anxiety, low mood.
Dry hair, brittle nails, or hair loss.
Palpitations, mild insomnia, or dream-disturbed sleep.

Tongue:

Pale, thin, slightly dry, sometimes with cracks.

Pulse:

Thin, weak, wiry in severe Liver involvement.
Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):

UB20 – Spleen Back-Shu, strengthens Spleen and Blood.
UB21 – Stomach Back-Shu, enhances nutrient absorption.
UB18 – Liver Back-Shu, nourishes Liver Blood.
UB17 – Influential point of Blood, strengthens overall Blood.
CV12 – Front-Mu of Stomach, supports middle jiao.
CV4 – Tonifies Blood and Yin, supports Qi.
ST36 – Strengthens Spleen & Stomach, generates Blood.
SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, harmonizes digestion.
SP6 – Nourishes Spleen, Liver, and Kidney; tonifies Blood.
LR8 – Nourishes Liver Blood, benefits tendons and muscles.
UB23 – Kidney Back-Shu, supports essence and Blood formation.
UB20 + UB21 moxa – Reinforce Spleen & Stomach function.
ST36 moxa – Boosts Qi and Blood generation.
SP10 – Invigorates and nourishes Blood.
CV6 – Tonifies Qi to support Blood formation.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Ferrum Metallicum 30 – fatigue, pallor, poor circulation.
China officinalis 30 – weakness, post-blood loss fatigue.
Sepia 30 – for menstrual irregularities and emotional stress.

Mother Tincture:

Angelica MT – nourishes Blood, regulates menstruation.
Gentiana MT – strengthens Spleen and digestion.
Crataegus MT – supports Heart and circulation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicine:

Blood & Liver Tonic Tablets – strengthen Spleen, nourish Liver Blood.
Menstrual Support Drops – regulate cycle and support Blood production.

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum Phos + Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Calc Phos – strengthens Blood, nourishes Spleen & Liver, supports muscles, tendons, and Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi to generate Blood.
Nourish Liver Blood to support tendons, muscles, eyes, and menstrual health.
Strengthen middle jiao and nutrient absorption.
Improve circulation to extremities and organs.
Address emotional instability, insomnia, or palpitations through Blood nourishment.

Pattern 8: Spleen Not Holding Blood

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency due to overwork, poor diet, or chronic illness.

Emotional stress or prolonged illness weakening the Spleen.

Excessive blood loss (menstruation, trauma, surgery) further depletes Qi.

Pathology:

Weak Spleen Qi fails to “hold” blood in vessels → spontaneous bleeding occurs.

Insufficient production of blood due to Spleen Qi deficiency.

Possible concurrent Liver blood deficiency aggravating bleeding tendency.

Signs & Symptoms:

Easy bruising, petechiae, nosebleeds, bleeding gums.

Heavy or irregular menstrual bleeding, blood in stool or urine.

Pale complexion, fatigue, dizziness.

Weak limbs, poor appetite, bloating, loose stools.

Palpitations, mild anxiety.

Tongue: Pale, thin, sometimes slightly dry or with small cracks.

Pulse: Weak, thin, soft, sometimes choppy.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points, including Back Shu, Front Mu, and other supporting points):

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach (supports Spleen function)

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach (tonifies middle jiao)

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach Qi

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, Stomach, and Blood

SP10 – Moves blood and stops bleeding

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, regulates and nourishes blood

SP1 – Stops bleeding

SP4 – Strengthens Spleen’s control over blood

CV6 – Tonifies Qi and Blood

CV4 – Nourishes Blood and Yin

DU20 – Raises Spleen Qi, prevents sinking of Qi

UB23 – Supports Kidney Qi to indirectly support Spleen

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis 30 – for blood loss, weakness, pallor

Phosphorus 30– for bleeding tendency and fatigue

Arnica montana 30– for bruising, trauma, and capillary fragility

Mother Tinctures:

Angelica MT – strengthens blood production

Crataegus MT – supports circulation

Gentiana MT – tonifies Spleen Qi

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Hemoboost Tablets – tonify blood and support Spleen Qi

Blood Support Drops – support general blood nourishment and circulation

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum Phos + Calc Phos + Kali Mur + Nat Mur – supports blood formation and vessel integrity

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Spleen Qi to hold blood.

Nourish blood and middle jiao.

Stop spontaneous bleeding.

Strengthen overall Qi and support Liver blood if concurrently deficient.

Pattern 9: Spleen Dampness and Liver Qi Stagnation

Etiology:

Emotional stress, anger, or frustration → Liver Qi stagnation.

Poor diet, overconsumption of greasy, sweet, or cold foods → Spleen dampness.

Chronic illness weakening Spleen and Liver functions.

Sedentary lifestyle leading to poor Qi flow and damp accumulation.

Pathology:

Liver Qi stagnation disrupts the free flow of Qi, which impairs Spleen function.

Dampness accumulates due to weak Spleen transport and transformation.

Combined effect leads to digestive issues, bloating, and stagnation of Qi and fluids.

Possible secondary effects on stomach and intestines, leading to irregular bowel movements.

Signs & Symptoms:

Abdominal distension, bloating, heaviness in the limbs.

Nausea, poor appetite, loose stools or sticky stool.

Feeling of oppression in the chest or hypochondrium.

Fatigue, lethargy, and mild edema.

Irritability, mood swings, tension headaches.

Pale or slightly yellow complexion with greasy skin.

Tongue coating: sticky, white or yellow.

Pulse: wiry on left, slippery or soft on right.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and others):

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens Spleen and transforms damp

UB18 – Back Shu of Liver, moves Liver Qi

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, tonifies middle jiao

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach Qi

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, moves Liver Qi

LR3 – Moves Liver Qi and relieves stagnation

SP9 – Resolves Dampness in Spleen

PC6 – Relieves chest oppression, harmonizes Liver/Spleen

GB34 – Liver and Gallbladder, moves Qi and damp

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, supports middle jiao

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, supports Spleen Qi

LR13 – Front Mu of Spleen, regulates Liver-Spleen interaction

ST25 – Moves intestines, reduces damp accumulation

Homeopathy Medicines:

China officinalis – for bloating, fatigue, and weakness

Lycopodium clavatum 30 – for abdominal distension, digestive sluggishness

Nux vomica 30 – for liver stagnation, irritability, constipation

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – supports Spleen and liver function

Carduus MT – moves Liver Qi

Taraxacum MT – resolves dampness and supports digestion

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Digestive Balance Drops – resolves damp and supports Qi flow

Hepato-Spleen Tablets – harmonizes Liver and Spleen

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Sulph + Nat Sulph + Kali Phos + Ferrum Phos – supports liver function, resolves damp, strengthens Qi

Treatment Principles:

Move Liver Qi to relieve stagnation.

Strengthen Spleen to transform and drain damp.

Harmonize middle jiao and regulate digestion.

Support Qi and blood to prevent secondary deficiencies.

Pattern 10: Spleen Cold and Dampness

Etiology:

Chronic exposure to cold and damp environments.

Consumption of cold, raw, or overly damp-producing foods (dairy, cold drinks, greasy foods).

Weak constitution or pre-existing Spleen Qi deficiency.

Prolonged illness or overwork leading to yang deficiency in the Spleen.

Pathology:

Cold impairs Spleen Yang, reducing its ability to transform and transport fluids.

Dampness accumulates in the middle jiao, causing stagnation and heaviness.

Cold constricts vessels, further slowing Qi and blood movement.

Resulting in digestive dysfunction, water retention, and fatigue.

Signs & Symptoms:

Abdominal distension and fullness, worsened by cold intake.

Loose, watery stools or diarrhea.

Nausea, poor appetite, or bloating.

Heaviness in limbs and body.

Fatigue, lethargy, cold limbs.

Pale complexion, possible edema.

Tongue: pale, swollen, with a white, greasy coating.

Pulse: deep, slow, and slippery or weak.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and others):

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens Spleen and resolves damp.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, supports Spleen Yang.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, tonifies middle jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach Qi, warms Yang.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen and transforms dampness.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, harmonizes fluids.

SP9 – Resolves dampness.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, warms middle jiao.

CV4 – Tonifies original Qi, warms Yang.

DU4 – Strengthens Kidney Yang to support Spleen Yang.

UB22 – Back Shu of San Jiao, resolves dampness.

ST25 – Regulates intestines, resolves damp accumulation.

CV9 – Resolves water-damp, supports Spleen function.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Dulcamara – for cold-damp accumulation, heaviness, digestive sluggishness.

China officinalis – for fatigue, bloating, water retention.

Nux vomica – for digestive sluggishness, especially from cold intake.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber MT – warms middle jiao, supports Spleen Yang.

Gentiana MT – tonifies digestion and resolves damp.

Taraxacum MT – drains damp, supports digestive function.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Digestive Warm Drops – warms middle jiao, resolves cold-damp.

Spleen Yang Tonic Tablets – strengthens Spleen, harmonizes fluids.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Sulph + Nat Sulph + Calc Phos + Kali Phos – strengthens Spleen Yang, resolves dampness, supports Qi flow.

Treatment Principles:

Warm Spleen Yang to restore transformation and transportation.

Resolve dampness to reduce stagnation and heaviness.

Tonify Qi to prevent further deficiency.

Harmonize middle jiao to restore digestive function.

Pattern 11: Spleen Damp and Heat

Etiology:

Overconsumption of greasy, rich, or spicy foods that generate damp-heat.

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency leading to damp accumulation that transforms into heat.

Emotional stress affecting the Spleen, causing stagnation and internal heat.

External damp-heat invasion in a weakened constitution.

Pathology:

Damp obstructs the Spleen's transformation and transportation functions.

Damp stagnation generates heat, which further damages the Spleen and accelerates Qi deficiency.

Heat dries fluids, aggravates thirst, irritability, and digestive upset.

Impairment of Spleen function affects the stomach and intestines, leading to diarrhea or sticky stools.

Signs & Symptoms:

Abdominal fullness, distension, or pain with a burning sensation.

Loose stools with a foul smell or sticky consistency.

Nausea, bitter taste in the mouth, thirst without desire to drink much.

Low-grade fever or heaviness of the body.

Urine dark and scanty.

Fatigue, lethargy, or heaviness in limbs.

Tongue: red tip, swollen, yellow greasy coating.

Pulse: slippery, rapid, or wiry.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and others):

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens Spleen and resolves dampness.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, supports Spleen function.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes middle jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen Qi and transforms damp.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, resolves dampness.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, harmonizes fluids.

SP9 – Resolves damp and damp-heat.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi and warms Yang.

CV4 – Tonifies original Qi, supports middle jiao.

DU9 – Resolves damp-heat in middle jiao.

ST25 – Regulates intestines, clears damp-heat.

GB34 – Resolves damp-heat in the Gallbladder, harmonizes Qi flow.

LR13 – Front Mu of Spleen, harmonizes Liver-Spleen interaction.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Mercurius solubilis 30– for damp-heat in digestive system with foul stools.

China officinalis 30 – for fatigue, digestive sluggishness with damp accumulation.

Podophyllum 30– for sticky, offensive diarrhea, heat symptoms.

Mother Tinctures:

Taraxacum MT – drains damp-heat, supports liver and spleen.

Gentiana MT – strengthens digestion and clears heat.

Berberis MT – resolves damp-heat in intestines and liver.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Digestive Detox Drops – clears damp-heat, supports Spleen function.

Spleen-Liver Tonic Tablets – harmonizes Qi, resolves damp-heat.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Sulph + Nat Sulph + Kali Mur + Calc Sulph – resolves damp-heat, strengthens Spleen Qi, improves digestion.

Treatment Principles:

Resolve damp and clear heat.

Strengthen Spleen to restore transformation and transportation.

Harmonize middle jiao to regulate intestines and digestion.

Support Qi to prevent further deficiency.

Pattern 1: Stomach Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Poor diet: irregular meals, insufficient or unbalanced nutrition, or overconsumption of cold/raw foods.

Chronic illness or prolonged Spleen Qi deficiency affecting the Stomach.

Excessive worry, anxiety, or emotional stress impairing the Stomach's function.

Overexertion or fatigue leading to depletion of Stomach Qi.

Pathology:

Weak Stomach Qi fails to properly descend and transport food, leading to impaired digestion.

Deficiency of Stomach Qi causes poor appetite, bloating, and fatigue.

Inability to generate adequate fluids and nutrients affects overall Qi and blood production.

Prolonged deficiency may lead to secondary Spleen Qi deficiency or cold accumulation.

Signs & Symptoms:

Poor appetite, slight hunger without desire to eat.

Abdominal distension, bloating after meals.

Nausea or belching.

Fatigue, weakness, lack of energy.

Loose stools or soft stools.

Pale complexion.

Tongue: pale with thin white coating.

Pulse: weak or empty, especially in the Stomach position.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and others):

ST36 – Tonifies Stomach Qi, strengthens digestion.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes middle jiao.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, strengthens Stomach Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi and supports middle jiao.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, assists Stomach function.

ST34 – Empirical point for stomach pain and weakness.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen and harmonizes middle jiao.

CV4 – Tonifies original Qi, strengthens middle jiao.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, supports transformation and transportation.

ST21 – Regulates Stomach Qi, relieves distension.

ST25 – Harmonizes intestines, supports digestion.

LR13 – Front Mu of Spleen, harmonizes Spleen-Stomach interaction.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica – for poor digestion, bloating, nausea.

Carbo Vegetabilis – for fatigue, bloating, fullness after meals.

Lycopodium – for weak digestion, fullness, belching.

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – stimulates digestion, tonifies Stomach.

Taraxacum MT – strengthens middle jiao, supports fluid metabolism.

Chamomilla MT – soothes digestive discomfort and bloating.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Tonic Drops – strengthens Stomach Qi and digestion.

Digestive Support Tablets – relieves bloating and poor appetite.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Phos + Calc Phos – supports Stomach Qi, improves digestion, relieves bloating.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Stomach Qi and strengthen the middle jiao.

Support Spleen function to enhance food transformation.

Harmonize digestion and relieve abdominal distension.

Nourish fluids and prevent secondary deficiency.

Pattern 2: Stomach & Spleen Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic poor diet: irregular meals, overconsumption of cold/raw foods, or insufficient nutrition.

Emotional stress or overthinking affecting Spleen and Stomach function.

Chronic illness or prolonged deficiency of Stomach Qi leading to secondary Spleen Qi weakness.

Excessive physical exertion, fatigue, or overwork impairing middle jiao.

Pathology:

Weak Spleen Qi fails to transform and transport nutrients effectively.

Stomach Qi deficiency results in impaired digestion and poor appetite.

Combination leads to accumulation of dampness, fatigue, and malnutrition.

Long-standing deficiency may affect other organs (Liver, Lung) due to lack of nutrient support.

Signs & Symptoms:

Poor appetite, early satiety.

Abdominal bloating or distension after meals.

Loose stools or diarrhea.

Fatigue, weakness, lethargy.

Pale complexion, tendency to bruise easily.

Nausea or mild vomiting.

Lack of taste sensation or preference for bland foods.

Tongue: pale, possibly swollen, thin white coating.

Pulse: weak or soft in middle jiao positions.

Slight edema or fluid retention in some cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and others):

ST36 – Tonifies Stomach Qi, supports digestion.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes middle jiao.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, strengthens Stomach Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, supports middle jiao.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, enhances food transformation.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, harmonizes middle jiao.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, supports transport and transformation.

CV4 – Tonifies original Qi, assists middle jiao.

ST25 – Regulates intestines, supports digestion.

LR13 – Front Mu of Spleen, harmonizes Spleen-Stomach interaction.

ST21 – Relieves abdominal distension, harmonizes Stomach Qi.

ST37 – Regulates Large Intestine, helps diarrhea from Qi deficiency.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica 30– poor appetite, bloating, mild nausea.

China (Cinchona) Q – fatigue, weakness, poor nutrient absorption.

Lycopodium 30– bloating, distension, irregular digestion.

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – stimulates Stomach Qi and digestion.

Taraxacum MT – supports Spleen function, helps fluid metabolism.

Chamomilla MT – relieves bloating, mild digestive discomfort.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Spleen-Stomach Tonic Drops – strengthens Spleen and Stomach Qi.

Digestive Support Tablets – improves appetite, reduces bloating.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Phos + Calc Phos – tonifies Stomach and Spleen Qi, improves digestion, relieves bloating.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Stomach and Spleen Qi.

Harmonize middle jiao and improve nutrient transformation.

Relieve abdominal distension and support digestion.

Strengthen Qi to prevent secondary deficiencies and damp accumulation.

Pattern 3: Stomach Yang Deficiency & Cold

Etiology:

Chronic consumption of cold, raw, or chilled foods weakening Stomach Yang.

Prolonged Spleen Qi deficiency leading to impaired Yang transformation.

Overwork, fatigue, or chronic illness impairing middle jiao yang.

Excessive exposure to cold or damp environments.

Pathology:

Deficient Stomach Yang fails to warm and transform food.

Cold accumulates in middle jiao, slowing digestion and intestinal motility.

Spleen may also be affected, leading to dampness and further Qi deficiency.

Chronic cold stagnation may lead to severe digestive issues or diarrhea.

Signs & Symptoms:

Poor appetite or loss of appetite.

Feeling of cold in the epigastrium or abdomen.

Preference for warm foods and drinks.

Abdominal distension relieved by warmth.

Cold extremities.

Nausea or vomiting of watery fluid.

Loose stools or diarrhea with undigested food.

Fatigue, weakness, lethargy.

Pale complexion.

Tongue: pale, swollen, moist, with a white coating.

Pulse: deep, slow, weak.

Sometimes edema in lower extremities due to impaired Yang transformation.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and other supportive points):

ST36 – Tonifies Stomach Yang, strengthens middle jiao.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, warms and harmonizes Stomach.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, supports Yang Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies original Qi and middle jiao.

SP3 – Supports Spleen Yang and digestion.

SP6 – Strengthens Spleen and harmonizes middle jiao.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, assists in Qi transformation.

CV8 – Warms Yang, tonifies middle jiao (moxa).

ST25 – Regulates intestines, helps diarrhea.

ST21 – Relieves abdominal cold and distension.

ST34 – Harmonizes Stomach, relieves cold pain.

SP9 – Resolves dampness, supports Spleen Yang.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Arsenicum Album 30 – cold abdomen, loose stools, watery diarrhea.

Nux Vomica 30 – cold sensitivity, poor appetite, bloating.

Rhus Tox 30 – digestive cold, bloating, and weakness.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber officinale MT – warms Stomach, improves digestion.

Cinnamomum MT – tonifies middle jiao, relieves cold.

Gentiana MT – supports Stomach Yang, enhances appetite.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Warm Tonic Drops – strengthens Stomach Yang, relieves cold stagnation.

Digestive Warm Tablets – improves digestion, reduces abdominal cold and bloating.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Sulph + Nat Sulph + Calc Sulph – strengthens Stomach Yang, improves digestion, reduces cold accumulation.

Treatment Principles:

Warm and tonify Stomach Yang.

Support Spleen function to transform and transport nutrients.

Eliminate cold from middle jiao.

Regulate intestines and relieve abdominal distension.

Pattern 4: Stomach Yin Deficiency

Buy Indian

Etiology:

Chronic overconsumption of spicy, hot, or greasy foods injuring Stomach Yin.

Prolonged illness or internal heat consuming fluids.

Emotional stress or anxiety affecting digestion and Yin.

Excessive dieting or fasting weakening Stomach fluids.

Pathology:

Deficiency of Stomach Yin leads to inability to nourish the Stomach and generate fluids.

Heat develops due to relative Yin deficiency (“empty-heat”), leading to dryness in middle jiao.

Damaged fluids impair digestion, leading to dry mouth, thirst, and burning sensations.

Over time, may affect Lung Yin due to the Stomach-Lung fluid relationship.

Signs & Symptoms:

Dry mouth and throat, especially in the afternoon or evening.

Thirst with preference for small sips of water.

Hunger without desire to eat much, sometimes only for cool or soft foods.

Epigastric discomfort or burning.

Nausea or slight vomiting.

Constipation due to dryness.

Fatigue, weak limbs.

Low-grade fever or feeling of heat in the palms, soles, or chest.

Tongue: red, little or no coating, cracks in the center or sides.

Pulse: thin, rapid, or weak.

Possible hiccups or acid regurgitation.

Dry lips or mouth sores.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and other supportive points):

ST36 – Nourishes Stomach Yin, tonifies middle jiao.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes Stomach and nourishes fluids.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, supports Yin.

SP6 – Nourishes Yin, strengthens Spleen and fluids.

CV4 – Tonifies fluids and Yin, harmonizes middle jiao.

KD3 – Nourishes Kidney Yin to support Stomach Yin.

KD6 – Nourishes Yin, harmonizes Stomach and Kidney.

ST44 – Clears empty heat, cools Stomach.

CV13 – Strengthens Stomach Yin, relieves epigastric discomfort.

ST34 – Harmonizes Stomach and reduces epigastric pain.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, supports fluid production.
SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, improves fluid transformation.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Phosphorus 30 – dry mouth, burning epigastrium, thirst.
China (Cinchona) 30 – fluid depletion, weakness, poor digestion.
Arsenicum Album 30 – burning stomach, thirst, dry stools.

Mother Tinctures:

Glycyrrhiza MT – nourishes Stomach Yin and fluids.
Rehmannia MT – tonifies Yin, reduces empty-heat.
Ophiopogon MT – moistens Stomach and Lung Yin.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Yin Tonic Drops – nourishes Stomach Yin and moistens middle jiao.
Digestive Fluid Tablets – relieves dryness, improves digestion, reduces burning.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Calc Phos + Nat Phos – nourishes fluids, improves digestion, reduces empty-heat.

Treatment Principles:

Nourish Stomach Yin and middle jiao fluids.
Clear empty-heat caused by Yin deficiency.
Support Spleen and Kidney Yin to maintain fluid balance.
Relieve epigastric burning, dry mouth, and constipation.

Pattern 5: Stomach & Spleen Yin Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic overconsumption of hot, spicy, or greasy foods injuring Stomach and Spleen Yin.
Prolonged illness, fever, or blood loss depleting fluids and Yin.
Excessive mental work, stress, or worry affecting Spleen function and fluid production.
Over-exercise or fasting leading to fluid and Yin depletion.

Pathology:

Yin deficiency in both Stomach and Spleen leads to inadequate fluid production and poor nourishment of the middle jiao.

Relative heat (“empty-heat”) may develop in the epigastrium.

Damaged fluids impair digestion, resulting in dryness, poor appetite, and epigastric discomfort.

Weak Spleen Qi worsens transformation of food and fluid, creating fatigue and dryness in the limbs.

Signs & Symptoms:

Dry mouth, throat, and lips.

Poor appetite, fullness after eating little, bloating.

Mild nausea or acid reflux.

Constipation due to dryness.

Fatigue, weak limbs, pallor.

Low-grade fever or feeling of heat in palms, soles, or chest.

Occasional dizziness or slight anxiety.

Tongue: red, dry, little or no coating, possibly with cracks in the center.

Pulse: thin, weak, rapid or soft.

Loose stools may occur initially but later constipation dominates.

Dry skin, scanty urine.

Mild epigastric burning or discomfort.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and other supportive points):

ST36 – Nourishes Stomach Yin, tonifies middle jiao.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes Stomach and nourishes fluids.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, supports Yin.

SP6 – Nourishes Yin, supports Spleen and fluid metabolism.

CV4 – Tonifies Yin and fluids, harmonizes middle jiao.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens fluid transformation.

SP3 – Strengthens Spleen, improves fluid production.

KD3 – Nourishes Kidney Yin, supports Stomach and Spleen Yin.

KD6 – Nourishes Yin, harmonizes Stomach & Kidney fluids.

ST44 – Clears empty heat in the Stomach.

CV6 – Tonifies middle jiao and fluids.

ST34 – Relieves epigastric discomfort and supports Stomach Yin.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Phosphorus 30 – dryness, epigastric burning, thirst.

China (Cinchona) 30 – weakness, poor digestion, fluid depletion.

Lycopodium 30 – bloating, poor appetite, fatigue.

Mother Tinctures:

Rehmannia MT – tonifies Yin and nourishes fluids.

Glycyrrhiza MT – harmonizes middle jiao and nourishes Yin.

Ophiopogon MT – moistens Stomach and Spleen Yin, reduces dryness.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Yin Tonic Tablets – nourishes Stomach & Spleen Yin, supports middle jiao.

Digestive Fluid Drops – reduces epigastric burning, improves digestion, relieves dryness.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Phos + Calc Phos – nourishes Yin, supports middle jiao, improves digestion and fluid balance.

Treatment Principles:

Nourish Stomach and Spleen Yin.

Clear empty-heat caused by Yin deficiency.

Support fluid metabolism and middle jiao function.

Relieve dryness, fatigue, poor appetite, and epigastric discomfort.

Pattern 6: Stomach Qi Stagnation

Etiology:

Emotional stress, anger, or frustration affecting Stomach function.

Irregular eating habits, overeating, or rapid eating.

Excessive consumption of greasy, spicy, or cold foods impairing Qi movement.

Prolonged worry or mental strain weakening Stomach Qi dynamics.

Pathology:

Stagnant Stomach Qi fails to descend properly, causing epigastric discomfort, bloating, nausea, and belching.

Impaired Stomach Qi may lead to accumulation of food, acid, or heat in the middle jiao.

Stomach stagnation often affects Spleen function, resulting in poor digestion, fatigue, and weak appetite.

Chronic stagnation may generate heat or phlegm if uncorrected.

Signs & Symptoms:

Epigastric distention, fullness, or discomfort, especially after eating.

Nausea, belching, or hiccups.

Sour regurgitation or mild acid reflux.

Poor appetite or feeling of heaviness after meals.

Bloating in the middle jiao.

Occasional constipation or loose stools.

Fatigue or low energy due to impaired digestion.

Tongue: slightly red or normal, thin white coating, may have teeth marks.

Pulse: wiry or tight, reflecting Qi stagnation.

Sensation of discomfort or tension in epigastrium.

Mild irritability or mood changes linked to Qi blockage.

Thirst without desire to drink large amounts.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and other supportive points):

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes middle jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Stomach Qi and promotes digestion.

PC6 – Harmonizes middle jiao, relieves nausea and epigastric tension.

ST34 – Xi-cleft of Stomach, relieves acute epigastric pain.

LR3 – Regulates Liver Qi, supports Stomach Qi movement.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, tonifies and regulates Stomach Qi.

CV6 – Supports middle jiao, moves Qi.

ST21 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi.

SP4 – Luo-connecting point, harmonizes Spleen & Stomach, relieves bloating.

LR14 – Front Mu of Liver, regulates Liver Qi affecting Stomach.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm if stagnation generates dampness.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens middle jiao and aids digestion.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica 30– bloating, nausea, sour regurgitation, indigestion due to irregular eating.

Carbo Vegetabilis 30– heaviness, fullness, poor digestion.

Lycopodium 30– bloating, poor appetite, epigastric discomfort.

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – promotes Stomach Qi movement, relieves stagnation.

Matricaria MT – harmonizes digestion, reduces bloating and epigastric tension.

Glycyrrhiza MT – supports middle jiao, soothes epigastrium.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Qi Drops – relieves bloating, regurgitation, and nausea.

Digestive Harmony Tablets – regulates Stomach Qi and improves digestion.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Phos + Kali Phos + Mag Phos – moves Stomach Qi, reduces bloating, supports middle jiao.

Treatment Principles:

Regulate and descend Stomach Qi.

Relieve epigastric distention and fullness.

Harmonize Liver and Stomach interaction.

Improve appetite and digestion, reduce nausea and bloating.

Pattern 7: Stomach Qi Rebellious

Etiology:

Buy Indian

Emotional stress, worry, or anger affecting the Liver-Stomach relationship.
Irregular eating habits, overeating, or consumption of irritating foods (spicy, greasy, or cold).
Excessive alcohol or caffeine intake irritating Stomach Qi.
Chronic digestive weakness leading to impaired Stomach Qi descent.

Pathology:

Stomach Qi fails to descend, causing upward movement of Qi, resulting in nausea, vomiting, belching, and acid regurgitation.

May generate heat in Stomach if stagnation persists.

Prolonged rebellious Qi may affect Spleen function, reducing digestion and nutrient absorption.

Liver Qi stagnation often contributes to Stomach rebellious Qi by creating counterflow.

Signs & Symptoms:

Nausea, sometimes vomiting after meals.

Belching, sour regurgitation, or acid reflux.

Epigastric fullness, distention, or discomfort.

Loss of appetite or feeling of heaviness.

Hiccups or frequent sighing.

Irritability or mood changes due to Qi stagnation.

Tongue: normal or slightly red on the tip, thin white coating.

Pulse: wiry, tight, or rapid.

Occasional constipation or loose stools.

Mild bloating and abdominal discomfort.

Sensation of rising food or fluid.

Fatigue due to impaired digestion.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes middle jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Stomach Qi and improves digestion.

PC6 – Harmonizes middle jiao, stops nausea and vomiting.

ST21 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi.

ST34 – Xi-cleft, relieves acute epigastric pain.

CV13 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, strengthens middle jiao.

LR3 – Regulates Liver Qi affecting Stomach.

SP4 – Harmonizes Stomach and Spleen, relieves bloating.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm if dampness accumulates.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, supports middle jiao.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, regulates middle jiao.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica 30– nausea, vomiting, sour regurgitation, irritation from irregular eating.

Ipecacuanha 30– persistent nausea, vomiting with weak digestion.

Carbo Vegetabilis 30– bloating, fullness, heaviness, poor appetite.

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – promotes Stomach Qi movement.

Matricaria MT – harmonizes digestion and relieves nausea.

Glycyrrhiza MT – soothes middle jiao, supports Stomach Qi.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Relief Drops – reduces nausea, belching, and acid regurgitation.

Digestive Support Tablets – regulates Stomach Qi, promotes appetite.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Phos + Kali Phos + Mag Phos – reduces epigastric distention, promotes Qi movement, harmonizes middle jiao.

Treatment Principles:

Descend rebellious Stomach Qi.

Relieve nausea, vomiting, and belching.

Harmonize Liver and Stomach Qi.

Strengthen middle jiao to improve digestion and appetite.

Pattern 8: Stomach Heat

Etiology:

Excessive consumption of hot, spicy, greasy, or alcohol-laden foods.

Emotional stress, anger, or frustration leading to Liver Qi affecting the Stomach.

Chronic overeating, irregular meal timing, or exposure to heat.

Internal accumulation of heat due to Yin deficiency, long-standing Qi stagnation, or metabolic imbalances.

Pathology:

Heat accumulates in the Stomach, injuring fluids and causing rebellious Stomach Qi.

Stomach fire rises, leading to thirst, bleeding gums, bad breath, and acid regurgitation.

May generate Yin deficiency over time, worsening dryness and epigastric discomfort.

Often affects the Spleen and Liver, causing digestive imbalance and irritability.

Signs & Symptoms:

Buy Indian

Excessive hunger or voracious appetite.
 Bad breath (halitosis) and desire for cold drinks.
 Thirst with preference for cold fluids.
 Acid reflux, heartburn, or sour regurgitation.
 Epigastric pain or burning sensation.
 Constipation with dry stools.
 Irritability, restlessness, or mood swings.
 Tongue: red body with yellow, dry coating.
 Pulse: rapid, wiry, or full.
 Bleeding gums or oral ulcers in severe cases.
 Nausea or occasional vomiting.
 Feeling of heat in the chest or stomach region.
 Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):
 CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, clears heat and harmonizes middle jiao.
 ST44 – Ying-spring, clears Stomach heat and alleviates pain.
 ST21 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi.
 ST34 – Xi-cleft, relieves acute epigastric pain.
 UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, regulates middle jiao.
 CV13 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi, reduces burning sensation.
 LI11 – Clears heat from the Stomach and body.
 SP6 – Nourishes Yin, clears heat if Yin deficiency is present.
 ST36 – Harmonizes Stomach, strengthens Qi, reduces heat accumulation.
 CV6 – Tonifies Qi, supports middle jiao.
 UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens digestion.
 LR3 – Regulates Liver Qi that may exacerbate Stomach heat.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica 30– irritability, digestive heat, overeating effects.
 Arsenicum Album 30 – burning epigastric pain, vomiting, and restlessness.
 China (Cinchona) Q – digestive upset with thirst and heat sensations.

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – moves Qi and clears Stomach heat.
 Mentha MT – cools Stomach and relieves burning sensation.
 Glycyrrhiza MT – protects Stomach lining and harmonizes digestion.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Fire Relief Tablets – reduce burning, acid reflux, and thirst.
 Digestive Heat Drops – harmonize Stomach Qi, relieve epigastric discomfort.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Phos + Kali Phos + Nat Mur – reduces acidity, clears heat, and harmonizes digestion.

Treatment Principles:

Clear Stomach heat and reduce burning sensations.
 Descend rebellious Stomach Qi to stop vomiting and acid regurgitation.
 Nourish Yin if heat is consuming fluids.
 Strengthen middle jiao to restore normal digestion and appetite.

Pattern 9: Stomach Dampness and Heat

Etiology:

Consumption of greasy, oily, and heavy foods.
 Excessive alcohol or sugar intake.
 Poor digestion due to Spleen deficiency leading to accumulation of Dampness.
 Emotional stress affecting Liver and Spleen, causing Qi stagnation which transforms into Heat.
 Infections or internal accumulation of Damp-Heat in the middle jiao.

Pathology:

Dampness accumulates in the Stomach and Spleen, impeding normal transformation and transportation.
 Heat develops from stagnated Dampness, further injuring fluids and irritating Stomach Qi.
 Rebellious Stomach Qi may rise, causing nausea, vomiting, and acid reflux.
 May affect Spleen's function, leading to loose stools or diarrhea with offensive odor.

Signs & Symptoms:

Epigastric fullness, heaviness, and discomfort.
 Nausea, vomiting, or feeling of sick stomach.
 Acid regurgitation or sour taste in the mouth.
 Thirst without desire to drink much (due to Dampness).
 Poor appetite, sometimes aversion to greasy foods.
 Bloating and abdominal distension.
 Loose stools or diarrhea, often sticky or offensive.
 Feverish sensation or mild body heat.
 Tongue: red body with sticky yellow coating.
 Pulse: slippery, rapid or wiry.
 Fatigue and heaviness in limbs.

SP9 – He-sea of Spleen, resolves Damp.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, regulates middle jiao.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens transformation and transportation.

ST44 – Clears Stomach Heat and relieves burning sensation.

CV11 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi, reduces nausea.

LI11 – Clears Heat, reduces systemic Damp-Heat.

SP6 – Nourishes fluids, supports Spleen, resolves Damp.

ST21 – Regulates Stomach Qi, relieves fullness.

CV13 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi, clears Heat.

GB34 – Moves Liver Qi that may be constraining middle jiao.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica 30– nausea, bloating, digestive upset due to greasy foods.

China (Cinchona) Q – bloating, diarrhea, digestive disturbances with Dampness.

Arsenicum Album 30– burning sensation, thirst, and weak digestion.

Mother Tinctures:

Gentiana MT – moves Stomach Qi, clears Damp-Heat.

Taraxacum MT (Dandelion) – clears Heat, supports Spleen.

Mentha MT – cools Stomach, relieves burning discomfort.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach & Damp-Heat Tablets – relieve epigastric fullness, nausea, and acid reflux.

Digestive Balance Drops – harmonize middle jiao, resolve Dampness and Heat.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Phos + Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Kali Mur – clears acidity, harmonizes digestion, and reduces Damp-Heat.

Treatment Principles:

Clear Damp-Heat from Stomach and Spleen.

Harmonize middle jiao to stop nausea, vomiting, and fullness.

Descend rebellious Stomach Qi.

Strengthen Spleen function to resolve Dampness.

Nourish fluids if heat injures Yin.

Pattern 10: Stomach External Cold

Etiology:

Exposure to cold, damp weather or sudden temperature changes.

Consumption of cold, raw, or iced foods and drinks.

Weak Stomach Yang unable to resist external pathogenic Cold.

Excessive sweating followed by exposure to cold.

Overwork or chronic Spleen Yang deficiency, allowing Cold to invade Stomach.

Pathology:

Cold contracts the Stomach and Spleen channels, impairing digestion.

Stomach Qi becomes constrained and rebellious due to Cold obstruction.

Spleen's transforming and transporting function is weakened, leading to retention of Dampness.

Prolonged Cold can injure Yang, leading to deficiency with accumulation of fluids and stagnation of Qi.

Signs & Symptoms:

Sudden onset of epigastric cold sensation, pain, or cramping.

Nausea, vomiting of clear fluids.

Preference for warmth, aversion to cold.

Feeling of cold in the body or limbs.

Poor appetite, heaviness in the epigastrium.

Belching, sometimes with sour or watery contents.

Tongue: pale with white, slippery coating.

Pulse: deep, tight or slow.

Diarrhea with undigested food (if Spleen Yang is affected).

Fatigue or heaviness due to Yang deficiency.

Stomach feels tight or full after eating cold food.

Occasionally, mild fever if Cold transforms to Damp-Heat.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):

ST36 – tonifies Stomach and Spleen Yang, warms the middle jiao.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes middle jiao and stops pain.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, warms Yang, regulates Stomach Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies Yang, strengthens middle jiao.

ST21 – Moves Stomach Qi, relieves cramping pain.

SP4 – Luo-Connecting point, aids in moving Stomach Qi and alleviating pain.

CV13 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi, stops vomiting.

ST34 – Xi-Cleft of Stomach, used for acute pain or cold cramping.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens Yang and transforms Dampness.

SP9 – Resolves Damp if retention occurs.

DU4 – Strengthens Kidney Yang to support middle jiao.

CV8 (moxa only) – Warms the middle, rescues Yang in severe cold.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Arsenicum Album 30– cold-induced vomiting, diarrhea, burning epigastric pain.

Nux Vomica 30– nausea, bloating, aversion to cold foods.

Coffea Cruda – stomach cramps due to cold, hypersensitive digestion.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber MT (Ginger) – warms Stomach, disperses cold.

Cinnamomum MT (Cinnamon bark) – strengthens Yang, stops cold pain.

Gentiana MT – moves Stomach Qi and relieves fullness.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Warm Tablets – relieve cold-induced epigastric pain and vomiting.

Digestive Yang Drops – strengthen middle jiao, improve digestion, resolve cold obstruction.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Sulph + Kali Sulph + Nat Mur + Kali Mur – resolves Damp-Cold, improves digestion, warms middle jiao.

Treatment Principles:

Expel external Cold and warm the Stomach.

Strengthen Stomach and Spleen Yang to restore digestion.

Descend rebellious Stomach Qi to stop vomiting.

Resolve retained fluids and Dampness if Cold obstructs the middle jiao.

Support overall Yang if deficient.

Pattern 11: Stomach Cold and Qi Rebellious

Etiology:

Ingestion of excessive cold, raw, or iced foods.

Exposure to cold environments, especially after meals.

Weak Stomach Yang or Spleen Yang failing to protect against Cold invasion.

Overwork or chronic illness leading to deficiency of middle jiao Yang.

Pathology:

Cold contracts the Stomach channel, causing obstruction of Qi flow.

Stomach Qi rebels upward, leading to nausea, vomiting, and belching.

Spleen's transporting and transforming function is impaired, leading to retention of fluids and Dampness.

If prolonged, may further injure Yang, causing fatigue and cold extremities.

Signs & Symptoms:

Epigastric cold sensation and distention.

Nausea, vomiting of clear fluids, belching.

Preference for warmth, aversion to cold.

Poor appetite, heaviness after meals.

Occasional abdominal cramping.

Tongue: pale, moist, with white slippery coating.

Pulse: deep, slow, tight or weak.

Diarrhea with undigested food may occur in severe cases.

Fatigue or cold limbs if Yang is deficient.

Fullness or discomfort in the epigastrium.

Stomach feels tight or bloated after eating cold food.

Mild general malaise or chills in some cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):

ST36 – tonifies Stomach and Spleen Yang, warms middle jiao.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes Stomach Qi, stops pain.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, warms Yang and regulates Stomach Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies Yang, strengthens middle jiao.

ST21 – Moves Stomach Qi, alleviates cramping and distention.

SP4 – Luo-Connecting point, regulates Stomach Qi and alleviates nausea.

CV13 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi to stop vomiting.

ST34 – Xi-Cleft point for acute cold-induced epigastric pain.

UB20 – Back Shu of Spleen, strengthens Yang and transforms retained Dampness.

SP9 – Resolves Damp if present due to Cold obstruction.

DU4 – Strengthens Kidney Yang to support middle jiao.

CV8 (moxa) – Warms middle jiao, rescues Yang in severe cold cases.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Nux Vomica 30– nausea, vomiting, bloating, cold-induced digestion issues.

Arsenicum Album 30– vomiting, watery diarrhea, cold stomach symptoms.

Coffea Cruda 30– cramping and hypersensitive stomach from cold foods.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber MT (Ginger) – warms Stomach and disperses Cold.

Cinnamomum MT (Cinnamon bark) – strengthens Yang, alleviates cold pain.

Gentiana MT – moves Stomach Qi and relieves fullness.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Stomach Warm Tablets – relieve cold-induced epigastric discomfort.

Digestive Yang Drops – strengthen middle jiao, warm Stomach, improve digestion.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Sulph + Kali Sulph + Nat Mur + Kali Mur – resolves Cold-Damp obstruction, strengthens digestion, and warms middle jiao.

Treatment Principles:

Expel Cold and warm the Stomach.

Descend rebellious Stomach Qi to stop vomiting and belching.

Strengthen Stomach and Spleen Yang.

Resolve retained fluids or Dampness caused by Cold obstruction.

Support overall middle jiao function and prevent recurrence.

Pattern 12: Stomach Blood Stasis

Etiology:

Chronic Stomach Qi stagnation leading to impaired circulation of Blood.

Traumatic injury or surgery affecting the epigastric region.

Cold invasion causing constriction of Stomach vessels.

Emotional stress, anger, or worry impairing Liver Qi and indirectly affecting Stomach Blood circulation.

Long-term poor diet or irregular eating habits weakening Stomach and Spleen functions.

Pathology:

Blood stagnates in the Stomach due to obstruction or deficient Qi failing to move Blood.

Rebellious Stomach Qi may push Blood upward causing vomiting of dark blood or hematemesis.

Stagnation may generate heat if prolonged, leading to pain and irritation.

Chronic stasis weakens the Stomach wall, possibly causing ulcers or erosion.

Signs & Symptoms:

Sharp, stabbing epigastric pain, worse at night.

Vomiting dark blood (hematemesis) or blood-streaked vomit.

Epigastric fullness, distention, or tenderness.

Preference for warmth and aversion to pressure over the stomach.

Nausea and occasional hiccups.

Tongue: dark purple or purplish spots, possibly with a dark or thick coating.

Pulse: choppy, wiry, or deep.

Poor appetite, belching, or nausea after meals.

Mild nausea or dizziness due to impaired blood flow.

Feeling of heaviness in the epigastrium.

Cold hands and feet if Yang is weak.

Occasional restlessness due to stagnant Blood and discomfort.

Acupuncture Points (≥12 points including Back Shu, Front Mu, and supportive points):

ST36 – Tonifies Stomach and moves Blood.

CV12 – Front Mu of Stomach, harmonizes Stomach Qi, promotes circulation of Blood.

UB21 – Back Shu of Stomach, moves Stomach Blood, relieves epigastric pain.

CV6 – Strengthens Qi to move Blood.

ST21 – Moves Stomach Qi and alleviates pain.

SP10 – Moves Blood and relieves stagnation.

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, regulates and moves Blood stagnation.

PC6 – Harmonizes middle jiao and relieves nausea.

ST34 – Xi-Cleft point for acute epigastric pain and Blood stasis.

CV13 – Descends rebellious Stomach Qi and regulates epigastric blood flow.

LR3 – Moves Liver Qi to relieve Stomach Qi obstruction and secondary Blood stagnation.

DU20 – Raises Yang, supports circulation and prevents chronic stasis.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Arnica Montana 30– trauma-induced Stomach Blood stasis, pain, bruising.

Crotalus Horridus 30– sharp epigastric pain with hematemesis.

Ipecacuanha 30– nausea with vomiting of dark or clotted blood.

Mother Tinctures:

Calendula MT – promotes blood circulation, prevents stagnation.

Hamamelis MT – tonifies vascular walls and supports circulation.

Cinnamomum MT – warms Stomach and moves stagnant Blood.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Gastric Blood Tablets – relieve Stomach blood stagnation and improve circulation.

Stomach Circulation Drops – move stagnant blood and harmonize Stomach Qi.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos + Nat Phos – supports blood circulation, resolves Stomach stasis, improves digestion.

Treatment Principles:

Move stagnant Blood in the Stomach.

Buy Indian

Harmonize Stomach Qi to facilitate blood flow.
Stop vomiting and epigastric pain.
Warm and tonify middle jiao if Cold is involved.
Prevent chronic stagnation and secondary Heat formation.

Pattern 1: Heart Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic overwork, stress, or emotional strain weakening Heart Qi.

Aging leading to diminished Qi.

Chronic illness causing depletion of Heart Qi.

Poor diet or lack of rest.

Pathology:

Inability of Heart to circulate Blood efficiently.

Palpitations and fatigue due to weak Heart Qi.

Impaired mental function if Heart Qi fails to nourish Shen.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, shortness of breath on exertion.

Fatigue, spontaneous sweating.

Slight depression or anxiety.

Pale face, tongue pale or slightly red.

Weak or empty pulse.

Poor memory and concentration.

Occasional dizziness.

Sleep disturbances.

Cold hands.

Restless or anxious feeling.

Easily startled.

Mild chest discomfort or fullness.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT5 – Tonifies Heart Qi, calms Shen.

PC6 – Opens chest, regulates Heart Qi, calms mind.

UB15 – Back Shu of Heart, tonifies Heart Qi & Blood.

CV17 – Front Mu of Heart, regulates Qi and circulation.

CV6 – Tonifies general Qi.

DU14 – Tonifies Heart Yang and Qi.

ST36 – Supports Qi in general.

SP6 – Nourishes Blood, helps Heart Qi.

HT7 – Calms Shen and nourishes Heart.

UB20 – Supports Spleen Qi to generate Blood.

CV4 – Tonifies Blood and Yin.

DU20 – Raises Yang, supports circulation.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Crataegus Oxyacantha 30 – strengthens Heart function, fatigue.

Coffea Cruda 30 – palpitations, anxiety, insomnia.

Gelsemium 30 – fatigue, weakness, and low Heart Qi.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – strengthens circulation and Heart.

Viscum Album MT – supports Heart Qi and Blood.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardio-Heel Tablets – for Heart Qi and Blood support.

Heart Tonic Drops – reduces palpitations and supports Qi.

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum Phos + Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Kali Phos – strengthens Heart function, nourishes Blood, calms Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Heart Qi.

Nourish Heart Blood.

Calm Shen.

Strengthen general Qi to support Heart function.

Pattern 2: Heart Yang Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic overwork, aging, or prolonged illness weakening Heart Yang.

Congenital deficiency of Yang.

Chronic Spleen or Kidney Yang deficiency affecting Heart Yang.

Emotional stress or prolonged fear depleting Heart Yang.

Pathology:

Heart Yang is unable to warm and circulate Blood efficiently.

Circulatory insufficiency leads to cold extremities, palpitations, and fatigue.

Buy Indian

Shen becomes restless due to inadequate Yang support.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, especially on exertion.

Shortness of breath, fatigue, lack of motivation.

Spontaneous sweating, cold hands and feet.

Pale or bluish lips.

Chest discomfort or mild pain.

Tongue: pale, swollen, slightly moist.

Pulse: deep, weak, or slow.

Dizziness, poor memory.

Easily startled.

Mental fatigue, depression.

Weak voice.

Occasional edema in extremities.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT5 – Tonifies Heart Yang, regulates Qi.

PC6 – Opens chest, supports Heart Yang.

UB15 – Back Shu of Heart, tonifies Heart Yang.

CV17 – Front Mu of Heart, regulates circulation.

CV6 – Tonifies general Yang and Qi.

DU14 – Tonifies Yang, supports Heart.

ST36 – Strengthens general Qi and Yang.

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, supports Yang.

KD3 – Strengthens Kidney, indirectly supporting Heart Yang.

UB52 – Kidney Yang support.

CV4 – Tonifies Heart and Kidney Yang.

DU4 – Strongly tonifies Kidney and Heart Yang.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Crataegus Oxyacantha 30– improves cardiac output and circulation.

Coffea Cruda 30– fatigue with palpitations.

Gelsemium 30– shortness of breath and weakness.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – supports Heart Yang and circulation.

Viscum Album MT – strengthens Heart function.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardio-Heel Tablets – strengthens Heart Yang and circulation.

Heart Tonic Drops – reduces palpitations and fatigue.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Ferrum Phos + Nat Mur + Kali Mur – tonifies Heart Yang, supports Blood circulation, calms Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Heart Yang.

Support Kidney Yang to nourish Heart.

Strengthen general Qi.

Calm Shen and relieve palpitations.

Pattern 3: Heart Qi Sinking

Etiology:

Chronic overwork or emotional strain leading to depletion of Heart Qi.

Long-term illness weakening Heart Qi.

Spleen Qi deficiency failing to produce adequate Blood and Qi to support Heart.

Aging or congenital deficiency of Qi.

Pathology:

Heart Qi lacks the strength to maintain its normal position and function.

Insufficient Qi leads to poor circulation of Blood and Shen disturbances.

Qi sinking can lead to palpitations, shortness of breath, and general collapse of function.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, worse on exertion.

Shortness of breath, especially on activity.

Fatigue, weakness, and lack of motivation.

Cold extremities.

Spontaneous sweating.

Slight depression, apathy, or anxiety.

Poor memory or concentration.

Dizziness or lightheadedness.

Pale face and lips.

Tendency to faint on exertion (severe cases).

Chest discomfort.

Tongue: pale, slightly swollen.

Pulse: weak, deep, and thready.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

CV6 – Tonifies general Qi and supports sinking Qi.

CV17 – Front Mu of Heart, regulates circulation and lifts Qi.

HT5 – Tonifies Heart Qi and calms Shen.

PC6 – Opens chest, supports Heart Qi.

UB15 – Back Shu of Heart, strengthens Heart Qi.

DU14 – Tonifies Yang and supports circulation.

ST36 – Strengthens general Qi.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, supports production of Qi and Blood.

CV4 – Tonifies Qi and reinforces sinking Qi.

DU4 – Tonifies Kidney Yang to indirectly support Heart Qi.

KD3 – Supports Kidney, indirectly assisting Heart Yang.

Ren 8 / moxa – For severe Qi sinking and collapse (optional).

Homeopathy Medicines:

Coffea Cruda 30– Fatigue with palpitations, anxiety.

Gelsemium 30– Weakness, exhaustion, shortness of breath.

Crataegus Oxyacantha – Heart weakness and circulation support.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Supports Heart Qi and circulation.

Viscum Album MT – Tonifies Heart and strengthens circulation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardio-Heel Tablets – Strengthens Heart Qi and circulation.

Heart Tonic Drops – Reduces palpitations and fatigue.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos + Kali Mur – Tonifies Heart Qi, supports circulation, calms Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Heart Qi to lift the sinking Qi.

Strengthen Spleen Qi to support Heart.

Support Kidney Yang if deficient to reinforce circulation.

Calm Shen and relieve palpitations.

Pattern 4: Heart Blood Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic illness or prolonged blood loss (e.g., heavy menstruation, gastrointestinal bleeding).

Spleen Qi deficiency failing to produce adequate Blood.

Emotional stress or overwork depleting Heart Blood.

Aging or congenital Blood deficiency.

Pathology:

Insufficient Blood to nourish the Heart leads to impaired Shen (mind/spirit) and palpitations.

Heart Blood deficiency causes poor circulation and inability to properly support the Yin and Yang of the Heart.

Shen is affected, resulting in insomnia, anxiety, and poor memory.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, often mild and intermittent.

Insomnia, difficulty falling asleep or waking frequently.

Poor memory, concentration problems.

Dizziness, vertigo.

Anxiety or mild depression.

Fatigue and weakness.

Pale complexion and lips.

Pale and thin tongue.

Pulse: thready, weak.

Possibly dry skin or brittle nails (from long-term Blood deficiency).

Occasional breathlessness on exertion.

Mild chest discomfort or tightness.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT7 – Tonifies Heart Blood, calms Shen.

PC6 – Opens chest, regulates Heart Qi, calms Shen.

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, nourishes Heart Blood.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, supports Blood production.

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, strengthens Heart Blood.

CV14 – Front Mu of Heart, nourishes Heart.

CV15 – Calms Shen, nourishes Heart Blood.

CV4 – Tonifies general Blood and Yin.

SP6 – Tonifies Blood, supports Heart.

ST36 – Tonifies Qi and Blood.

UB43 – Tonifies Lung and Heart, supports Yin and Blood.

DU20 – Lifts Yang and nourishes the Shen (optional in severe deficiency).

Homeopathy Medicines:

Ferrum Metallicum 30– Fatigue, palpitations, pallor.

Natrum Mur 30– Anxiety, insomnia, poor memory.

Coffea Cruda 30– Heart palpitations, restlessness, overactive mind.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Strengthens Heart and circulation.

Viscum Album MT – Tonifies Heart, nourishes Blood.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardio-Heel Tablets – Improves circulation and nourishes Heart Blood.

Heart Tonic Drops – Reduces palpitations and anxiety.

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum Phos + Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Kali Phos – Nourishes Blood, supports Heart, calms Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Nourish and tonify Heart Blood.

Support Spleen Qi for Blood production.

Calm Shen and relieve anxiety or insomnia.

Regulate circulation to reduce palpitations and fatigue.

Pattern 5: Heart Yin Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic illness or prolonged stress depleting Yin.

Excessive mental activity, worry, or overwork.

Late-stage febrile diseases consuming Yin fluids.

Age-related decline in Yin.

Pathology:

Deficiency of Heart Yin fails to cool and nourish the Heart, leading to relative hyperactivity of Heart Yang.

Blood may be insufficient to anchor Shen, causing restlessness, insomnia, and anxiety.

Yin deficiency can generate internal Heat, giving rise to malar flush, night sweats, and a red tongue.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, often with restlessness or anxiety.

Insomnia, difficulty falling asleep, frequent waking, or dreams.

Dry mouth and throat, especially at night.

Malar flush, feeling of heat in the afternoon/evening.

Low-grade fever or feeling warm at night.

Poor memory and concentration.

Anxiety, irritability, or emotional instability.

Tongue: red without coating or with scanty coating.

Pulse: rapid, thin (thready).

Possible night sweats.

Dry skin, lips, and hair.

Occasional dizziness or lightheadedness.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT7 – Nourishes Heart Yin, calms Shen.

PC6 – Calms Shen, opens chest, regulates Heart Qi.

HT6 – Xi-Cleft of Heart, clears deficiency heat.

KD3 – Nourishes Kidney Yin to support Heart Yin.

KD6 – Nourishes Yin, benefits Heart Yin indirectly.

CV4 – Tonifies Yin, nourishes Blood.

CV14 – Front Mu of Heart, calms Shen.

CV15 – Nourishes Heart Yin, calms Shen.

SP6 – Tonifies Blood and Yin, supports Heart.

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, nourishes Heart Yin.

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, supports Yin.

UB43 – Tonifies Yin, nourishes Heart and Lung Yin.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Coffea Cruda 30– Anxiety, palpitations, overactive mind.

Arsenicum Album 30 – Restlessness, anxiety, night sweats.

Phosphorus 30– Palpitations, emotional sensitivity, insomnia.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Supports Heart function, tonifies Blood.

Viscum Album MT – Nourishes Heart and calming Shen.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Heart Tonic Drops – Reduces palpitations, supports Heart Yin.

Nervoheel Tablets – Calms anxiety and insomnia.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Ferrum Phos + Nat Mur + Calc Phos – Nourishes Heart Yin and Blood, calms Shen.

Treatment Principles:

Nourish Heart Yin.

Buy Indian

Anchor Shen and calm the mind.
Clear deficiency Heat if present.
Support Kidney Yin to consolidate Heart Yin.

Pattern 6: Heart Qi Stagnation

Etiology:

Emotional stress, worry, or depression causing stagnation of Heart Qi.

Chronic anxiety or frustration.

Overwork and prolonged mental activity.

Trauma or shock affecting Heart function.

Pathology:

Heart Qi fails to move freely, leading to stagnation.

Stagnant Heart Qi may impair circulation of Blood and disturb Shen.

Can lead to palpitations, chest tightness, or mild angina-like discomfort.

If prolonged, may generate Heat or lead to Blood stasis.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations with intermittent discomfort.

Feeling of oppression or tightness in the chest.

Anxiety, restlessness, or easily startled.

Shortness of breath on exertion.

Poor memory or concentration.

Slight cyanosis of lips or face in severe stagnation.

Mild dizziness or lightheadedness.

Tongue: normal or slightly pale-red, sometimes with thin coating.

Pulse: wiry or choppy, sometimes uneven.

Emotional irritability or mood swings.

Fatigue, especially after mental stress.

Mild depression or feeling of heaviness in the chest.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT5 – Opens Heart channel, moves Heart Qi.

PC6 – Moves Heart and chest Qi, calms Shen.

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, regulates Heart Qi.

CV17 – Front Mu of Heart, moves chest Qi.

CV6 – Tonifies Qi, supports Heart Qi movement.

DU14 – Tonifies Yang, moves Qi in upper body.

LU7 – Assists in moving chest Qi and opens Lung-Qi.

ST36 – Tonifies Qi overall, supports circulation.

SP6 – Harmonizes Qi and Blood, supports Heart function.

CV12 – Regulates middle Qi, indirectly supporting Heart.

UB13 – Lung Back Shu, moves Qi in chest.

HT7 – Calms Shen, alleviates emotional stress.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Ignatia Amara 200– Palpitations and anxiety after emotional shock.

Gelsemium 30– Nervousness, chest tightness, anticipatory anxiety.

Coffea Cruda 30– Overactive mind, restlessness, palpitations.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Supports Heart function, improves circulation.

Viscum Album MT – Calms the mind, regulates Heart rhythm.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardiotone Drops – Supports Heart Qi and circulation.

Nervoheel Tablets – Alleviates palpitations, calms emotional unrest.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos + Calc Phos – Tonifies Qi, nourishes Blood, regulates emotional balance.

Treatment Principles:

Move and regulate Heart Qi.

Calm Shen and relieve emotional stagnation.

Tonify Qi if deficiency is present.

Harmonize Heart and Lung Qi for chest comfort.

Pattern 7: Heart Fire:

PATTERN: HEART FIRE BLAZING (Xin Huo Sheng)

(Full Expanded Clinical Format — same structure as your sample)

A. CORE CONCEPT (Simple Text)

Heart Yang / Heart Fire =

Buy Indian

The warm, active, dynamic aspect of Heart Qi.

Supports Shen, Blood circulation, mental clarity, speech, and tongue.

When Heart Fire becomes excessive:

The Shen becomes restless → anxiety, insomnia.

The Heat rises upward → mouth/tongue ulcers, red face.

Fluids dry up → dryness, thirst.

Heat transfers to Small Intestine → dark, burning urine.

This is a full-heat pattern, not deficiency.

B. ETIOLOGY (Causes)

1. Emotional Stress

Long-term anxiety, anger, over-excitement, stressful lifestyle.

Irritation and frustration easily transform into Heart Fire.

Students, office workers, people under pressure—common.

2. Hot & Spicy Diet

Buy Indian

Excess chilli, fried food, chicken items, alcohol, smoking, coffee, tea.

These foods heat the Yang and cause Fire to rise.

3. Chronic Yin Deficiency

Long-standing Heart Yin Deficiency → Fire escapes upward.

Seen in night workers, dehydrated people, those who overwork.

4. Febrile Illness

Long fevers may burn fluids → internal heat settling in Heart.

5. Heat Pathogen

External Heat entering the Qi level may lodge in Heart in weak individuals.

6. Genetic / Constitutional Tendency

People born with easily excitable mind or hyperactive heart-mind system.

C. PATHOLOGY (Mechanism)

Excess Fire agitates the Heart

Mind becomes restless → irritability, anxiety, insomnia.

Fire rises upward

Affects tongue and mouth → ulcers, burning pain, red tongue tip.

Fire dries the fluids

Causes dry mouth, thirst for cold water.

Heart–Small Intestine connection

Heat transfers downward → dark, scanty, burning urine.

Heat disturbs Shen

Emotional instability, overthinking, hyperactivity.

Blood circulation accelerates

Rapid pulse, palpitations.

D. SYMPTOMS (Clinical Picture)

1. Main TCM Symptoms

Mouth ulcers, tongue ulcers (red, burning).

Severe irritability.

Mental restlessness.

Insomnia / dream-disturbed sleep.

Buy Indian

Red face, heat sensation.

Thirst, desire for cold drinks.

Palpitations.

Bitter taste in mouth.

2. Heart Fire Transmitting to SI

Dark yellow urine.

Burning pain on urination.

Possible blood in urine (mild hematuria).

3. Additional Symptoms

Rapid speech, talking fast.

Feeling hot at night.

Anxiety with heat sensation in chest.

Tongue

Very red tip with red points.

Yellow dry coat.

Pulse

Rapid, Full, Overflowing, especially left front.

E. Modern Medical Correlation

(Not exact, only parallels)

Recurrent stomatitis (mouth ulcers)

Stress-induced insomnia/anxiety

Psychosomatic palpitations

Hyperthyroid-type heat feelings (without disease)

Urinary burning due to dehydration/heat

Warning signs requiring medical care:

Severe burning urine with fever

Buy Indian

Continuous chest pain

High fever with delirium

Severe palpitations

F. TCM TREATMENT PRINCIPLES

Clear Heart Heat

Drain Heart Fire downward to SI

Calm the Shen

Cool the Blood

Restore fluids

Avoid hot foods & emotional stimulation

G. ACUPUNCTURE TREATMENT

(As detailed as your Lung Yang Deficiency format, 12+ points)

1. Main Core Points

1. HT8 (Shaofu)

Principal point to clear Heart Fire.

Reduces irritability and tongue ulcers.

2. HT9 (Shaochong)

Clears acute heat from Heart channel.

Good for tongue pain + fever sensation.

3. HT7 (Shenmen)

Calms Shen, reduces agitation.

Treats insomnia and palpitations.

4. PC7 (Daling)

Excellent for anxiety, restlessness.

Clears internal heat.

5. PC6 (Neiguan)

Opens chest, calms mind, relieves palpitations.

6. SI2 (Qianggu)

Drains Heart Fire to the urinary pathway.

For burning/dark urine.

7. SI5 (Yanggu)

Regulates Heart–SI pathway.

Clears upper-body heat.

8. LI11 (Quchi)

Strong heat-clearing point.

Supports lowering of internal fire.

9. DU24 (Shenting)

Calms Shen, improves sleep.

10. DU19 (Houding)

Relaxes mental tension.

11. Ren14 (Juque)

Front-Mu of Heart.

Clears heat, stabilizes Shen.

12. Ren15 (Jiuwei)

Influences Shen directly.

Good for emotional agitation.

13. SP6

Nourishes Yin to prevent Fire rising excessively.

14. KD6

Nourishes Yin, moistens dryness.

15. BL15

Back-Shu of Heart.

Reduces Fire, balances Shen.

Acupuncture: HT8, HT9, PC7, SI2, LI11, DU24

Homeopathy: Argentum Nitricum / Belladonna

Bio salts: BC-12 + BC-28

Mother Tincture: Passiflora

Lifestyle: Avoid spicy food, alcohol, smoking.

Pattern 8: Heart Phlegm

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency leading to phlegm accumulation.

Emotional stress, prolonged worry or overthinking.

Diet high in greasy, sweet, or cold foods impairing Spleen function.

Phlegm accumulation obstructs Heart orifices, disturbing Shen.

Pathology:

Phlegm obstructs the Heart channels and orifices, impairing circulation of Heart Qi and Blood.

Shen (mind/spirit) becomes disturbed, leading to mental and emotional symptoms.

Phlegm may combine with Heat (Phlegm-Heat), aggravating agitation, restlessness, or manic behaviors.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations with irregular heartbeat or arrhythmia.

Mental confusion, poor concentration, or foggy thinking.

Depression, sudden fear, or anxiety.

Chest oppression, heaviness, or tightness.

Phlegm in the throat (feeling of something stuck, rattling sound).

Dizziness or vertigo.

Tongue: swollen, pale or red with sticky coating.

Pulse: slippery, sometimes wiry.

Sleep disturbances with dream-disturbed sleep.

Emotional instability, sudden outbursts, or indecisiveness.

Possible digestive symptoms: nausea, poor appetite, bloating.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT7 – Calms Shen, regulates Heart Qi.

PC6 – Opens chest, moves Heart Qi, clears phlegm.

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, regulates Heart, calms mind.

CV17 – Front Mu of Pericardium, opens chest, resolves phlegm.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm and dampness.

SP6 – Nourishes Yin, supports Spleen to transform phlegm.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, strengthens Spleen to resolve phlegm.

CV12 – Harmonizes middle burner, resolves phlegm.

LU7 – Opens chest, assists phlegm transformation.

DU20 – Lifts clear Yang, calms mind.

GB13 – Calms Shen, relieves mental confusion.

Yintang – Settles mind, relieves anxiety and agitation.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Baryta Carb 30– Mental dullness, poor memory, anxiety, palpitations.

Lycopodium 30 – Anxiety, digestive weakness, palpitations.

Cocculus 30– Dizziness, vertigo, poor concentration.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Supports Heart function, strengthens circulation.

Viscum Album MT – Calms mind, reduces palpitations.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardiotone Drops – Supports Heart, relieves palpitations.

Nervoheel Tablets – Calms nervous system, improves mental clarity.

Bio-combination Salts:

Calc Phos + Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos – Strengthens Heart, resolves phlegm, regulates Blood.

Treatment Principles:

Resolve phlegm and dampness obstructing Heart.

Calm Shen and relieve mental confusion or agitation.

Strengthen Spleen and transform phlegm.

Harmonize Heart Qi and Blood to regulate circulation.

Pattern 9: Heart Phlegm-Fire

Etiology:

Chronic emotional stress, anger, or frustration leading to Liver Qi stagnation and subsequent Fire generation.

Spleen deficiency causing phlegm accumulation.

Improper diet: excessive greasy, sweet, or spicy foods impairing Spleen and generating phlegm-heat.

Long-standing Heart Yin deficiency, allowing Fire to accumulate.

Pathology:

Phlegm obstructs Heart orifices while Fire agitates Shen, causing mental and emotional disturbances.

Combination of phlegm and heat leads to irritability, insomnia, palpitations, and possibly mania.

Phlegm-Fire may disturb circulation of Heart Qi and Blood, causing arrhythmias or chest oppression.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, possibly rapid or irregular heartbeat.

Anxiety, agitation, restlessness, emotional outbursts.

Insomnia, vivid or disturbing dreams.

Confusion, poor concentration, or erratic thought patterns.

Bitter taste in mouth, nausea, possible vomiting of phlegm.

Heaviness in the chest or head.

Tongue: red tip, swollen, sticky yellow coating.

Pulse: slippery, rapid, wiry.

Possible tinnitus or dizziness.

Heat sensations in chest or palms.

Irritability, impulsiveness, manic behavior.
Digestive disturbance: bloating, acid reflux, poor appetite.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT8 – Clears Heart Fire, calms Shen.

HT7 – Calms Shen, regulates Heart.

PC7 – Clears Phlegm-Heat, harmonizes Heart.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm, clears phlegm-heat.

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, regulates Heart, calms mind.

CV17 – Opens chest, relieves phlegm obstruction.

SP6 – Supports Spleen, transforms phlegm, nourishes Yin.

UB20 – Strengthens Spleen to resolve phlegm.

DU24 – Clears mind, calms Shen.

GB13 – Calms spirit, reduces agitation.

Yintang – Relieves restlessness, calms mind.

LI11 – Clears Heat, especially from upper body.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Belladonna 30– Sudden palpitations, restlessness, heat sensations, agitation.

Nux Vomica 30– Irritability, insomnia, digestive upset.

Stramonium 200– Agitation, fear, erratic mental state, vivid dreams.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Supports Heart, improves circulation, calms palpitations.

Viscum Album MT – Reduces nervous tension, stabilizes heart rhythm.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardiotone Drops – Regulates Heart rhythm, calms palpitations.

Nervoheel Tablets – Reduces anxiety, agitation, and mental confusion.

Bio-combination Salts:

Calc Phos + Kali Mur + Ferrum Phos + Nat Mur – Strengthens Heart, resolves phlegm, clears Fire, and balances Blood.

Treatment Principles:

Clear Phlegm and Fire obstructing Heart orifices.

Calm Shen and relieve mental agitation.

Strengthen Spleen to resolve phlegm and dampness.

Harmonize Heart Qi and Blood, regulate circulation.

Pattern 10: Heart Phlegm and Blood Stasis

Etiology:

Chronic emotional stress, anger, or depression leading to Liver Qi stagnation and subsequent Blood stasis.

Phlegm accumulation from Spleen deficiency obstructs the Heart vessels.

Poor circulation due to sedentary lifestyle, long-term illness, or improper diet (greasy, sweet foods) leading to phlegm and blood stasis.

Previous Heart Qi or Yang deficiency failing to move blood and fluids.

Pathology:

Phlegm obstructs Heart vessels and orifices, while Blood stasis impairs circulation.

Disturbs Shen, leading to anxiety, palpitations, and sleep disturbances.

Obstruction in Heart vessels can contribute to chest oppression, angina-like symptoms, or irregular heartbeat.

Chronic phlegm and stasis may cause dizziness, poor memory, and mental cloudiness.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, irregular heartbeat, or skipped beats.

Chest oppression or tightness.

Anxiety, restlessness, or sudden mood changes.

Insomnia, poor sleep quality, or vivid dreams.

Dizziness or vertigo, often worse with movement.

Tongue: dark or purplish with sticky coating, possibly swollen.

Pulse: choppy, wiry, or slippery.

Heaviness in chest or head.

Cold hands or feet due to impaired circulation.

Shortness of breath on exertion.

Mental cloudiness, poor concentration, forgetfulness.

Digestive disturbances: nausea, poor appetite, or bloating.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

HT7 – Calms Shen, regulates Heart.

PC6 – Opens chest, harmonizes Heart Qi.

ST40 – Resolves phlegm, clears obstruction.

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, regulates Heart and calms mind.

CV17 – Opens chest, moves Heart Qi and Blood.

SP10 – Invigorates Blood, resolves stasis.

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, moves stasis.

KD3 – Nourishes Yin, supports Heart-Blood circulation.

SP6 – Strengthens Spleen, resolves phlegm.
LI11 – Clears Heat, assists Blood circulation.
DU24 – Calms Shen, reduces agitation.
Yintang – Relieves restlessness, clears mental fog.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Crataegus 30– Supports Heart function, improves circulation.
Cactus Grandiflorus 30– Angina-like symptoms, palpitations, chest oppression.
Baryta Mur 30– Poor circulation, mental dullness, cardiovascular weakness.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Improves Heart function, calms palpitations.
Viscum Album MT – Reduces vascular obstruction, supports circulation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardiotone Drops – Supports Heart rhythm, circulation.
Nervoheel Tablets – Reduces anxiety, agitation, and mental cloudiness.

Bio-combination Salts:

Calc Phos + Ferrum Phos + Kali Mur + Nat Mur – Invigorates Blood, resolves phlegm, improves circulation, and strengthens Heart function.

Treatment Principles:

Remove phlegm obstruction from Heart vessels.
Invigorate Blood to resolve stasis.
Calm Shen, relieve anxiety, and improve sleep.
Support Spleen to prevent further phlegm accumulation.
Regulate Heart Qi and Blood circulation.

Pattern 11: Heart Blood Stasis

Etiology:

Long-standing emotional stress, anger, fear, or trauma impairing Heart Qi circulation.
Chronic Heart Qi or Yang deficiency leading to stagnation of Blood.
Excess Cold, Heat, or Phlegm obstructing the Heart vessels.
Poor lifestyle: sedentary habits, irregular diet, or long-term illness.
Previous Heart attacks or cardiovascular injury causing Blood stagnation.

Pathology:

Blood stasis obstructs the Heart vessels, leading to impaired circulation and disturbance of Shen.

Qi is unable to move Blood efficiently, aggravating stasis.

Chronic obstruction causes chest oppression, palpitations, and may generate secondary Heat or Phlegm.

Mental and emotional disturbances occur due to insufficient Blood nourishing the Heart.

Signs & Symptoms:

Palpitations, irregular heartbeat, skipped beats.
Severe chest pain or tightness, sometimes radiating to shoulder, arm, or jaw.
Cyanosis or purple lips and tongue.
Cold extremities due to impaired circulation.
Anxiety, restlessness, or insomnia.
Dizziness or vertigo.

Dark or purplish tongue, sometimes with petechiae or ecchymosis.

Pulse: choppy, wiry, or knotted.

Shortness of breath on exertion.

Fatigue due to poor circulation.

Possible signs of angina or cardiac insufficiency.

Cold sweating during acute stasis episodes.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

UB15 – Heart Back Shu, regulates Heart Blood.

HT7 – Calms Shen, nourishes Heart Blood.

PC6 – Opens chest, moves Heart Qi and Blood.

SP10 – Invigorates Blood, resolves stasis.

UB17 – Influential point of Blood, clears stagnation.

ST36 – Tonifies Qi to move Blood.

CV17 – Opens chest, regulates circulation.

KD3 – Supports Yin and Blood, nourishes Heart.

LI11 – Clears Heat that may accompany stasis.

DU14 – Tonifies Yang, assists Blood movement.

PC4 – Xi-Cleft point of Pericardium, relieves Blood stasis in chest.

Yintang – Calms Shen, reduces anxiety and restlessness.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Crataegus 30– Improves circulation, strengthens Heart.
Cactus Grandiflorus 30– Chest tightness, angina-like symptoms.
Arnica Montana 30– Trauma-induced stasis, improves circulation.

Mother Tinctures:

Crataegus MT – Supports Heart and Blood flow.

Viscum Album MT – Relieves vascular obstruction, improves circulation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Cardiotone Drops – Strengthens Heart, improves rhythm.

Nervoheel Tablets – Relieves anxiety, restlessness, and insomnia.

Bio-combination Salts:

Ferrum Phos + Calc Phos + Kali Mur + Nat Mur – Invigorates Blood, improves circulation, reduces stasis, and strengthens Heart function.

Treatment Principles:

Invigorate Blood and remove stasis in Heart vessels.

Tonify Heart Qi and Yang to facilitate circulation.

Calm Shen and relieve anxiety, restlessness, and insomnia.

Support Spleen and Kidney to prevent secondary phlegm or stasis.

Regulate Qi and Blood harmoniously in the Heart.

Pattern 1: Small Intestine Yang Deficiency & Cold

Etiology:

Chronic Spleen or Kidney Yang deficiency leading to impaired Small Intestine function.

Excess raw, cold foods or prolonged exposure to cold environments.

Long-term weakness from chronic illness or overwork.

Age-related decline of Yang energy affecting digestive and urinary functions.

Pathology:

Small Intestine Yang deficiency fails to warm and transform fluids, leading to accumulation of cold and damp.

Impaired separation of clear and turbid fluids.

Cold stagnation slows peristalsis, causing retention of undigested food and watery stools.

May lead to secondary Spleen or Kidney Yang deficiency.

Signs & Symptoms:

Abdominal pain relieved by warmth and pressure.

Cold sensations in the abdomen, lower back, and extremities.

Diarrhea or loose stools, sometimes watery.

Clear urine or frequent urination.

Fatigue, cold limbs, and lethargy.

Poor appetite, nausea, and occasional vomiting.

Weak pulse, slow or deep, especially in Yang positions.

Pale tongue with white coating.

Sense of heaviness or bloating in the abdomen.

Possible edema in lower limbs.

Cold intolerance, preference for warmth.

In severe cases, undigested food in stool or signs of collapse in chronic cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

CV6 – Tonifies Yang, warms the lower abdomen.

ST36 – Strengthens Spleen and Stomach Yang, aids transformation.

UB27 – Small Intestine Back Shu, regulates function.

CV4 – Warms the lower Jiao, supports Kidney and Small Intestine Yang.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, assists digestive transformation.

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, reinforces Yang.

SP6 – Harmonizes Spleen, Stomach, and Kidney, tonifies Yang.

ST25 – Regulates intestines, resolves diarrhea.

CV12 – Strengthens Middle Jiao, aids digestion.

DU4 – Tonifies Kidney Yang, warms lower Jiao.

LI11 – Clears residual cold or secondary Heat if present.

Moxa on ST36, CV4, DU4 – Essential to warm Yang and remove cold.

Homeopathy Medicines:

China (Cinchona Officinalis)30 – Chronic diarrhea, weakness, and cold sensation.

Aconite 30– Sudden coldness, diarrhea after exposure to cold.

Arsenicum Album 30 – Watery diarrhea, weakness, coldness.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber MT – Warms digestive system, supports Yang function.

Cinnamomum MT – Strengthens Kidney and Small Intestine Yang.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Carminative Drops (SI/Cold) – Improves digestion, warms abdomen.

Digestive Tonic Tablets – Strengthens Spleen and Stomach, reduces diarrhea.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos + Calc Phos – Supports Yang, strengthens Spleen, resolves cold and fluid retention.

Treatment Principles:

Warm and tonify Small Intestine and Kidney Yang.

Resolve Cold stagnation in the abdomen.

Strengthen Spleen and Stomach to support digestion.

Buy Indian

Promote separation of clear and turbid fluids.
Use moxibustion liberally on key Yang points.

Pattern 2: Small Intestine Cold and Qi Stagnation

Etiology:

Chronic exposure to cold or consumption of cold/raw foods.

Weak Kidney or Spleen Yang failing to warm the Small Intestine.

Emotional stress leading to Qi stagnation, which obstructs Small Intestine function.

Chronic digestive weakness or previous Small Intestine Yang deficiency.

Pathology:

Cold contracts and slows Small Intestine Qi, impairing its ability to separate clear and turbid fluids.

Qi stagnation leads to distension, bloating, and pain in the lower abdomen.

Cold constriction inhibits peristalsis, potentially causing diarrhea, constipation, or retention of undigested food.

Secondary involvement of Spleen and Kidney Yang deficiency is common.

Signs & Symptoms:

Lower abdominal pain, cramping, worse with cold exposure.

Abdominal bloating and a sensation of fullness.

Poor appetite, nausea, or occasional vomiting.

Diarrhea with undigested food or constipation due to obstruction.

Cold extremities and lower back pain.

Pale tongue with white coating, possibly moist.

Deep, slow, or wiry pulse.

Feeling of heaviness in the abdomen.

Urinary difficulties or clear, copious urine.

Fatigue and lethargy.

Preference for warmth, improvement with hot compress or moxa.

Occasional gurgling or borborygmus in the lower abdomen.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

CV6 – Tonifies Kidney and Small Intestine Yang, warms lower abdomen.

ST36 – Strengthens Spleen and Stomach Yang.

UB27 – Small Intestine Back Shu, regulates function.

CV4 – Warms lower Jiao, supports Yang.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, aids digestion.

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, reinforces Yang.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen, Stomach, and Kidney, harmonizes lower Jiao.

ST25 – Regulates intestines, resolves obstruction.

CV12 – Strengthens Middle Jiao, supports digestion.

DU4 – Warms Kidney Yang, supports lower Jiao.

LI4 – Relieves Qi stagnation and abdominal distension.

Moxa on ST36, CV6, CV4, DU4 – Essential to warm Yang, remove Cold, and improve Qi flow.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Dioscorea 30– Colic, abdominal spasms, Qi stagnation.

Colocynthis 30– Cramping abdominal pain, better with pressure and warmth.

China (Cinchona) 30– Weak digestion with coldness and fluid retention.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber MT – Warms digestive system, alleviates Cold.

Cinnamomum MT – Supports Kidney and Small Intestine Yang.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Colic Relief Drops – Relieves spasmodic abdominal pain, warms abdomen.

Digestive Harmony Tablets – Supports digestion, tonifies Yang, relieves stagnation.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos + Calc Phos – Tonifies Yang, strengthens Spleen, resolves Cold and stagnation.

Treatment Principles:

Warm and tonify Kidney and Small Intestine Yang.

Remove Cold obstruction and relieve abdominal pain.

Promote smooth Qi flow and resolve stagnation.

Strengthen Spleen and Stomach to support digestion.

Moxibustion on key Yang points is essential for effective treatment.

Pattern 3: Small Intestine Qi Stagnation

Etiology:

Emotional stress, frustration, or anger causing Liver Qi stagnation that affects Small Intestine function.

Poor dietary habits, overeating, or irregular meals leading to digestive Qi stagnation.

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency weakening the Small Intestine's transport and transformation function.

Pathology:

Stagnant Qi obstructs the Small Intestine, interfering with separation of clear and turbid fluids.

Buy Indian

Qi stagnation leads to abdominal distension, pain, and sometimes bloating.
May produce constipation, diarrhea, or irregular bowel movements depending on secondary involvement.
Qi stagnation can transform into heat if prolonged, causing irritability and burning sensations.

Signs & Symptoms:

Lower abdominal distension, fullness, or cramping, often worse before bowel movements.
Pain alleviated by passing gas or bowel movement.
Irregular bowel movements: constipation alternating with diarrhea.
Belching, bloating, nausea.
Mild lower back discomfort.
Mental irritability, mood swings.
Tongue: normal or slightly red on sides, thin white coating.
Pulse: wiry, sometimes tight or slightly rapid.
Poor appetite or indigestion.
Sensation of incomplete evacuation.
Tendency for abdominal gurgling (borborygmus).
Fatigue and lack of energy if Spleen involvement is present.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

ST25 – Regulates intestines and bowel movement.
CV6 – Harmonizes lower Jiao, moves Qi.
CV12 – Supports Middle Jiao, regulates digestive Qi.
UB27 – Small Intestine Back Shu, regulates function.
UB28 – Bladder Back Shu, helps lower Jiao circulation.
LR3 – Moves Liver Qi, relieves stagnation.
LI4 – Moves Qi, relieves abdominal distension.
ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach, supports Qi movement.
SP6 – Harmonizes Spleen, Stomach, Kidney; regulates lower Jiao.
CV4 – Warms lower Jiao, promotes Qi flow.
DU4 – Supports Kidney Yang, strengthens lower Jiao.
Moxa on CV6, ST36, CV4 – Tonifies Yang and promotes smooth Qi flow.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Colocynthis 30– Abdominal colic relieved by pressure and warmth.
Lycopodium 30– Bloating and fullness with irregular bowel movements.
Nux Vomica 30– Constipation with irritability and digestive sensitivity.

Mother Tinctures:

Zingiber MT – Warms digestive system and moves stagnant Qi.
Cinnamomum MT – Supports lower Jiao Yang and alleviates Cold-related stagnation.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Colic Relief Drops – Relieves spasmodic abdominal pain.
Digestive Harmony Tablets – Moves stagnated Qi, tonifies digestion.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Ferrum Phos + Calc Phos – Relieves stagnation, supports Spleen, and harmonizes digestive Qi.

Treatment Principles:

Move and regulate Small Intestine Qi.
Harmonize the Middle and Lower Jiao.
Relieve abdominal pain, distension, and bloating.
Support Spleen and Stomach function to prevent secondary deficiency.
Use moxa on key Yang points to assist Qi movement and tonify the lower Jiao.

Pattern 4: Small Intestine Damp-Heat

Etiology:

Excessive consumption of greasy, spicy, or sugary foods leading to accumulation of Dampness and Heat.
Emotional stress causing Liver Qi stagnation that transforms into Heat, affecting Small Intestine function.
External pathogenic Damp-Heat invading the lower Jiao.
Chronic Spleen deficiency causing internal Damp accumulation, which can ferment into Heat.

Pathology:

Dampness obstructs the Lower Jiao and accumulates in the Small Intestine.
Heat combines with Damp to irritate and inflame the bowel, disrupting fluid separation.
Can lead to abdominal pain, burning urination, diarrhea with mucus, and sometimes blood in stools.
May cause systemic Heat signs such as irritability, thirst, and low-grade fever.

Signs & Symptoms:

Lower abdominal pain and distension, aggravated by pressure.
Diarrhea with mucus and sometimes blood in stools.
Burning sensation around the anus or during urination.
Thirst without desire to drink much.
Dark, scanty urine.
Feverish sensation in the afternoon.
Nausea or poor appetite.

Bitter taste in the mouth.

Tongue: red with yellow sticky coating.

Pulse: slippery and rapid.

Feeling of heaviness in the body and limbs.

Mental restlessness and irritability.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

ST25 – Regulates intestines, clears Damp-Heat.

CV6 – Harmonizes Lower Jiao, promotes Qi movement.

UB27 – Small Intestine Back Shu, clears Damp-Heat.

UB28 – Bladder Back Shu, assists lower Jiao regulation.

LI11 – Clears Heat, regulates Qi.

SP9 – Resolves Dampness, promotes urination.

SP6 – Harmonizes Spleen, supports Lower Jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Spleen and Stomach, supports Qi movement.

CV3 – Front Mu of Bladder, clears Heat from lower Jiao.

LR3 – Moves Liver Qi, resolves stagnation contributing to Damp-Heat.

DU4 – Supports Kidney Yang, strengthens Lower Jiao.

Moxa on CV6, ST36, SP9 – Tonifies Yang and assists in resolving Damp.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Mercurius Solubilis 30– Diarrhea with mucus and blood, burning sensation.

China (Cinchona officinalis) 30– Weakness after diarrhea, Damp-Heat type.

Podophyllum 30– Profuse, watery, offensive diarrhea.

Mother Tinctures:

Berberis MT – Clears urinary and digestive Heat, relieves Damp accumulation.

Chelidonium MT – Supports liver-gallbladder function, reduces Damp-Heat in lower Jiao.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Digestive Detox Drops – Clears Heat, resolves Damp, supports bowel function.

Small Intestine Relief Tablets – Reduces diarrhea, mucus, and abdominal inflammation.

Bio-combination Salts:

Nat Mur + Kali Mur + Ferrum Phos + Kali Phos – Resolves Damp, tonifies Spleen, harmonizes digestion.

Treatment Principles:

Clear Damp-Heat from Small Intestine and Lower Jiao.

Harmonize and regulate bowel function.

Relieve abdominal pain, burning, diarrhea, and mucus.

Support Spleen and Kidney function to prevent recurrence.

Use moxa selectively on Yang points to tonify lower Jiao and assist Qi flow.

Pattern 1: Bladder Yang Deficiency & Cold

Etiology:

Chronic Kidney Yang deficiency leading to insufficient warmth in the Bladder.

Overwork, aging, or long-term illness weakening Yang Qi.

Excessive cold exposure, or consuming too many cold/raw foods.

Spleen Yang deficiency failing to support Lower Jiao function.

Pathology:

Kidney Yang fails to warm the Bladder and Lower Jiao.

Urine retention or frequent clear urination occurs due to weak Yang Qi.

Damp-Cold may accumulate in the Lower Jiao due to impaired transformation.

Cold stagnation may lead to lower back and knee weakness.

Signs & Symptoms:

Frequent, clear, or copious urination, especially at night.

Incontinence or dribbling after urination.

Lower abdominal cold sensation.

Lower back soreness, weakness in knees.

Cold sensation in the lower body, cold limbs.

Edema in lower extremities.

Pale complexion, fatigue.

Tongue: pale, swollen, wet, with a white coating.

Pulse: deep, weak, slow.

Low libido in chronic cases.

Feeling of heaviness in legs and lower back.

Poor appetite in severe cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, strengthens Kidney Yang.

DU4 – Mingmen Fire, tonifies Kidney Yang.

UB28 – Bladder Back Shu, warms Bladder Yang.

CV4 – Front Mu of Small Intestine, tonifies Yang in lower Jiao.

CV3 – Front Mu of Bladder, regulates urination.

CV6 – Tonifies Kidney and Spleen Yang.

UB52 – Kidney Jing point, strengthens Yang.
KD3 – Tonifies Kidney, supports Yang function.
KD7 – Regulates water passages, supports Bladder Yang.
Jinggong (UB63/Extra) – Strengthens Kidney/Bladder function.
DU20 (optional) – Tonifies overall Yang, prevents prolapse.
Moxa on CV4, CV6, DU4, UB23 – Warms Yang, assists Kidney and Bladder.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Cantharis 30– Frequent urination with burning, Damp-Cold type.
Equisetum 30– Clear, copious urine, incontinence, lower back coldness.
Thuja 30– Chronic urinary weakness, frequent clear urination.

Mother Tinctures:

Solidago MT – Supports urinary tract, warms Yang.
Uva Ursi MT – Clears urinary passages, strengthens Bladder function.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Urinary Strength Drops – Tonifies Yang, reduces frequent urination.
Lower Jiao Warming Tablets – Alleviates cold in lower abdomen, improves bladder tone.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Mur + Nat Mur + Kali Phos + Ferrum Phos – Supports Kidney and Bladder function, resolves cold-damp stagnation.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Kidney Yang and strengthen Bladder function.
Warm the Lower Jiao and resolve Cold accumulation.
Improve urinary control and reduce nocturia.
Support Spleen and Kidney to maintain proper fluid transformation.
Use moxa extensively on key Yang points to restore warmth and Qi flow.

Pattern 2: Bladder Damp-Heat

Etiology:

Overconsumption of rich, greasy, or sweet foods leading to internal Damp accumulation.
Heat pathogens invading the Lower Jiao, often from external febrile diseases.
Chronic urinary tract infections or stagnation of fluids.
Emotional stress affecting Liver and Spleen, leading to Damp-Heat in Bladder.

Pathology:

Dampness combines with Heat in the Bladder, leading to inflammation and irritation.
Stagnant Damp obstructs the urinary tract, while Heat causes burning, urgency, and pain.
The Lower Jiao becomes turbid and uncomfortable.
Kidney Yin may be injured if the condition persists, worsening urination problems.

Signs & Symptoms:

Frequent, urgent, burning urination.
Dark, turbid, or strong-smelling urine.
Lower abdominal discomfort or pain.
Fever or mild chills in acute cases.
Thirst without desire to drink.
Urinary retention or difficulty initiating urination.
Hypogastric fullness and heaviness.
Tongue: red with a yellow, greasy coating.
Pulse: slippery, rapid.
Occasional blood in urine in severe cases.
Irritability or restlessness due to Heat.
Lower back discomfort.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

UB28 – Bladder Back Shu, clears Damp-Heat.
UB22 – Triple Burner Back Shu, regulates water passages.
CV3 – Bladder Front Mu, clears Heat and regulates urination.
SP9 – Resolves Damp, benefits Lower Jiao.
ST28 – Moves water, clears Damp accumulation.
UB63 – Xi-Cleft, clears stagnation and Damp.
UB39 – Lower He-Sea of SJ, regulates urination.
KD7 – Strengthens Yang, assists fluid metabolism.
DU4 – Tonifies Kidney Yang to support Bladder.
UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, supports Kidney control of urination.
CV4 – Strengthens Lower Jiao, tonifies Kidney.
Moxa on UB28, CV3, SP9 – Clears Damp-Heat while warming Yang if deficiency present.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Cantharis 30– Burning urination, urgent desire, Damp-Heat type.
Berberis Vulgaris 30– Sharp pain in urethra, turbid urine.
Chimaphila 30– Frequent urination, discomfort in lower bladder.

Mother Tinctures:

Solidago MT – Supports urinary tract, helps resolve Damp.
Uva Ursi MT – Reduces inflammation, supports Bladder health.
Homeopathy Patent Medicines:
Bladder Detox Drops – Resolves Damp-Heat, reduces burning.
Lower Jiao Heat Relief Tablets – Clears Heat, promotes urine flow.
Bio-combination Salts:
Nat Mur + Kali Mur + Calc Phos + Merc Sol – Resolves Damp, clears Heat, supports kidney-bladder balance.
Treatment Principles:
Clear Heat and resolve Dampness from the Bladder.
Support Kidney Yang to prevent deficiency aggravation.
Promote smooth urination and reduce pain/burning.
Regulate Lower Jiao and tonify Spleen to prevent recurrence.
Use moxa selectively if Yang deficiency coexists with Damp-Heat.

Pattern 3: Bladder Damp and Cold

Etiology:

Prolonged exposure to cold, damp environments.
Overconsumption of cold, raw, or damp-producing foods.
Weak Spleen Yang or Kidney Yang failing to transform and warm fluids.
Chronic urinary tract infections leading to lingering Cold-Damp accumulation in the Lower Jiao.

Pathology:

Cold contracts and Damp stagnates in the Bladder, leading to slow, difficult urination.
Kidney Yang deficiency aggravates inability to transform fluids.
Damp obstructs the flow of Qi, creating heaviness in the lower abdomen.
Bladder fails to warm and transform urine, causing pale, copious urine.

Signs & Symptoms:

Frequent, clear, or pale urine, sometimes in small amounts.
Urgency but weak stream of urine.
Lower abdominal heaviness or dull pain.
Sensation of cold in the lower abdomen or back.
Cold limbs or intolerance to cold.
Fatigue and lethargy due to Spleen/Kidney Yang deficiency.
Tongue: pale, swollen, with a white, greasy coating.
Pulse: deep, slow, weak, slippery.
Edema in lower extremities in chronic cases.
Occasional urinary retention due to cold stagnation.
Feeling of heaviness in urethra or perineum.
Mucous in urine in some cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, warms and supports Kidney Yang.
DU4 – Tonifies Kidney Yang to aid Bladder function.
UB28 – Bladder Back Shu, regulates urination.
CV3 – Bladder Front Mu, resolves Cold-Damp.
SP9 – Resolves Damp and supports Lower Jiao.
ST28 – Moves fluids and warms Cold-Damp.
UB22 – Triple Burner Back Shu, regulates water passages.
KD7 – Strengthens Yang and regulates water metabolism.
UB32 – Local point for lower abdomen/urinary tract regulation.
CV4 – Strengthens Kidney and Spleen Yang, warms Lower Jiao.
UB52 – Strengthens Kidneys, supports Bladder.
Moxa on UB23, DU4, CV3, SP9 – Essential to warm Yang and disperse Cold-Damp.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Cantharis – For frequent urination with burning and urinary discomfort.
Apis Mellifica – For bladder edema, swelling, and retention.
China (Cinchona Officinalis) – For weakness, pale urine, and chronic urinary issues.

Mother Tinctures:

Equisetum MT – Supports bladder function, reduces retention.
Solidago MT – Reduces inflammation, promotes urination.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Urinary Warm Drops – Clears Cold-Damp, improves urine flow.
Lower Jiao Qi Tablets – Strengthens Kidney and Spleen Yang, resolves retention.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Sulph + Nat Mur + Calc Phos + Kali Phos – Resolves damp, warms Yang, restores bladder function.

Treatment Principles:

Warm the Yang of Kidneys and Spleen to aid Bladder function.
Disperse Cold and resolve Dampness in the Lower Jiao.
Promote smooth urination and reduce retention or heaviness.

Support the Kidney and Spleen to prevent chronic recurrence.
Use moxa regularly on key Yang points (UB23, DU4, CV3, SP9).

Pattern 4: Bladder Qi Deficiency

Etiology:

Chronic overwork, fatigue, or prolonged illness weakening Spleen and Kidney Qi.

Age-related decline of Kidney Qi and Bladder function.

Excessive urination over time, including frequent urination due to diabetes or other chronic conditions.

Emotional stress leading to Spleen Qi weakness and impaired fluid regulation.

Pathology:

Weak Kidney and Spleen Qi fail to control the Bladder.

Bladder cannot hold or properly expel urine.

Qi deficiency leads to leakage or dribbling, incomplete emptying, or frequent urination.

Damp may accumulate secondarily due to stagnation.

Signs & Symptoms:

Frequent urination, especially at night (nocturia).

Urine may be pale and dilute.

Urgency with weak stream; dribbling after urination.

Lower abdominal heaviness or fullness.

Fatigue, weakness, and low back soreness.

Sensation of prolapse in severe cases.

Tongue: pale, swollen, thin white coating.

Pulse: weak, deep, and soft.

Occasional incontinence when sneezing, coughing, or laughing.

Edema may occur in chronic cases.

Weak pelvic floor or lower limb weakness.

Poor appetite due to Spleen Qi weakness in prolonged cases.

Acupuncture Points (≥12):

UB23 – Kidney Back Shu, tonifies Kidney Qi.

DU4 – Strengthens Kidney Yang.

UB28 – Bladder Back Shu, regulates urination.

CV3 – Bladder Front Mu, controls Qi of Bladder.

SP6 – Tonifies Spleen and Kidney, strengthens Lower Jiao.

ST36 – Tonifies Qi and strengthens Spleen Yang.

UB32 – Local point regulating bladder function.

KD7 – Strengthens Yang, promotes water metabolism.

CV4 – Tonifies Kidney and Spleen, supports Lower Jiao.

UB52 – Kidney Shu, reinforces Kidney Qi.

Moxa on UB23, DU4, CV3, SP6 – Essential to strengthen Qi and control urination.

UB20 – Spleen Back Shu, strengthens Qi and fluid control.

Homeopathy Medicines:

Causticum 30– For incontinence, dribbling, and weak bladder.

Staphysagria 30– Post-injury or emotional incontinence.

China (Cinchona Officinalis) 30– Weak, pale urine, frequent urination.

Mother Tinctures:

Equisetum MT – Supports bladder function, reduces leakage.

Solidago MT – Promotes proper urine flow and reduces frequency.

Homeopathy Patent Medicines:

Bladder Control Drops – Tonifies bladder, reduces dribbling.

Lower Jiao Qi Tablets – Strengthens Kidney and Spleen Qi, improves retention.

Bio-combination Salts:

Kali Phos + Nat Mur + Calc Phos + Kali Mur – Strengthens Qi, supports bladder function, reduces incontinence.

Treatment Principles:

Tonify Kidney and Spleen Qi to control the Bladder.

Strengthen Lower Jiao to reduce frequent urination or incontinence.

Promote smooth urine flow and prevent recurrence.

Use moxibustion on UB23, DU4, CV3, SP6 for chronic Qi weakness.

Support overall energy and fluid metabolism to restore normal bladder function.

Pattern 1. Kidney Yang Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic illness consuming Kidney Qi and Yang.

Excessive sexual activity or many childbirths.

Prolonged exposure to cold environment or cold foods.

Aging and constitutional weakness.

Overwork and long-term stress damaging Kidney Yang.

Pathology

Kidney Yang is the foundation of warming and transforming functions.

Deficiency leads to inability to warm the body and fluids → cold, edema, infertility, weak urination.

Mingmen Fire declines → fatigue, low back weakness, reproductive disorders.

Signs & Symptoms

Feeling of cold in the body, cold limbs.

Lower back pain and weakness of knees.

Fatigue, lassitude, desire to lie down.

Clear and frequent urination or nocturia.

Possible edema in lower body.

Impotence, sterility, infertility, low libido.

Loose stools or early morning diarrhea (cock's crow diarrhea).

Pale complexion, low voice.

Tongue

Pale, swollen, wet tongue with white coat.

Pulse

Deep, weak, and slow pulse (especially at the Chi positions).

Treatment Principle

Warm and tonify Kidney Yang.

Strengthen Mingmen Fire.

Support urination, fertility, and body warmth.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidney Yang.

DU 4 – Strengthen Mingmen Fire.

REN 4 – Tonify Kidneys and Yuan Qi.

REN 6 – Tonify Qi, strengthen Yang.

KD 3 – Nourish Kidney essence and Yang.

KD 7 – Regulate water, strengthen Yang.

BL 52 – Support Kidney will-power and Yang.

ST 36 – Strengthen Qi and Yang, general tonic.

SP 6 – Tonify Kidney and Spleen, harmonize Yin-Yang.

BL 20 – Support Spleen to transform fluids.

REN 8 (moxa only) – Warm Yang, rescue collapse.

DU 14 – Expel cold, strengthen Yang, raise clear Yang.

Homeopathy

Agnus castus 30– sexual weakness with impotence.

Lycopodium 30– weakness of kidneys with premature ejaculation, coldness, digestive weakness.

Phosphoric acid 30– debility from chronic illness, loss of fluids.

Mother Tincture

Damiana Q – tonic for sexual weakness and low vitality.

Ginseng Q – restorative, boosts Yang and stamina.

Patent Medicine

Yohimbinum complex – impotence, low libido.

R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – sexual neurasthenia, kidney weakness.

Bio-combination

BC 19 – sexual weakness, nocturnal emissions, impotence.

BC 27 – debility from loss of fluids, frequent urination.

Pattern 2: Kidney Not Receiving Lung Qi

Etiology

Chronic Lung disease (asthma, chronic cough) damaging Kidney's ability to grasp Qi.

Aging → decline of Kidney Qi and Yang.

Overwork, exhaustion, prolonged illness.

Excess sexual activity weakening Kidney Qi.

Constitutional weakness of Lung–Kidney axis.

Pathology

Normally, Lungs govern Qi and respiration, while Kidneys grasp Qi to hold it down.

If Kidneys fail to grasp Qi → Lung Qi floats upward → shortness of breath, dyspnea, asthma.

Kidney Yang weakness adds cold signs, Kidney Yin weakness adds dryness and deficiency heat.

Connection between upper and lower (Lung–Kidney axis) becomes impaired.

Signs & Symptoms

Chronic shortness of breath, worse on exertion.

Difficulty inhaling, weak breathing, desire to breathe with mouth open.

Asthma, wheezing, or dyspnea on exertion.

Weak voice, fatigue, low back pain, weakness of knees.

Clear urination during asthma attack.

Possible edema of lower limbs.

Buy Indian

Spontaneous sweating, cold limbs if Yang is deficient.
Tinnitus, poor hearing if Kidney essence is involved.

Tongue

Pale tongue (in Yang deficiency type).

Possibly thin coating, or swollen with wet coat.

Pulse

Weak, deep pulse especially in the Chi position.

In severe cases, scattered or knotted.

Treatment Principle

Tonify Kidneys to grasp Qi.

Strengthen Kidney–Lung axis.

Support Kidney Yang and Qi.

Calm dyspnea, relieve breathlessness.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidney Qi.

KD 3 – Tonify Kidneys and essence.

KD 7 – Tonify Kidney Yang, regulate fluids.

BL 13 – Tonify Lung Qi.

LU 7 – Regulate Lung Qi, open chest.

KD 6 – Nourish Yin, harmonize Lung–Kidney axis.

REN 17 – Regulate Qi in chest, open chest.

REN 6 – Tonify Qi, strengthen Kidney Qi.

ST 36 – Tonify Qi and Yang, strengthen body.

DU 4 – Strengthen Mingmen, support grasping of Qi.

REN 4 – Tonify Kidneys, Yuan Qi.

Dingchuan (extra point) – Relieve wheezing and dyspnea.

Homeopathy

Arsenicum album 30– asthma with exhaustion, worse at night, anxiety.

Antimonium tartaricum 30– difficult expectoration, wheezing, rattling mucus.

Lobelia inflata 30– asthma with suffocative attacks, difficulty inhaling.

Mother Tincture

Aspidosperma Q – “digitalis of lungs,” helps in dyspnea, improves oxygenation.

Quebracho Q – useful in chronic asthma and shortness of breath.

Patent Medicine

Buy Indian

R-43 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Asthma, bronchitis, wheezing.

R-48 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Dyspnea, emphysema, Lung–Kidney weakness.

Bio-combination

BC 2 – Breathlessness, asthma, weak respiration.

BC 19 – Nervous weakness, debility, sexual exhaustion (when Kidney weakness is primary).

Pattern 3: Kidney Qi Sinking

Kidney Qi Sinking

Etiology

Chronic overwork or exhaustion.

Excessive physical exertion, especially lifting or prolonged standing.

Multiple childbirths or prolonged labor in women.

Aging, gradual decline of Kidney Qi.

Chronic illness weakening Kidney Qi and Essence.

Pathology

The Kidneys govern Qi and essence, providing the foundation for lower body strength and the ability to hold organs in place.

When Kidney Qi is weak → it fails to hold organs → prolapse, incontinence, dribbling urine.

The Mingmen fire is reduced → weakness in lower back and knees.

If severe → loss of control over urination or seminal emissions.

Signs & Symptoms

Weakness and heaviness of the lower back and knees.

Feeling of bearing down in the lower abdomen.

Prolapse of uterus, bladder, or rectum.

Frequent urination, dribbling after urination, incontinence.

Enuresis (especially in children).

Nocturia.

Fatigue, lassitude, lack of strength.

Seminal emissions, premature ejaculation in men.

Vaginal discharge, dragging sensation in pelvis in women.

Tongue

Pale, enlarged, moist tongue.

Pulse

Weak, deep, especially in Chi position.

Sometimes empty or scattered.

Treatment Principle

Tonify and lift Kidney Qi.

Strengthen the lower back and consolidate essence.

Support the function of holding and controlling.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidney Qi.

KD 3 – Strengthen Kidneys and Yuan Qi.

BL 52 – Support Kidney function in holding.

DU 20 – Raise sinking Qi, lift prolapse.

REN 6 – Tonify Qi, consolidate lower Jiao.

REN 4 – Nourish Yuan Qi, strengthen Kidneys.

DU 4 – Tonify Mingmen fire, consolidate Qi.

BL 32 – Strengthen lower Jiao, treat prolapse and urinary issues.

ST 36 – Tonify Qi and raise Yang.

SP 6 – Support Spleen–Kidney, consolidate Yin and fluids.

GB 26 – Regulate Dai Mai, control prolapse.

KI 13 – Consolidate Kidney Qi, regulate lower Jiao.

Homeopathy

Sepia 30– Prolapse of uterus with bearing-down sensation, weakness in pelvis.

Causticum 30– Urinary incontinence, dribbling, involuntary urination.

Helonias dioica 30– Uterine prolapse, weakness from exhaustion.

Mother Tincture

Hydrastis Q – Uterine prolapse, pelvic weakness.

Caulophyllum Q – Uterine relaxation and weakness.

Patent Medicine

R-50 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Prolapse, weakness of pelvic organs.

R-1 (Dr. Reckeweg) – General weakness, poor tissue tone.

Bio-combination

BC 15 – Uterine prolapse, bearing down sensation.

BC 19 – Nervous and physical weakness.

Pattern 4: Kidney and Spleen Yang Deficiency

Etiology

Buy Indian

Chronic illness or prolonged overwork → depletion of Yang Qi.

Excessive sexual activity weakening Kidney Yang.

Aging process, gradual decline of Mingmen fire.

Poor diet: excessive cold/raw foods → Spleen Yang damage.

Living in damp/cold environments.

Long-term worry and overthinking → weakening Spleen Qi → eventually affecting Kidney Yang.

Pathology

The Spleen is responsible for transformation and transportation of fluids; the Kidneys provide fire to the Spleen to carry out its functions.

Deficiency of both leads to coldness, poor digestion, and accumulation of dampness.

Kidneys fail to warm and consolidate → cold in lower Jiao, edema, infertility, urinary problems.

Yang collapse may occur if severe.

Signs & Symptoms

Feeling of cold, especially in limbs and lower back.

Bright white complexion, dull facial expression.

Cold and weak lower back, knees, lumbar pain.

Abdominal distension, poor appetite.

Loose stools or diarrhea, sometimes undigested food.

Early morning diarrhea (“cock’s crow diarrhea”).

Fatigue, lassitude, desire to lie down.

Edema of lower limbs.

Scanty urination or dribbling.

In severe cases: infertility, impotence, chronic leucorrhea, fluid retention.

Tongue

Pale, swollen, wet with teeth marks.

White coat.

Pulse

Deep, weak, slow.

Especially weak in Chi position.

Treatment Principle

Warm and tonify Kidney and Spleen Yang.

Dispel Cold, resolve Damp.

Strengthen digestion and support Qi.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidney Yang.

BL 20 – Strengthen Spleen Yang.

DU 4 – Warm Mingmen fire.

REN 4 – Nourish Yuan Qi, warm Kidneys.

REN 6 – Strengthen Qi and Yang.

ST 36 – Tonify Qi, strengthen digestion.

SP 3 – Support Spleen Yang.

KI 3 – Strengthen Kidney Yang.

BL 22 – Regulate water passages, resolve edema.

REN 9 – Promote fluid metabolism.

SP 9 – Drain Dampness, support transformation.

KI 7 – Strengthen Kidney Yang, regulate water.

Homeopathy

Calcarea carbonica 30– Coldness, weakness, poor digestion, edema, fatigue.

Aloe socotrina 30– Early morning diarrhea, weakness, sensation of heaviness in abdomen.

Arsenicum album 30– Coldness, weakness, diarrhea with exhaustion.

Mother Tincture

Alstonia constricta Q – Chronic diarrhea, debility.

Ginseng Q – Tonic for Yang deficiency, fatigue, coldness.

Homeopathic Patent Medicine

R-37 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Chronic diarrhea, weakness of Spleen and Kidney.

R-10 (Dr. Reckeweg) – General tonic for debility and coldness.

Bio-combination

BC 3 – Colic, indigestion, diarrhea.

BC 17 – Poor circulation, cold limbs, weakness.

Pattern 5:

Kidney Yin Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic febrile diseases that consume Yin.

Excessive sexual activity → depletes Kidney Essence and Yin.

Prolonged stress, worry, or emotional strain → damages Yin over time.

Aging → natural decline of Yin and Essence.

Overuse of hot/spicy foods or stimulants (coffee, alcohol) → dries and consumes Yin.

Genetic weakness or constitution.

Pathology

Kidneys store Yin (the root of body Yin).

When Yin is deficient → relative Yang rises → heat symptoms (“Empty Heat”).

Lack of Yin leads to inability to nourish organs → dryness, weakness, and heat sensations.

Deficient Yin → backache, night sweats, tinnitus, infertility, insomnia.

Fluids are consumed → dry throat, scanty urine, dry stools.

Signs & Symptoms

Lower back pain, weakness in knees and lumbar region.

Dizziness, tinnitus, poor memory.

Night sweats, spontaneous sweating.

Dry mouth and throat, especially at night.

Insomnia, restlessness, anxiety.

Scanty dark urine.

Constipation with dry stools.

In severe cases: infertility, impotence, premature ejaculation.

Menstrual irregularities: scanty periods, delayed cycle, amenorrhea.

Afternoon fever, malar flush, heat in palms and soles (“5-palm heat”).

Tongue

Red tongue, little or no coating.

Cracks in Kidney area.

Dry appearance.

Pulse

Thin, rapid, floating-empty.

Weak in Chi position.

Treatment Principle

Nourish Kidney Yin.

Clear Empty Heat.

Support Essence.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidney Yin.

KI 3 – Tonify Kidney Yin and Essence.

KI 6 – Nourish Kidney Yin, benefit throat.

Homeopathy

Phosphorus 30– Yin deficiency with heat, night sweats, anxiety, dryness.

Sulphur 200– Heat in palms/soles, night sweats, malar flush.

Natrum muriaticum 30– Thin, weak, anxiety, dryness, scanty urine.

Mother Tincture

Damiana Q – Sexual weakness, impotence.

Avena sativa Q – Nervous exhaustion, insomnia, debility.

Homeopathic Patent Medicine

R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Sexual weakness, impotence from Yin/Essence deficiency.

R-74 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Nocturnal enuresis, urinary weakness.

Bio-combination

BC 27 – Debility, exhaustion, nervous weakness.

BC 16 – Urinary disorders, heat, and weakness.

Pattern 6: Kidney and Liver Yin Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic illness that gradually consumes Yin of both Kidney and Liver.

Excessive sexual activity depleting Kidney Yin and Essence.

Emotional strain (anger, frustration) consuming Liver Yin over time.

Aging process: natural decline of Yin and Jing.

Overuse of stimulants, alcohol, or hot/spicy food → drying Yin.

Genetic weakness affecting Yin and Blood formation.

Pathology

The Kidneys store Yin as the root of Essence, while the Liver depends on Yin and Blood for nourishment.

When Yin is deficient in both organs → dryness, weakness, and heat signs (“Empty Heat”).

Kidney Yin fails to nourish → lumbar and knee weakness, tinnitus, night sweats.

Liver Yin fails to nourish tendons and eyes → dizziness, blurred vision, dry eyes.

Combined Yin deficiency leads to insomnia, anxiety, and reproductive problems.

Signs & Symptoms

Lower backache, weakness of knees.

Dizziness, vertigo, tinnitus.

Blurred or dry eyes, poor vision, floaters.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep, restlessness.

Night sweats, afternoon fever, heat in palms/soles.

Dry throat, thirst at night.

Scanty menses, amenorrhea, or delayed cycle.

Infertility in women; impotence or premature ejaculation in men.

Muscle weakness, tendon cramps or spasms.

Tongue

Red tongue with little or no coat.

Cracks in Kidney and Liver areas.

Dry body, sometimes peeled sides.

Pulse

Thin, rapid, floating-empty.

Weak in Chi (Kidney) and Guan (Liver) positions.

Treatment Principle

Nourish Liver and Kidney Yin.

Clear Empty Heat.

Calm spirit, strengthen tendons, support Essence.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidney Yin.

KI 3 – Strengthen Kidney Yin and Jing.

KI 6 – Nourish Kidney Yin, moisten throat.

SP 6 – Tonify Liver and Kidney Yin, nourish Blood.

Phosphoric acid 30– Exhaustion, nervous debility, seminal weakness.

Sepia 30– Hormonal weakness, scanty or irregular menses, prolapse.

Mother Tincture

Ginseng Q – General Yin tonic for exhaustion, weakness.

Damiana Q – Sexual weakness, nervous exhaustion.

Homeopathic Patent Medicine

R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Sexual weakness, Yin/Essence deficiency.

R-32 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Menstrual weakness, delayed or scanty periods.

Bio-combination

BC 27 – General debility, exhaustion, nervous weakness.

BC 20 – Female weakness, menstrual disorders from Yin deficiency.

Pattern 7: Kidney and Lung Yin Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic illness (esp. respiratory diseases like TB, asthma, or chronic cough) → damages Lung Yin, and later Kidney Yin.

Prolonged overwork, stress, or lack of rest → consumes Yin of both organs.

Excessive sexual activity → depletes Kidney Yin and Essence.

Aging → natural decline of Yin, affecting both Kidneys and Lungs.

Hot/spicy diet, stimulants, alcohol → consumes Yin and fluids.

Genetic predisposition to weak Lung and Kidney Yin.

Pathology

Lung Yin nourishes moistening function of Lungs. When deficient → dry cough, hoarse voice, dryness in throat.

Kidney Yin is the root of Yin in the body. When deficient → lower back pain, tinnitus, night sweats.

Both Lungs and Kidneys fail to grasp and regulate Qi → breathlessness, weak respiration.

Yin Deficiency produces “Empty Heat” signs: heat in palms/soles, malar flush, night sweats.

Signs & Symptoms

Dry cough, chronic weak cough, scanty sticky sputum or no sputum

Shortness of breath, difficulty inhaling, worse on exertion.

Hoarse voice, dry throat (esp. at night).

Night sweats, 5-palm heat, malar flush.

Weak lower back and knees, tinnitus, dizziness.

Fatigue, poor memory, restlessness, insomnia.

Scanty dark urine, constipation with dry stools.

Advanced cases: tuberculosis-like wasting, emaciation.

Tongue

Red, peeled, little or no coat.

May have cracks in Lung and Kidney areas.

Dry appearance.

Pulse

Thin, rapid, floating-empty.

Weak in Chi (Kidney) and Cun (Lung) positions.

Treatment Principle

R-48 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Chronic lung weakness, cough, phthisis-like states.
R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – General Yin weakness, sexual debility with exhaustion.
Bio-combination
BC 27 – General debility, nervous exhaustion.
BC 6 – Cough, lung weakness, chronic respiratory deficiency.

Pattern 8: Kidney and Heart Yin Deficiency

Etiology

Prolonged emotional strain (overthinking, worry, anxiety) → damages Heart Yin.
Excessive sexual activity → depletes Kidney Yin and Essence.
Chronic illness → slowly consumes Kidney Yin and Heart Yin.
Aging → gradual decline of Yin and Essence.
Fever, hot diseases, long-term stress, stimulant use (alcohol, coffee, drugs) → dry and consume Yin.
Genetic weakness → predisposition to both Heart and Kidney Yin deficiency.

Pathology

The Heart stores Shen (mind), nourished by Heart Yin and Blood.

The Kidneys store Essence and Yin, which anchor Yang.

When both are deficient:

Yin unable to anchor Yang → Yang floats upward → palpitations, insomnia, anxiety, night sweats.

Kidney Yin Deficiency → lower back weakness, tinnitus, dizziness, infertility.

Heart Yin Deficiency → restlessness, poor memory, palpitations.

Yin deficiency produces Empty Heat → night sweats, heat in palms/soles, malar flush.

Lack of Yin → fluids consumed → dry throat, scanty urine, constipation.

Signs & Symptoms

Palpitations, restlessness, anxiety.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep, poor memory.

Night sweats, hot flashes, malar flush.

Dry throat and mouth, especially at night.

Dizziness, tinnitus, low back pain, weak knees.

Heat in palms, soles, and chest (“5-palm heat”).

Scanty dark urine.

Constipation with dry stools.

In severe cases: infertility, impotence, premature ejaculation.

Women: scanty menstruation, amenorrhea, irregular cycle.

Tongue

Red, tip redder (Heart Yin deficiency sign).

Little or no coating.

Cracks in Kidney area.

Pattern 9: Kidney Essence Deficiency

Etiology

Congenital weakness → inherited deficiency of Kidney Jing (Essence).

Aging → natural decline of Essence over time.

Excessive sexual activity → depletes Jing.

Chronic illness → slowly exhausts Essence.

Poor nutrition in childhood → weak development of Jing.

Overwork, long-term stress → gradual depletion of Essence.

Pathology

The Kidneys store Essence (Jing), the foundation of growth, reproduction, and vitality.

Jing deficiency affects:

Growth & development → delayed milestones in children, weak bones and teeth.

Reproduction → infertility, impotence, weak sexual function.

Brain & marrow nourishment → poor memory, dizziness, cognitive weakness.

Bones & spine → weak back, osteoporosis, early aging signs.

Jing also transforms into Yin and Yang → deficiency leads to broad systemic weakness.

Signs & Symptoms

In children: delayed growth, late closure of fontanelles, weak bones, poor memory, mental retardation.

In adults:

Premature graying of hair, hair loss.

Weak lumbar region, knees, and bones.

Poor memory, dizziness, tinnitus.

Infertility, sterility, impotence, low libido.

Premature aging (wrinkles, early senility).

In elderly: deafness, weak bones, senility, osteoporosis.

General fatigue, lassitude, developmental weakness.

Tongue

Pale or red body depending on Yin/Yang balance.

Little or no coating.

May show cracks in Kidney area.

Pulse

Deep, thin, weak (especially in Chi position).

Sometimes floating-empty in chronic deficiency.

Treatment Principle

Tonify Kidneys.

Nourish and replenish Essence (Jing).

Strengthen bones, brain, and reproductive function.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

BL 23 – Tonify Kidneys, nourish Essence.

KI 3 – Tonify Kidney Yin/Yang, Essence.

Pattern 10: Kidney Yang Deficiency and Body Fluid Stagnation:

Here is the pattern afresh, rewritten completely in simple text with no bold letters, no formatting, no emphasis.

PATTERN: Kidney Yang Deficiency with Body Fluid Stagnation
(Shen Yang Xu + Shui Yin Ting Zhi)

A. Core Concept (Simple Text)

Kidney Yang is the body's internal fire that gives warmth, strength, metabolism, sexual function, and water transformation.
When Kidney Yang becomes weak, the whole body becomes cold and slow.
Fluids are not transformed properly, so they accumulate and stagnate.
This leads to swelling, cold edema, cold limbs, and fatigue.

This is a cold, wet, slow, chronic pattern.

B. Etiology (Causes)

Chronic long-term Kidney Yang deficiency
Many years of weak Kidneys gradually reduce the warmth of the body.
Common in elderly or people with chronic illness.

Prolonged exposure to cold
Living in cold houses, cold floors, cold weather, cold bathing.

Buy Indian

Overuse of cold foods and cold medicines
Excess fruits, salads, curd, cold drinks, ice creams.
Long-term antibiotics or cold herbal medicines.

Aging
Natural decline of Kidney Yang after age 50.

Chronic disease
Includes chronic edema, CHF-like patterns (in TCM), chronic fatigue.

Sexual overstrain
Excess ejaculation leads to Kidney Yang decline.

Constitutional weakness
Person born with cold body and weak low back.

C. Pathology (Mechanism)

Kidney Yang cannot warm the body
Leads to cold limbs, cold lower back, cold abdomen.

Kidney Yang cannot transform fluids
Water stagnates → edema, swelling, heaviness.

Dampness increases
Slow circulation of fluids leads to puffiness and bloating.

Spleen Yang becomes weak
Loose stools, poor appetite, bloating.

Mingmen Fire decreases
Low libido, infertility cold-type.

Urination becomes irregular
Either scanty urine or frequent clear urine.

D. Symptoms (Clinical Picture)

Main symptoms:
Cold sensation, cold limbs
Cold lower back and knees
Puffy swelling of legs, ankles, face
Edema worse in cold weather
Frequent clear urination or very scanty urination
Low libido, cold genitals
Fatigue, slow movements
Loose stools or watery stools
Heavy feeling in the body
Low voice, listlessness
Preference for warmth

Tongue:
Pale, swollen, wet, teeth marks, white slippery coat

Pulse:
Deep, weak, slow

E. Modern Parallels (not exact diagnosis)

Hypothyroid-type cold signs
Chronic edema
Cold-type infertility
Chronic fatigue of cold nature
Elderly kidney weakness
Mild CHF-type water retention from TCM view

Buy Indian

Red flags requiring medical attention:
Rapid swelling
Breathlessness
Very low urine output
Sudden chest discomfort

F. TCM Treatment Principles

Warm Kidney Yang
Warm Spleen Yang
Dry Dampness
Move and transform stagnant fluids
Strengthen Mingmen Fire
Promote urination for water drainage
Avoid cold foods completely

G. Acupuncture Treatment

Main core points (use tonification and moxa):

Ren 4
Warms Kidney Yang and strengthens the lower body.

Ren 6
Tonifies original Qi and Yang.

Du 4
Main point to ignite Mingmen Fire.
Strong moxa is essential.

Bladder 23
Back-Shu of Kidney, warms Yang and transforms fluids.

Bladder 22
Regulates water passages and fluid metabolism.

Kidney 3
Strengthens Kidney Yang and Qi.

Kidney 7
Regulates sweating and water metabolism.

Spleen 6
Strengthens Spleen and Kidney, good for dampness.

Spleen 9
Clears damp and helps drain water.

Stomach 36
Improves Qi, Yang, and digestion.

Ren 9
Drains water and helps edema.

Pattern 11: Kidney Yin Deficiency and Heat:

Here is Kidney Yin Deficiency with Heat.

PATTERN: Kidney Yin Deficiency with Heat
(Shen Yin Xu + Xu Re)

A. Core Concept (Simple Text)

Kidney Yin represents the cooling, moistening, nourishing aspect of the Kidneys.
It maintains body fluids, nourishes the marrow, cools the organs, and anchors Yang.

When Kidney Yin becomes weak:

Internal dryness appears

Heat arises from empty Yin

Yin fails to anchor Yang upward → heat symptoms

Kidneys fail to nourish bones, brain, hair, ears, reproductive system

This is a chronic deficiency with empty heat (false fire).

B. Etiology (Causes)

Chronic illness
Long-term diseases slowly consume Kidney Yin.

Overwork for many years
Excess mental or physical work drains Kidney essence.

Excess sexual activity
Frequent ejaculation depletes Kidney Essence and Yin.

Long-term heat illness or fever
High fevers dry Yin.

Emotional strain
Anxiety, fear, excessive thinking consume Kidney yin.

Aging
Yin naturally declines after age 40–45.

Smoking and alcohol
These create internal heat and damage Yin.

C. Pathology (Mechanism)

Kidney Yin fails to nourish and cool
Creates heat signs such as afternoon fever, night sweats, warm palms and soles.

Yin deficiency causes internal dryness
Mouth and throat dryness, dry stools, dry hair and skin.

Yin deficiency causes empty fire
Heat is not true excess fire but rising unrooted Yang.

Buy Indian

Kidney does not nourish Liver Yin
Causes dizziness, dry eyes, irritability.

Essence deficiency affects brain and marrow
Poor memory, weak knees, low back soreness.

D. Symptoms (Clinical Picture)

Kidney Yin deficiency symptoms:

Low back soreness
Weak knees
Dizziness
Tinnitus or ringing in ears
Poor memory
Dry mouth and throat
Thin body or weight loss
Dry skin
Insomnia or light sleep

Empty heat symptoms:

Night sweats
Five-palm heat (hands, feet, chest)
Afternoon fever
Heat at night
Dry mouth with desire to sip water
Red cheeks
Irritability
Dark scanty urine

Reproductive signs:

Dry vagina
Low sexual fluids

Premature ejaculation due to Yin emptiness
Infertility from Yin deficiency

Tongue:
Red, no coating
Cracked tongue
Thin body
Sometimes red tip

Pulse:
Thin, rapid
Or floating-empty and rapid

E. Modern Parallels (not exact)

Perimenopause or menopause hot symptoms
Chronic adrenal fatigue with heat signs
Chronic tinnitus
Neural exhaustion
Chronic low back degeneration
Insomnia related to heat

Warning signs for medical evaluation:
Severe weight loss
Blood in urine
Persistent high fever
Sudden hearing loss

F. TCM Treatment Principles

Nourish Kidney Yin
Clear empty heat
Anchor Yang
Generate body fluids
Strengthen essence and marrow
Avoid heating foods and lifestyle

G. Acupuncture Treatment

Core points:

Kidney 3
Tonifies Kidney Yin and essence.

Kidney 6
Nourishes Yin and clears deficiency heat.

Kidney 2
Clears empty fire from the Kidney channel.

Spleen 6
Nourishes Liver and Kidney Yin.

Liver 2
Clears empty heat rising from Yin deficiency.

Ren 4
Strengthens Kidney Yin and Essence.

Ren 7
Regulates yin and fluids.

Bladder 23
Back-Shu of Kidney, supports Yin and Jing.

Bladder 52
Supports essence and willpower.

Heart 6
For night sweats.

Lung 7 + Kidney 6
Opens Ren Mai to nourish Yin.

Mild heat with weakness.

Kali phosphoricum 6X
Insomnia from exhaustion.

Silicea 6X
Essence deficiency and dryness.

Typical schedule:
Calc phos + Silicea twice daily
Nat mur + Kali phos three times daily

N. Clinical Summary

Kidney Yin deficiency with heat shows a dry, thin, warm-type person.
The body lacks internal fluids and cooling, leading to empty heat symptoms, insomnia, night sweats, dizziness, tinnitus, warm palms and soles, and low back weakness.
Tongue is red with little or no coating, pulse is thin and rapid.

Treatment focuses on nourishing Yin, clearing empty heat, generating fluids, strengthening the lower back, and avoiding all hot foods and stimulants.

Pattern 1: Liver Blood Deficiency

Etiology

Dietary factors: Poor nutrition, prolonged dieting, eating little or poor-quality food → fails to generate Blood.

Chronic illness: Long-standing disease consumes Blood reserves.

Excessive bleeding: Heavy menstruation, postpartum hemorrhage, trauma → Blood loss depletes Liver.

Overwork & stress: Long hours without rest → Spleen fails to produce Blood.

Emotional strain: Worry, anxiety, or pensiveness weakens Spleen → less Blood made.

Constitutional weakness: Women prone due to menstrual losses; elderly prone due to aging and depletion.

Pathology

The Liver stores Blood and nourishes tendons, eyes, and nails.

When Blood is deficient → the Liver cannot moisten and nourish.

This leads to:

Nervous system weakness → dizziness, blurred vision.

Tendon malnourishment → cramps, numbness.

Nail and hair weakness → brittle nails, dry hair.

Uterine function loss → scanty menses, amenorrhea.

Blood fails to anchor the Shen → poor sleep, anxiety, dream-disturbed sleep.

Signs & Symptoms

Dizziness, blurred vision, floaters.

Poor memory, difficulty concentrating.

Numbness or tingling in limbs.

Muscle cramps, spasms, weakness.

Brittle nails, dry hair, lusterless complexion.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep, anxiety.

Scanty menstruation or amenorrhea; pale menstrual blood.

Dry eyes, poor night vision.

Tongue

Pale, especially on sides.

Thin and dry.

Pulse

Choppy or fine (thin).

Weak, especially in Liver position (left guan).

Treatment Principle

Nourish Liver Blood.

Tonify Spleen and Stomach to produce Blood.

Calm Shen, regulate menstruation.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

LR 8 – Nourish Liver Blood.

SP 6 – Tonify Yin and Blood.

ST 36 – Strengthen Spleen & Stomach, produce Blood.

UB 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, nourish Liver Blood.

UB 20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, tonify Blood production.

UB 23 – Strengthen Kidneys, essence supports Blood.

REN 4 – Nourish Yin and Blood, regulate uterus.

UB 17 – Influential point of Blood.

GB 39 – Nourish marrow, strengthen bones.

DU 20 – Raise clear Yang, calm Shen.

HT 7 – Nourish Heart Blood, calm spirit.

YU YAO (extra) – For eye problems due to Liver Blood deficiency.

Homeopathy

Ferrum metallicum 30– Anemia, pallor, weakness, menses scanty or absent.

Pattern 2: Liver and Heart Blood Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic illness → prolonged disease consumes Blood.

Excessive blood loss → heavy menstruation, repeated childbirth, trauma.

Poor diet → lack of protein, iron, and nutrient-rich foods → weak Spleen and Stomach fail to generate Blood.

Emotional strain → sadness, worry, pensiveness weakens Heart and Spleen, leading to poor Blood formation.

Overwork, exhaustion, insomnia → weakens both Heart and Liver over time.

Constitutional weakness → women prone due to menstruation and childbirth; elderly prone due to decline of Yin and Blood.

Pathology

Heart stores Shen (Mind) and relies on Blood for nourishment.

Liver stores Blood and regulates tendons, vision, and menstruation.

When Blood is deficient in both:

Heart fails to house Shen → insomnia, palpitations, anxiety.

Liver fails to nourish → dizziness, blurred vision, dry eyes, menstrual issues.

Combined deficiency → profound fatigue, poor memory, and nervous instability.

Signs & Symptoms

Dizziness, poor concentration, weak memory.

Palpitations, anxiety, poor sleep, dream-disturbed sleep.

Blurred vision, dry eyes, floaters.

Pale complexion, dry skin, brittle nails, dry hair.

Numbness, tingling in limbs.

Fatigue, lassitude, low vitality.

Scanty menstruation or amenorrhea, pale or delayed periods.

In severe cases → depression, restlessness, hysteria.

Tongue

Pale and thin.

Possibly dry, especially sides and tip.

Pulse

Choppy or fine (thin).

Weak, especially left guan (Liver) and left cun (Heart).

Treatment Principle

Nourish Blood.

Strengthen Liver and Heart.

Calm Shen and benefit sleep.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

LR 8 – Tonifies Liver Blood.

SP 6 – Nourishes Blood, harmonizes Liver, Spleen, Kidney.

ST 36 – Tonifies Qi and Blood through Spleen & Stomach.

UB 18 – Back-Shu of Liver → tonifies Liver Blood.

UB 20 – Back-Shu of Spleen → tonifies Blood production.

UB 15 – Back-Shu of Heart → strengthens Heart Blood.

UB 17 – Hui point of Blood → nourishes Blood.

REN 4 – Nourishes Blood, tonifies Liver & Heart.

DU 20 – Lifts Shen, clears dizziness.

HT 7 – Nourishes Heart Blood, calms spirit.

PC 6 – Calms Shen, benefits Heart.

YU YAO (extra) – For eye symptoms, blurred vision.

Homeopathy

Ferrum phosphoricum 30– Anemia with palpitations and weakness.

China officinalis (Cinchona)30– Weakness after blood loss, tinnitus, dizziness.

Crocus sativus 30– Menstrual weakness, palpitations, depression.

Sepia – Scanty or absent periods, mental dullness, irritability.

Mother Tinctures

Alfalfa Q – Improves nutrition and general vitality.

China Q – For blood loss, fatigue, pallor.

Damiana Q – Nervous weakness with menstrual irregularities.

Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-31 (Dr. Reckeweg) – For anemia and blood weakness.

R-44 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Nervous debility, weak memory, anxiety.

BC 1 – Anemia, pale complexion, poor blood formation.

Bio-combination Remedies

BC 1 – For anemia, pallor, weakness.

BC 16 – For nervous weakness, palpitations, fatigue.

BC 17 – For general debility, poor blood production.

Pattern 3: Liver Blood Deficiency and Wind

Buy Indian

Etiology

Chronic loss of Blood from prolonged illness, heavy menstruation, childbirth, or trauma.

Long-term poor diet lacking in Blood-nourishing foods.

Overwork and lack of rest consuming Liver Yin and Blood.

Emotional stress (worry, anxiety) impairing Spleen function and reducing Blood production.

Pathology

The Liver stores Blood and nourishes tendons and sinews.

Deficiency of Liver Blood fails to nourish the muscles and tendons, leading to weakness, tremors, and spasms.

When Blood is too weak to anchor Yang, internal Wind is generated, producing tremors, dizziness, and tics.

The eyes and nails, both dependent on Liver Blood, become dull, dry, or brittle.

Signs & Symptoms

Fine tremors, tics, mild spasms, shaking of limbs.

Numbness or tingling of limbs.

Dizziness, blurred vision, floaters, poor night vision.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep.

Pale, dull, or sallow complexion.

Dry hair, brittle nails.

Scanty menstruation or amenorrhea.

Fatigue and weakness of limbs.

Tongue

Pale, thin body, possibly dry.

Pulse

Wiry, Fine (thin), or Choppy.

Treatment Principle

Nourish Liver Blood.

Calm internal Wind.

Strengthen Spleen to aid Blood production.

Benefit tendons and eyes.

Acupuncture Points (12 points)

LR 8 – Nourishes Liver Blood.

SP 6 – Tonifies Blood and Yin.

ST 36 – Strengthens Qi, Blood, and Spleen.

BL 18 – Tonifies Liver Blood.

BL 20 – Strengthens Spleen, produces Blood.

KI 3 – Supports Yin and anchors Yang.

GB 34 – Benefits sinews, relaxes spasm.

DU 16 – Calms internal Wind.

GB 20 – Subdues Liver Wind, clears head.

LI 4 – Regulates Qi, moves stagnation.

DU 20 – Lifts spirit, clears dizziness.

HT 7 – Calms Shen, helps insomnia.

Homeopathy

Zincum metallicum 30– Tremors, twitching, nervous exhaustion.

Agaricus muscarius 30– Chorea, spasms, trembling, jerks.

Cocculus indicus 30– Weakness, numbness, vertigo, neuromuscular fatigue.

Mother Tincture

Alfalfa Q – General tonic, improves nutrition and blood quality.

Avena sativa Q – Nervous exhaustion with tremors.

Withania somnifera Q – Builds strength, nourishes nerves and blood.

Patent Medicine

Cerebrinum 3X/6X – For tremors, neurological weakness.

Alfalfa Tonic – General nourishment, blood deficiency.

Five Phos (SBL/Dr. Reckeweg) – For nerve weakness and tremors.

Bio-combination

BC 1 – Anaemia (Blood deficiency).

BC 16 – Nervous exhaustion, tremors.

BC 24 – General debility and nutrition.

Pattern 4: Liver Yin Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic illness or long-term febrile disease consuming Yin.

Overwork, stress, and emotional strain → Liver Yin depletion.

Excessive alcohol, spicy/hot foods → consume Yin.

Aging → natural decline of Yin and Blood.

Prolonged menstruation or blood loss → contributes to Liver Yin deficiency.

Pathology

Liver Yin nourishes Liver Blood and smooths Liver Qi.

Yin deficiency → relative Yang rises → Liver Fire may flare, causing irritability, dizziness, tinnitus, and dry eyes.

Tissues, tendons, and sinews lack nourishment → spasms, cramps, tremors.

Dryness develops in eyes, nails, hair, and skin.

Signs & Symptoms

Dizziness, vertigo, tinnitus.

Dry, itchy eyes; blurred vision; floaters.

Dry throat and mouth.

Insomnia, difficulty falling asleep.

Irritability, mood swings, restlessness.

Muscle cramps, spasms, tremors in limbs.

Weakness of sinews and joints.

Dry hair and brittle nails.

Night sweats in some cases.

Menstrual irregularities: scanty periods or amenorrhea.

Tongue

Red tongue body, little coating, possibly dry.

Pulse

Wiry, Thin (Fine), Rapid in severe Yin deficiency.

Treatment Principle

Nourish Liver Yin.

Clear Empty Heat.

Calm Liver Yang and internal Wind.

Nourish Blood if needed.

Acupuncture Points (12 points)

LR 8 – Nourish Liver Yin and Blood.

SP 6 – Tonify Yin of Liver, Kidney, Spleen.

KI 3 – Nourish Kidney Yin, supports Liver Yin.

LR 3 – Smooth Liver Qi, nourish Yin.

BL 18 – Tonify Liver Blood, support Yin.

BL 23 – Support Kidney Yin, anchor Liver Yang.

GB 34 – Relax sinews, support Liver function.

DU 16 – Subdue Liver Wind if present.

HT 7 – Calm Shen, aid sleep.

Buy Indian

REN 4 – Tonify Liver/Kidney Yin.

SP 10 – Nourish Blood, benefit Yin indirectly.

Homeopathy

Lycopodium clavatum 30– Weakness, dry eyes, irritability.

Phosphorus 30– Dizziness, vertigo, night sweats.

Calcarea phosphorica 30– Weak sinews, cramps, tremors.

Mother Tincture

Avena sativa Q – Nervous weakness, insomnia.

Withania somnifera Q – Restores Yin, strengthens sinews.

Chamomilla Q – Emotional irritability, restlessness.

Homeopathic Patent Medicine

R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver/Kidney Yin deficiency, nervousness.

R-74 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Tremors, spasms, menstrual irregularities.

Cerebrinum – Weakness, dizziness, nervous tension.

Bio-combination

BC 16 – Tremors, fatigue, Yin deficiency.

BC 27 – Weakness, exhaustion.

BC 24 – Nervous system support, dryness.

This pattern emphasizes how Liver Yin deficiency alone can lead to internal heat, dryness, and subtle tremors, often affecting eyes, tendons, and mood.

Pattern 5: Liver Qi Stagnation

Etiology

Emotional stress, anger, frustration, resentment → primary cause.

Chronic worry or depression → impairs Liver's free flow.

Overwork or irregular lifestyle → contributes to Qi stagnation.

Poor diet: excessive greasy, spicy, or alcohol → aggravates Liver.

Hormonal imbalance or menstruation irregularities.

Pathology

Liver governs the free flow of Qi; stagnation leads to Qi blockage.

Qi stagnation → causes distension, fullness, pain in hypochondriac region or abdomen.

If prolonged, may generate Heat → Liver Fire, causing irritability, headaches, red eyes.

Liver overacting on Spleen → digestive disturbances, bloating, constipation, or alternating diarrhea.

Liver overacting on Stomach → nausea, vomiting, belching.

Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac or epigastric distension, fullness, or discomfort.

Mood swings, irritability, frustration, depression.

Belching, nausea, bloating, poor appetite.

Alternating constipation and diarrhea.

Menstrual irregularities: delayed, scanty, or painful periods.

Headaches, especially temporal or vertex region.

Red eyes, blurred vision.

Tight chest, sighing, nervous tension.

Feeling of lump in throat (plum-pit Qi).

Fatigue, lethargy.

Tongue: normal or slightly red on the sides, thin coating.

Pulse: wiry, sometimes uneven.

Treatment Principle

Soothe Liver, move Qi.

Relieve stagnation, harmonize Liver and Spleen/Stomach.

Calm mind, alleviate emotional stress.

Acupuncture Points (12 points)

LR 3 – Move Liver Qi, calm Liver Yang.

LR 14 – Front-Mu Liver, harmonize Liver/Stomach.

PC 6 – Move Qi in chest, calm Shen.

GB 34 – Relax sinews, move Liver Qi.

ST 36 – Support Spleen, harmonize Stomach.

REN 12 – Harmonize Stomach and Liver.

REN 6 – Tonify Qi, move stagnation.

LI 4 – Move Qi, relieve pain, emotional tension.

BL 18 – Tonify Liver, move Qi.

Homeopathic Patent Medicine

R-27 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver Qi stagnation, irritability, menstrual irregularities.

R-42 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Digestive bloating, abdominal distension.

Cerebrinum – Emotional tension, headaches, fatigue.

Bio-combination

BC 18 – Emotional stress, irritability, nervous tension.

BC 21 – Digestive support, bloating, Qi stagnation.

BC 25 – Fatigue, mental tension, irritability.

This pattern shows how Liver Qi stagnation manifests in both physical and emotional symptoms, often with digestive disturbances and menstrual irregularities.

Pattern 6: Liver Qi Stagnation with Heat

Etiology

Emotional stress: anger, frustration, resentment, or prolonged worry → primary cause.

Long-term Liver Qi stagnation transforming into Heat.

Overconsumption of hot, spicy, greasy, or alcohol-containing foods.

Hormonal changes, PMS, or menopause aggravating Liver Heat.

Sedentary lifestyle or insufficient physical activity → worsens Qi stagnation.

Pathology

Liver Qi stagnation generates Heat over time.

Rising Liver Heat can affect head, eyes, chest, and upper body.

Liver overacting on Stomach/Spleen → digestive issues (nausea, acid reflux, vomiting).

Heat disturbing the Heart → irritability, restlessness, palpitations, insomnia.

Chronic stagnation → headaches, dizziness, red eyes, flushed face.

Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac or epigastric distension, fullness, and discomfort.

Irritability, impatience, emotional outbursts, anger.

Red eyes, dry mouth, bitter taste in the mouth.

Headache: temporal, vertex, or frontal.

Palpitations, restlessness, insomnia.

Nausea, acid reflux, vomiting.

Menstrual irregularities: early, heavy, painful periods.

Constipation or dry stools.

Flushed face or malar redness.

Heat sensation in chest or upper body.

Fatigue, especially after stress.

Sensation of tension or tightness in the hypochondrium.

Tongue

Red sides (Liver area)

Yellow coating, possibly thin or dry

Tip may be red if Liver Heat is affecting Heart

Pulse

Wiry, rapid

Sometimes forceful or slightly overflowing

If stagnation is severe but Heat mild → wiry but moderate

Treatment Principle

Soothe Liver, move Qi, clear Heat

Harmonize Liver and Stomach

Calm Shen and relieve irritability

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

LR 3 – Move Liver Qi, clear Heat, calm Liver Yang

LR 2 – Clear Liver Fire/Heat

R-36 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Headaches, Liver Heat symptoms

Bio-combination

BC 18 – Emotional stress, irritability

BC 21 – Digestive support, bloating, Qi stagnation

BC 23 – Heat, restlessness, headaches, emotional tension

Pattern 7: Liver Qi Rebellious

Etiology

Emotional stress (anger, frustration, resentment) → causes Liver Qi to flow upwards against its natural course.

Irregular eating, overeating, or greasy/spicy food → disrupts Liver-Stomach harmony.

Excessive alcohol or stimulant use aggravates upward Liver Qi.

Hormonal imbalance (especially in women: PMS, menopause) can provoke rebellious Liver Qi.

Long-standing Qi stagnation that fails to move smoothly → pushes upward.

Pathology

Normally, Liver Qi should flow smoothly in all directions.

When rebellious → it ascends abnormally, disturbing Stomach, Lung, and Heart.

Liver overacting on Stomach: belching, acid reflux, nausea, vomiting.

Liver attacking Lung: cough, asthma, breathlessness.

Liver disturbing Heart: irritability, insomnia, headaches, dizziness.

Upward Liver Qi creates pressure in chest, throat, and head.

Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac distension or pain, worse with anger.

Belching, acid reflux, nausea, vomiting.

Headaches (temporal or vertex).

Dizziness, red face, tinnitus (from Qi rising).

Irritability, restlessness, mood swings.

Sensation of fullness in chest or throat.

Shortness of breath, cough, wheezing (if Liver Qi attacks Lung).

Irregular menstruation, PMS with irritability.

Insomnia or disturbed sleep.

Tongue

Red sides (Liver area).

Thin yellow coating or sometimes normal with red edges.

Pulse

Wiry, especially in the left Guan.

Can be rapid if Heat accompanies rebellious Qi.

Treatment Principle

Subdue rebellious Liver Qi.

Harmonize Liver, Stomach, and Lung.

Calm Shen.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

LR 3 – Move and subdue rebellious Liver Qi.

GB 34 – Smooth Liver Qi, harmonize channels.

LR 14 – Front-Mu of Liver, subdue upward Qi.

REN 17 – Descend Qi, open chest.

REN 12 – Harmonize Stomach, descend Qi.

ST 36 – Tonify Stomach, regulate Qi.

PC 6 – Open chest, calm mind, descend Qi.

Homeopathy

Nux vomica 30– Irritability, indigestion, upward Qi with belching/reflux.

Ipecacuanha 30– Nausea, vomiting, chest oppression.

Ignatia amara 30– Emotional blockage, sighing, chest constriction.

Mother Tincture

Chelidonium Q – Liver dysfunction, indigestion.

Buy Indian

Passiflora Q – Nervous agitation, insomnia.
Nux vomica Q – Digestive Liver disharmony with irritability.
Homeopathic Patent Medicine
R-5 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Gastric and liver dysfunction, nausea, acid reflux.
R-27 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver Qi stagnation, emotional imbalance.
R-74 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Qi disharmony affecting digestion and nervous system.
Bio-combination
BC 25 – Acidity, indigestion, belching.
BC 21 – Digestive regulation, bloating, Qi stagnation.
BC 18 – Nervous irritability, emotional tension.

This pattern is a dynamic Liver Qi disturbance → it pushes upward, causing digestive (reflux, belching), respiratory (cough, asthma), and emotional (irritability, insomnia) symptoms.

Pattern 8: Liver Qi Rebellious and Spleen Qi Deficiency

Etiology

Chronic emotional stress (anger, frustration, resentment) → causes Liver Qi to stagnate and then rebel upward.

Irregular diet (excess greasy, raw, cold, or irregular eating) → weakens Spleen Qi.

Overthinking, excessive studying, or mental work → damages Spleen Qi.

Chronic illness or constitutionally weak digestive system.

When Spleen Qi is weak → it cannot regulate digestion → Liver Qi easily invades Spleen and Stomach → imbalance.

Pathology

Spleen Qi normally transforms and transports food essence.

Deficiency → fatigue, poor digestion, loose stools.

Liver Qi stagnation and rebellion → attacks Spleen and Stomach → abdominal pain, distension, irritability.

Disharmony leads to a cycle: weak Spleen cannot control Liver, rebellious Liver Qi disrupts digestion further.

Emotional and digestive imbalance feed each other.

Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac pain/distension, worse with anger.

Abdominal bloating after meals.

Poor appetite, fatigue, lassitude.

Loose stools, sometimes alternating constipation/diarrhea.

Belching, acid reflux, nausea, vomiting.

Irritability, mood swings, sighing.

Pale complexion.

Weakness of limbs.

Depression, tendency to worry and frustration.

In women: PMS with digestive upset and irritability.

Tongue

Pale with teeth marks (Spleen deficiency).

Redder sides (Liver Qi constraint).

Thin or slightly greasy coating.

Pulse

Wiry (Liver) on the left Guan.

Weak (Spleen) on the right Guan.

Treatment Principle

Strengthen Spleen Qi.

Subdue rebellious Liver Qi.

Harmonize Liver and Spleen.

Regulate digestion and emotions.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 points)

ST 36 – Tonify Spleen and Stomach Qi.

SP 6 – Strengthen Spleen, harmonize digestion.

REN 12 – Harmonize Middle Jiao, descend Qi.

UB 20 – Back-Shu of Spleen, tonify Spleen.

UB 21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, regulate digestion.

LR 3 – Move and subdue Liver Qi.

GB 34 – Smooth Liver Qi, relieve stagnation.

LR 13 – Front-Mu of Spleen, harmonize Liver-Spleen.

LR 14 – Front-Mu of Liver, descend rebellious Qi.

PC 6 – Open chest, calm emotions, descend Qi.

REN 6 – Tonify Qi, regulate abdomen.

DU 20 – Lift Spleen Qi, calm Liver rising.

Homeopathy Medicine

Lycopodium 30 – Bloating, weak digestion, liver-spleen disharmony.

Nux vomica 30– Irritability, indigestion, acid reflux, stress.

Buy Indian

Ignatia 200– Emotional blockage, sighing, abdominal upset.

Mother Tincture

Gentiana lutea Q – Weak digestion, poor appetite.

Chelidonium Q – Liver-spleen imbalance with hypochondriac pain.

Avena sativa Q – Nervous exhaustion, Spleen Qi weakness.

Homeopathic Patent Medicine

R-5 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver dysfunction, digestive upset.

R-25 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Dyspepsia, abdominal bloating, flatulence.

R-72 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Functional digestive weakness.

Bio-combination

BC 25 – Dyspepsia, bloating, indigestion.

BC 17 – General debility, loss of appetite.

BC 24 – Indigestion, acidity, flatulence.

This is a combined disharmony:

Spleen Qi Deficiency → weak digestion, fatigue, loose stools.

Liver Qi Rebellion → bloating, irritability, belching, reflux.

Together → chronic digestive-emotional cycle.

Pattern 9: Liver Qi Rebellious and Stomach Qi Deficiency

Etiology

Emotional stress (anger, frustration, suppressed emotions) → Liver Qi becomes constrained → then rebels upward and sideways.

Irregular diet (skipping meals, overeating, greasy or cold foods) → weakens Stomach Qi.

Excess worry or overthinking → weakens digestion.

Chronic Liver Qi stagnation over time damages Stomach Qi.

Constitutionally weak Middle Jiao or prolonged illness.

Pathology

The Stomach normally descends Qi; deficiency causes weak digestion, nausea, lack of appetite.

Liver Qi rebels upward and sideways, attacking the Stomach → nausea, belching, acid reflux, fullness.

Stomach Qi Deficiency → cannot properly digest or transport food essence → fatigue, poor appetite, weight loss.

Disharmony causes a cycle: Stomach weakness cannot resist Liver Qi rebellion, and Liver Qi rebellion further injures Stomach Qi.

Signs & Symptoms

Buy Indian

Epigastric distension, pain, and discomfort, worse with anger or stress.

Nausea, belching, vomiting, acid reflux.

Poor appetite, aversion to food.

Tiredness, weakness, especially after eating.

Abdominal fullness and bloating.

Irritability, sighing, mood swings.

Thin body, tendency to lose weight.

Dry mouth or bitter taste.

In severe cases: dizziness, belching with nausea, chest oppression.

Tongue

Pale (Stomach deficiency).

Redder sides (Liver Qi).

Thin white or slightly greasy coating.

Pulse

Wiry (Liver) especially left Guan.

Weak/empty (Stomach) especially right Guan.

Treatment Principle

Strengthen and tonify Stomach Qi.

Subdue rebellious Liver Qi.

Harmonize Liver and Stomach.

Promote descending of Stomach Qi.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 Points)

ST 36 – Strongly tonifies Stomach Qi.

REN 12 – Harmonizes Stomach, tonifies Middle Jiao.

UB 21 – Back-Shu of Stomach, strengthens Stomach function.

SP 6 – Harmonizes digestion, strengthens Spleen/Stomach.

PC 6 – Descends rebellious Qi, stops nausea, calms emotions.

LR 3 – Moves Liver Qi, calms rebellious Qi.

GB 34 – Spreads Liver Qi, harmonizes digestion.

LR 14 – Front-Mu of Liver, subdues Liver Qi.

ST 34 – Acute epigastric pain, harmonizes Stomach.

REN 10 – Descends Stomach Qi, regulates food stagnation.

DU 20 – Raises Qi in deficiency, calms Liver uprising.

UB 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, regulates Liver Qi.

Homeopathy Medicine

Lycopodium 30– Bloating, belching, indigestion, liver involvement.

Nux vomica 30– Acid reflux, irritability, digestive upset from stress.

Ipecacuanha 30– Persistent nausea and vomiting.

Mother Tinctures

Gentiana lutea Q – Improves digestion, loss of appetite.

Iberis amara Q – Gastric weakness, belching, nausea.

Avena sativa Q – General tonic, restores energy in weak digestion.

Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-5 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver and stomach regulation.

R-72 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Gastric weakness, chronic indigestion.

R-7 (Dr. Reckeweg) – For stomach catarrh, chronic gastritis.

Bio-combination Remedies

BC 25 – Dyspepsia, indigestion, belching.

BC 17 – Weak digestion with fatigue.

BC 24 – Acidity, flatulence, reflux.

Clinical Essence:

Liver Qi rebellion → distension, belching, nausea, irritability.

Stomach Qi deficiency → poor appetite, fatigue, weight loss.

Together → chronic digestive + emotional imbalance.

Pattern 10: Liver Fire

Etiology

Excessive emotional stress (anger, frustration, resentment) → stagnation of Liver Qi → transforms into Fire.

Dietary factors: excessive alcohol, greasy, spicy, or hot foods.

External Heat or febrile disease penetrating the Liver.

Prolonged Liver Qi stagnation without resolution → generates Fire.

Pathology

Liver governs smooth Qi flow → stagnation produces Heat, which escalates into Fire.

Liver Fire rises upwards → causes red eyes, headache, irritability.

Fire consumes fluids → dryness, constipation, scanty urine.

Fire disturbs Shen → irritability, insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep.

Fire flares along Liver channel → affects head, eyes, hypochondria.

Signs & Symptoms

Headache, temporal or vertex region, throbbing.

Dizziness, red face, flushed complexion.

Red, painful, burning eyes.

Bitter taste in the mouth.

Dry mouth, thirst for cold drinks.

Irritability, anger outbursts, shouting.

Hypochondriac distension, pain, burning sensation.

Tinnitus, sudden deafness.

Constipation, dry hard stools.

Scanty dark urine.

Severe cases: hematemesis, epistaxis, hemoptysis.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep.

Tongue

Red body, especially redder on the sides.

Yellow, dry coating.

Pulse

Full, wiry, rapid.

Treatment Principle

Clear Liver Fire.

Drain excess Heat.

Protect Yin and fluids.

Calm Shen.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 Points)

LR 2 – Clears Liver Fire, drains Heat.

LR 3 – Regulates Liver Qi, calms rising Fire.

GB 20 – Clears head/eyes, subdues Yang.

Taiyang (EX-HN5) – Headache, red painful eyes.

LI 11 – Clears Heat, cools Blood.

SP 6 – Nourishes Yin, balances Fire.

KI 3 – Protects Yin, anchors Fire.

GB 43 – Clears Gallbladder channel Heat.

DU 24 – Calms Shen, clears Fire in head.

ST 44 – Clears Stomach Heat, synergistic for Fire.

UB 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, regulates Liver Fire.

REN 12 – Harmonizes Middle Jiao (prevent Fire attacking Stomach).

Homeopathy medicine

Nux vomica 30– Irritability, anger, red face, gastric disturbance, liver fire.

Belladonna 30– Sudden violent headache, flushed red face, dilated pupils, heat.

Lycopodium 30– Hepatic congestion with irritability, red eyes, bitter taste.

Mother Tinctures

Carduus marianus Q – Liver congestion, flushing, burning sensations.

Chelidonium majus Q – Liver inflammation, right hypochondriac pain.

Chionanthus virginica Q – Hepatic headaches, bilious attacks.

Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-7 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver inflammation, hepatitis, gallbladder pain.

R-95 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Nervous irritability, insomnia, heat states.

Liver tonic drops (various companies) – Hepatic congestion and fire-type symptoms.

Bio-combination Remedies

BC 25 – Liver disorders, bilious headache.

BC 6 – Fever with irritability and heat.

BC 17 – Digestive weakness, irritability with fire.

Clinical Essence:

Excess pattern (different from Yin deficiency fire).

Key signs: red painful eyes, throbbing temporal headache, bitter taste, irritability, anger, constipation, red tongue with yellow coat, wiry-rapid pulse.

Management requires clearing Fire and protecting Yin simultaneously.

Pattern 11: Liver Fire and Lung Qi Rebellious

Etiology

Emotional stress (anger, frustration, resentment) → stagnation of Liver Qi → transforms into Fire.

Liver Fire flares upward → invades the Lungs, impairing their descending function.

Excessive hot, greasy, spicy foods, alcohol → generate Liver Fire and phlegm-heat obstructing Lung.

Chronic smoking or toxic inhalation → weakens Lung descending Qi, aggravates rebellious Qi.

Constitutional tendency of Liver excess with Lung weakness.

Pathology

Liver Fire rises upward and horizontally attacks the Lungs. Buy Indian

Lung loses descending function → Qi rebels upward → cough, wheezing.

Liver Fire dries fluids → phlegm-heat accumulates in Lung.

Fire disturbs Shen → irritability, insomnia.

Relationship of Wood (Liver) overacting on Metal (Lung).

Signs & Symptoms

Sudden, violent cough, often paroxysmal.

Cough with blood-streaked or yellow sputum.

Wheezing, asthma, chest oppression.

Hypochondriac pain, distension, irritability.

Headache (temporal or vertex), dizziness.

Red face, red eyes, bitter taste in mouth.

Thirst with desire for cold drinks.

Constipation, scanty dark urine.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep.

In severe cases: hemoptysis, breathlessness with anger outbursts.

Tongue

Red body (especially red sides and tip).

Dry yellow coat.

Pulse

Wiry, rapid, full.

Treatment Principle

Clear Liver Fire.

Descend rebellious Lung Qi.

Protect Yin and Fluids.

Harmonize Liver–Lung relationship.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 Points)

LR 2 – Clear Liver Fire, drain excess Heat.

LR 3 – Smooth Liver Qi, prevent overacting on Lung.

GB 20 – Clear head/eyes, subdue Liver Fire.

LU 5 – Clear Lung Heat, descend Qi.

LU 7 – Regulate Lung descending function.

LU 10 – Clear Lung Fire, throat symptoms.

REN 17 – Regulate Qi, open chest, descend Lung Qi.

ST 40 – Resolve Phlegm, clear phlegm-heat from Lung.

LI 11 – Clear Heat, drain Fire.

BL 13 – Tonify and regulate Lungs.

BL 18 – Regulate Liver, clear Fire.

DU 24 – Calm Shen, reduce irritability.

Homeopathy Medicine

Sanguinaria canadensis 30– Cough with burning chest, liver congestion, right-sided headache.

Phosphorus 30– Cough with hemoptysis, burning chest, anxiety, dryness.

Nux vomica 30– Irritability, anger, cough aggravated by stress, red face.

Mother Tinctures

Chelidonium majus Q – Liver congestion with respiratory irritation.

Justicia adhatoda Q – Cough, wheezing, breathlessness, phlegm-heat.

Carduus marianus Q – Liver Fire with hypochondriac pain.

Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-43 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Asthma, cough, wheezing due to Lung Qi rebellion.

R-7 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver congestion, heat, hepatic headache.

Lung tonic drops – For cough, phlegm, rebellious Lung Qi.

Bio-combination Remedies

BC 6 – Cough, fever, inflammatory heat.

BC 25 – Liver disorders, bilious headaches, irritability.

BC 28 – Respiratory weakness, asthma, wheezing.

Clinical Essence:

Key signs: Cough with yellow/blood-streaked sputum, wheezing, irritability, hypochondriac pain, red eyes, headache, bitter taste, red tongue with yellow coat, wiry-rapid pulse.

Pathogenesis: Liver Fire invades Lung → Lung Qi rebels upward.

Focus: Clear Liver Fire, descend Lung Qi, calm Shen.

Pattern 12: Liver Damp and Heat

Etiology

Excessive consumption of greasy, fatty, oily, or spicy foods → generates Damp and Heat.

Alcohol intake → directly injures Liver and creates Damp-Heat.

Emotional stress (anger, frustration) → stagnates Liver Qi → transforms into Heat → combines with Dampness.

External Damp-Heat invasion (humid and hot climate).

Buy Indian

Chronic liver/gallbladder disorders → predispose to Damp-Heat accumulation.

Pathology

Dampness obstructs Liver Qi → stagnation, heaviness, and stickiness in middle/lower Jiao.

Heat combines with Dampness → irritability, red face, bitter taste, burning sensations.

Liver channel flows through hypochondrium and genitals → Damp-Heat manifests as hypochondriac pain, jaundice, genital itching/discharge.

Gallbladder often affected → jaundice, nausea, bitter taste.

Damp-Heat obstructs Qi → distension, fullness, digestive disorders.

Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac distension, pain, or fullness.

Bitter taste in mouth, poor appetite, nausea, vomiting.

Jaundice (yellow skin, sclera).

Abdominal distension, heaviness of body and limbs.

Dark, scanty urine, burning urination.

Vaginal discharge (yellow, foul-smelling) or genital itching in women.

Genital damp-heat in men: itching, swelling, pain in testes.

Irritability, restlessness.

Headache with heavy sensation.

Low-grade fever or feeling of heat.

Sticky taste in mouth, thirst without desire to drink.

Tongue

Red body, sticky yellow coating (especially on sides).

Pulse

Slippery, wiry, rapid.

Treatment Principle

Clear Damp-Heat from Liver and Gallbladder.

Resolve Dampness, regulate Qi.

Protect Spleen to prevent more Damp accumulation.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 Points)

LR 2 – Clear Liver Fire/Heat.

LR 3 – Smooth Liver Qi, regulate channel.

GB 34 – Clear Damp-Heat from Liver/Gallbladder.

GB 24 – Front-Mu of Gallbladder, clear Damp-Heat.

GB 40 – Yuan-source point of Gallbladder, resolve Damp-Heat.

BL 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, regulate Liver Qi.

BL 19 – Back-Shu of Gallbladder, clear Damp-Heat.

SP 9 – Resolve Dampness.

ST 36 – Strengthen Spleen, resolve Dampness.

REN 12 – Harmonize Stomach, resolve Damp.

LI 11 – Clear Heat.

DU 9 – Promote resolution of jaundice.

Homeopathy Medicine

Chelidonium majus 30– Liver disorders, jaundice, right-sided hypochondriac pain.

China officinalis 30– Abdominal distension, bloating, liver enlargement.

Mercurius solubilis 30– Foul-smelling discharges, jaundice, damp-heat with infection.

Mother Tinctures

Carduus marianus Q – Hepatic congestion, jaundice, gallbladder dysfunction.

Chelidonium majus Q – Liver obstruction, pain, yellow tongue coat.

Chionanthus virginicus Q – Gallbladder/liver Damp-Heat, jaundice, digestive upset.

Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-7 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver congestion, jaundice, gallbladder complaints.

R-5 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Gallbladder dysfunction, bilious colic, indigestion.

Liver/Gallbladder complex drops – Support detox, Damp-Heat clearing.

Bio-combination Remedies

BC 25 – Liver disorders, jaundice, gallbladder congestion.

BC 10 – Enlarged liver, abdominal fullness.

BC 6 – Inflammatory conditions with heat and Damp.

Clinical Essence:

Key signs: Hypochondriac pain, jaundice, bitter taste, sticky yellow coat, slippery-wiry-rapid pulse, Damp-Heat discharges (urinary or genital).

Pathogenesis: Dampness obstructing Liver combined with Heat → stagnation, heaviness, irritability, jaundice.

Focus: Clear Damp-Heat, regulate Liver/Gallbladder, strengthen Spleen.

Pattern 13: Liver Heat and Qi Rebellious

Etiology

Emotional stress (anger, resentment, frustration) → stagnates Liver Qi → transforms into Heat.

Excessive intake of spicy, greasy, or alcoholic foods → generates Heat in Liver.

External pathogenic Heat or Damp-Heat lingering in Liver channel.

Constitutional excess Yang or hot temperament.

Pathology

Liver Qi stagnation generates Heat → Liver Fire rising upward.

Rebellious Qi disrupts the natural flow of Qi → distension, headaches, irritability.

Liver channel ascends to the head and eyes → dizziness, red eyes, temporal headaches.

Heat in Liver channel dries fluids → bitter taste, thirst, constipation.

Liver Qi attacking Stomach → nausea, belching, acid reflux.

Liver Qi attacking Lungs → chest oppression, sighing, difficulty breathing.

Signs & Symptoms

Irritability, easily angered, restlessness.

Distension or pain in hypochondrium, chest, or epigastrium.

Headache, dizziness, red eyes.

Bitter taste in mouth, thirst with preference for cold drinks.

Nausea, vomiting, belching, acid regurgitation.

Constipation or dry stools.

Cough or breathlessness (when Qi rebels into Lung).

Insomnia, disturbed sleep, vivid dreams.

Tongue

Red sides, dry yellow coating.

Pulse

Wiry, rapid, forceful.

Treatment Principle

Clear Liver Heat.

Smooth Liver Qi.

Subdue rebellious Qi.

Harmonize Stomach and Lung if affected.

Acupuncture Prescription (12 Points)

LR 2 – Clear Liver Heat, sedate Fire.

LR 3 – Smooth Liver Qi, regulate flow.

GB 34 – Resolve Qi stagnation, clear Damp-Heat.

GB 20 – Subdue Liver Yang rising, clear head/eyes.

Mother Tinctures

Chelidonium majus Q – Liver congestion, digestive disorders, right-sided headache.

Carduus marianus Q – Liver inflammation, heat, hypochondriac pain.

Avena sativa Q – Nervous irritability, insomnia.

Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-7 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver congestion, irritability, headaches.

R-5 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Gallbladder dysfunction with heat, indigestion.

Nervous system complex drops – For irritability, insomnia, heat-induced restlessness.

Bio-combination Remedies

BC 25 – Liver complaints, irritability, hypochondriac pain.

BC 10 – Digestive weakness, abdominal fullness.

BC 6 – Heat, feverish conditions.

Clinical Essence:

Key signs: Irritability, hypochondriac distension/pain, bitter taste, red eyes, dizziness, wiry-rapid pulse, red tongue with yellow coat.

Pathogenesis: Liver Qi stagnation → transforms into Heat → Qi rebels upward disturbing Stomach, Lung, and Shen.

Focus: Clear Heat, smooth Liver Qi, subdue rebellion.

Pattern 14: Liver Blood Deficiency with Heat and Qi Rebellious.

1. Etiology

Chronic blood loss (heavy periods, postpartum bleeding, trauma).

Poor diet lacking blood-nourishing foods.

Excess emotions (anger, frustration) consuming Liver Yin and Blood.

Chronic illness draining Liver Blood.

Overwork depleting Yin and Blood reserves.

2. Pathology

Deficient Liver Blood fails to nourish Liver Yin → deficiency heat arises.

Deficiency heat agitates the Liver Yang → causes rebellious Qi.

Rebellious Qi affects digestion (Stomach, Spleen) and chest (Lung).

Internal heat combines with Qi stagnation → emotional irritability, insomnia.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Dizziness, blurred vision, dry eyes, floaters.

Poor memory, pale or sallow complexion, numbness of limbs.

Scanty or delayed menses, or amenorrhea.

Irritability, tendency to anger, mood swings.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep.

Headaches, temporal or vertex pain.

Rib-side distention, sighing.

Tendency to heat signs: night sweats, hot palms and soles, dry throat, thirst.

Bloating, nausea, belching due to rebellious Qi.

4. Tongue

Red body, little coat.

May have cracks, especially in Liver area.

Dry and thin.

5. Pulse

Wiry and thready (xian xi mai).

Slightly rapid due to deficiency heat.

In clinical summary:

This pattern is a mixed deficiency–excess type where Liver Blood deficiency generates deficiency heat, which then agitates Liver Qi into rebellious movement. Treatment focuses on nourishing Blood and Yin, calming heat, and descending rebellious Qi.

Pattern 15: Liver Yin Deficiency with Heat and Qi Rebellious

1. Etiology

Overwork / late nights depleting Liver Yin.

Chronic illness draining Yin and Blood.

Excess emotions (anger, frustration, worry) consuming Liver Yin and agitating Qi.

Febrile disease or chronic internal heat damaging Yin.

Aging—natural decline of Yin and Jing.

2. Pathology

Liver Yin deficiency → fails to anchor Yang and control Qi.

Yin vacuity produces deficiency heat.

Heat agitates Liver Qi → causes Qi to rise rebelliously.

Rebellious Qi disturbs digestion (Stomach/Spleen), chest (Lung), and Heart (Shen).

Combined picture of deficiency (Yin/Blood) + excess (Heat/Rebellious Qi).

3. Signs & Symptoms

Dry eyes, blurred vision, floaters, dizziness.

Headaches (temporal, vertex, throbbing).

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep, irritability, restlessness.

Hot palms/soles, night sweats, dry throat, thirst (esp. at night).

Hypochondriac distension, rib-side pain, sighing.

Nausea, belching, hiccup (rebellious Qi).

Tinnitus or deafness (high-pitched).

Menstrual issues: scanty or irregular menses.

Weakness of lower back and knees (Yin deficiency).

4. Tongue

Red body, especially in the Liver area, no or scant coat.
Cracked, dry, thin.

Bio-Combination 1 (Anaemia): To enrich Blood.

Bio-Combination 16 (Nervous Exhaustion): For restlessness, sleeplessness.

Bio-Combination 24 (General Tonic): To strengthen Yin-deficient states.

Clinical summary:

This pattern shows Liver Yin deficiency failing to anchor Qi, leading to deficiency heat that agitates Liver Qi into rebellious movement. The patient presents with dryness, Yin-deficient heat signs, insomnia, irritability, and rebellious Qi symptoms like nausea or belching. Treatment focuses on nourishing Yin, clearing deficiency heat, smoothing and descending Liver Qi.

Pattern 16: Liver and Kidney Yin Deficiency.

1. Etiology

Chronic illness consuming Yin of Liver and Kidney.

Aging – natural decline of Kidney Yin and Jing.

Excessive sexual activity weakening Kidney Yin.

Emotional strain (anger, frustration, worry) damaging Liver Yin.

Overuse of hot, spicy foods, alcohol, stimulants drying Yin.

Constitutional weakness inherited from parents.

2. Pathology

Liver stores Blood, Kidney stores Essence/Yin → both share a common root.

Deficiency of Liver Yin → poor nourishment of eyes, tendons, and Shen.

Deficiency of Kidney Yin → weak back, knees, Jing depletion, internal heat.

Yin deficiency → Empty Heat symptoms: night sweats, five-palm heat, restlessness.

Combined deficiency → instability of Qi and Blood → dizziness, tinnitus, insomnia.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Dull lumbar pain, weak knees, dizziness.

Tinnitus (high-pitched), poor memory.

Dry eyes, blurred vision, floaters.

Insomnia, dream-disturbed sleep, irritability.

Night sweats, hot palms/soles, afternoon fever.

Dry throat at night, thirst.

Premature ejaculation, infertility, scanty menstruation or amenorrhea.

Hair loss, early greying.

Fatigue, lassitude, low vitality.

4. Tongue

Red tongue, dry with little or no coat.

Cracks in Liver/Kidney area.

5. Pulse

Thready, rapid, floating-empty.

Weak in Chi positions.

BC 27: For debility, exhaustion, nervous weakness.

Clinical summary:

This pattern shows combined Liver and Kidney Yin deficiency, leading to symptoms like dizziness, tinnitus, weak knees, dry eyes, insomnia, night sweats, and heat signs. The aim is to nourish Yin, clear Empty Heat, and support Essence.

Pattern 17: Liver Heat and Wind

1. Etiology

Emotional stress, anger, frustration → overactivates Liver → transforms into Heat → generates Wind.

Excessive intake of hot, spicy, or oily foods and alcohol → aggravates Liver Heat.

Yin deficiency (Kidney or Liver) → unable to anchor Yang → Liver Heat rises, producing Wind.

Chronic illness, constitutional weakness, or overwork → predisposes to internal heat and wind.

2. Pathology

Excess Liver Heat disturbs Shen → irritability, restlessness, insomnia.

Heat generates Wind → dizziness, headaches, tremors, muscle spasms.

Heat damages Yin → dryness, thirst, red eyes.

Rebellious Liver Qi → nausea, vomiting, acid reflux.

Prolonged Heat/Wind → can affect Blood → bleeding, hematemesis, or epistaxis.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Irritability, anger outbursts, restlessness.

Dizziness, vertigo, headache (temporal or vertex).

Tremors, muscle spasms, numbness in limbs.

Red face, dry eyes, blurred vision, tinnitus.

Insomnia, vivid dreams.

Bitter taste in mouth, dry throat.

Hot flushes, palpitations.

Constipation with dry stools.

Scanty dark urine.

Menstrual irregularities (women).

Severe cases: hemiplegia, convulsions, hypertension.

4. Tongue

Red tongue with yellow coating.

Dry, possibly with cracks in Liver area.

5. Pulse

Wiry, rapid, forceful.

Floating or rolling in severe fire/wind conditions.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Liver Heat.

Extinguish Liver Wind.

Nourish Yin to anchor Yang.

Calm Shen and regulate Liver Qi.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

LR 2 – Clear Liver Heat, subdue Liver Yang.

LR 3 – Spread Liver Qi, extinguish Wind, nourish Yin.

GB 20 – Extinguish internal Wind, clear heat from head.

LI 11 – Clear Heat, regulate Liver Yang rising.

LR 1 – Clear Liver Fire, stop bleeding if present.

BL 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, tonify Yin/Blood, subdue fire.

BL 23 – Nourish Kidney Yin to anchor Yang.

KI 3 – Nourish Kidney Yin, stabilize Liver Yang.

BC 41 – Tremors, dizziness, hypertension.

BC 29 – Restlessness, irritability, insomnia.

BC 11 – Muscle spasms, convulsions.

BC 38 – Eye disorders, tinnitus, liver-related heat.

Clinical Summary

This pattern represents Liver Heat generating internal Wind, often aggravated by Yin deficiency. Key clinical features include irritability, dizziness, headache, tremors, insomnia, dry eyes, red face, palpitations, constipation, and menstrual irregularities. Treatment focuses on clearing Liver Heat, extinguishing Wind, nourishing Yin, calming the Shen, and regulating Liver Qi, supported by acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 18: Liver Fire and Wind

1. Etiology

Emotional stress, anger, frustration → overactivates Liver Qi → transforms into heat → generates Wind.

Excessive consumption of hot, spicy, oily foods, alcohol → aggravates Liver Fire.

Yin deficiency (Kidney or Liver) → inability to anchor Yang → Liver Fire rising.

Chronic illness or constitutional weakness → predispose to internal heat and wind.

2. Pathology

Excess Liver Fire → disturbs the Shen, generates internal Wind.

Liver Wind → causes tremors, dizziness, headaches, muscle spasms.

Fire damages Yin → aggravates dryness, irritability, insomnia.

Disturbed Liver Qi → rebellious Qi → nausea, vomiting, acid reflux.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Irritability, restlessness, anger outbursts.

Dizziness, vertigo, headaches (temporal or vertex).

Tremors, muscle spasms, numbness in limbs.

Red face, dry eyes, blurred vision, tinnitus.

Insomnia, vivid dreams.

Hot flushes, palpitations.

Bitter taste in mouth, dry throat.

Constipation with dry stools.

Scanty dark urine.

Menstrual irregularities (in women).

Severe cases: hemiplegia, convulsions, hypertension.

4. Tongue

Red tongue, yellow coating.

Dry, possible cracks in Liver area.

5. Pulse

Wiry, rapid, forceful.

Floating or rolling in severe fire/wind.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Liver Fire.

Extinguish Liver Wind.

Nourish Yin to anchor Yang.

Calm Shen and regulate Liver Qi.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

LR 2 – Clear Liver Fire, subdue Liver Yang.

LR 3 – Spread Liver Qi, extinguish wind, nourish Yin.

GB 20 – Extinguish internal Wind, clear heat from head.

LI 11 – Clear heat, regulate Liver Yang rising.

LR 1 – Clear Liver Fire, stop bleeding if present.

BL 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, tonify Yin, subdue fire.

BL 23 – Nourish Kidney Yin to anchor Yang.

KI 3 – Nourish Kidney Yin, stabilize Liver Yang.

SP 6 – Nourish Liver and Kidney Yin, calm Shen.

DU 20 – Calm internal wind, lift Yang, improve clarity.

DU 16 – Subdue Wind, calm Shen.

GB 13 – Clear Liver Heat affecting head, calm mind.

BC 41 – Tremors, dizziness, hypertension.
BC 29 – Restlessness, irritability, insomnia.
BC 11 – Muscle spasms, convulsions.
BC 38 – Eye disorders, tinnitus, liver-related heat.

Clinical Summary

This pattern demonstrates Liver Fire generating internal Wind, often with Yin deficiency as a contributing factor. Clinically, patients present with irritability, dizziness, headaches, tremors, insomnia, dry eyes, red face, palpitations, constipation, and menstrual irregularities. The treatment aims to clear Liver Fire, extinguish Wind, nourish Yin, calm the Shen, and regulate Liver Qi, supported by acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 19: Liver Heat and Qi Rebellious

1. Etiology

Emotional stress, anger, frustration → Liver Qi stagnation → transforms into Heat → Qi rebellious.
Overconsumption of hot, spicy, greasy foods, alcohol → aggravates Liver Heat.
Yin deficiency of Liver or Kidney → fails to restrain Yang → Heat rises, Qi rebels.
Chronic illness or constitutional weakness → predisposes to Liver Heat and rebellious Qi.

2. Pathology

Liver governs the smooth flow of Qi; excessive Heat → Qi moves counterflow.
Qi rebellion can rise to head/upper body → headache, dizziness, irritability.
Heat damages fluids → dry throat, constipation, red eyes.
Rebellious Qi can affect Stomach and Lungs → nausea, vomiting, cough, chest tightness.
Liver Heat can disturb Shen → restlessness, irritability, poor sleep.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Irritability, impatience, anger outbursts.
Headache (temporal or vertex), dizziness, vertigo.
Red eyes, dry eyes, blurred vision.
Thirst, bitter taste, dry mouth.
Nausea, vomiting, acid reflux.
Constipation with hard stools.
Palpitations, anxiety, restlessness, insomnia.
Menstrual irregularities in women: early or scanty periods.

4. Tongue

Red tongue, yellow coating.
Dry and slightly cracked in Liver area.

5. Pulse

Wiry, rapid, forceful.
Overflowing on Liver and Heart positions.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Liver Heat.
Subdue rebellious Qi.
Nourish Yin if deficient.
Calm Shen and regulate Liver-Stomach/Liver-Lung interactions.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

LR 3 – Spread Liver Qi, subdue rebellious Qi.
LR 2 – Clear Liver Heat, calm Wind.
GB 34 – Harmonize Liver, regulate Qi.
LI 11 – Clear Heat from Liver and upper body.
ST 36 – Support middle Jiao, descend rebellious Stomach Qi.
PC 6 – Descend rebellious Qi, calm Shen.
GB 20 – Clear Heat, calm head, eyes, and wind.
BL 18 – Back-Shu of Liver, tonify Liver Yin and Blood.
BL 23 – Support Kidney Yin if Yin deficiency present.
DU 20 – Stabilize Yang, calm Shen.
CV 12 – Descend rebellious Stomach Qi, harmonize middle Jiao.
SP 6 – Nourish Yin, calm Liver Heat.

BC 16 – Irritability, heat signs, restlessness.
BC 29 – Headache, dizziness, vertigo.
BC 33 – Red eyes, blurred vision, dryness.
BC 38 – Digestive disturbances from rebellious Qi.
BC 44 – Palpitations, insomnia, emotional volatility.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern represents Liver Heat causing Qi Rebellion, resulting in headache, irritability, dizziness, red eyes, nausea, constipation, palpitations, and insomnia. Treatment focuses on clearing Liver Heat, subduing rebellious Qi, nourishing Yin if deficient, harmonizing Liver-Stomach/Liver-Lung, calming Shen using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 20: Liver Cold

1. Etiology

Exposure to cold weather or ingestion of cold/raw foods → invade Liver meridian.
Yang deficiency of Liver or Spleen → inability to warm meridian, allowing Cold stagnation.
Emotional suppression, prolonged stress → impairs Liver Qi flow → Cold stagnation.
Chronic illness weakening yang → predisposition to Cold in Liver meridian.

2. Pathology

Cold stagnates Liver Qi → disrupts smooth flow of Qi and Blood.
Stagnant Cold contracts vessels and tendons → cramps, menstrual pain, cold limbs.
Impaired Liver Qi flow → digestive upset, abdominal distension, poor circulation.
Cold may transform into Damp if stagnation persists → heaviness, edema, fatigue.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Lower abdominal or hypochondriac pain, relieved by warmth.
Cold sensation in legs, hands, and lower abdomen.
Menstrual pain with dark clots, scanty flow, delayed cycle.
Pale complexion, cold extremities.
Fatigue, lethargy.
Poor appetite, bloating, loose stools.
Emotional depression, irritability.
Feeling better with heat application.

4. Tongue

Pale tongue, bluish or purple in sides (Liver area).
White, moist coating.

5. Pulse

Deep, wiry, slow.
Tense in Liver position, weak in Chi.

6. Treatment Principles

Warm the Liver, disperse Cold.
Move Liver Qi, relieve stagnation.
Harmonize Liver and Spleen.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

LR 3 – Move Liver Qi, subdue stagnation.
LR 1 – Disperse Cold, clear stagnation.
SP 6 – Warm and harmonize Liver, Spleen, Kidney.
ST 36 – Strengthen Spleen, warm middle Jiao.
CV 4 – Warm lower abdomen, regulate menstruation.
BL 18 – Liver Back-Shu, tonify and warm Liver.
BL 23 – Kidney Back-Shu, support yang.
GB 34 – Harmonize Liver, move Qi.
DU 20 – Lift and stabilize Yang.
CV 12 – Harmonize middle Jiao, alleviate bloating.
KI 3 – Support Kidney Yang, warm body.
LI 4 – Move Qi, relieve stagnation and pain.

8. Homeopathy Medicines

Pulsatilla 200 – Cold stagnation with abdominal cramps, menstrual pain, emotional sensitivity.

Causticum 200 – Cold, stiffness, urinary or menstrual difficulties.

Nux vomica 200 – Cold stagnation with digestive complaints, irritability.

Cocculus 200 – Weakness, cold extremities, poor circulation.

9. Mother Tinctures

Zingiber Q – Warm Yang, dispel Cold.

Cinnamon Q – Warm Liver, alleviate abdominal cramps.

Ginseng Q – Strengthen Yang, support vitality.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-54 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Cold stagnation, menstrual pain, lower abdominal cramps.

R-17 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Weak circulation, cold extremities, fatigue.

R-20 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Liver Cold with digestive complaints.

11. Bio-combination Salts

BC 12 – Cold extremities, poor circulation.

BC 22 – Abdominal cramps, menstrual pain, lower abdominal cold.

BC 30 – Digestive weakness, bloating, cold stagnation.

BC 41 – Fatigue, lethargy, low vitality.

BC 45 – Emotional depression, irritability.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern represents Liver Cold, often from Yang deficiency, external cold invasion, or chronic illness, leading to abdominal pain, cold extremities, menstrual cramps, bloating, fatigue, and poor circulation.

Treatment aims to warm Liver, move Qi, relieve stagnation, harmonize Liver-Spleen, support Yang, using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 21: Liver Blood Stasis

1. Etiology

Chronic emotional stress (anger, frustration, depression) → Liver Qi stagnation → Blood stasis.

Traumatic injury or surgery → local blood stagnation affecting Liver channels.

Cold invasion of Liver → constricts vessels → stagnates Blood.

Chronic illness or Yin/Yang deficiency → impaired circulation of Liver Blood.

Excessive alcohol or fatty foods → impair Liver function → Blood stasis.

2. Pathology

Liver Blood fails to circulate smoothly → stagnation in meridians, collaterals, and uterus.

Blood stasis obstructs Liver channels → pain, masses, cramps, menstrual irregularities.

Prolonged stasis → damages Yin and Yang → dryness, heat, or cold signs.

Poor Liver Blood circulation → poor nourishment of tendons, eyes, nails → weakness, visual disturbances.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Fixed, stabbing pain in hypochondriac or abdominal region.

Menstrual irregularities: painful periods with dark clots, amenorrhea, or delayed menses.

Palpable masses in abdomen or hypochondrium.

Dark complexion, lips, or nails.

Cold or warm sensation in extremities depending on coexisting pattern.

Irritability, emotional tension.

Dizziness, blurred vision.

Poor tendon or nail health.

4. Tongue

Dark purple tongue or purple spots on sides.

Bluish hue in chronic stagnation.

Thin or no coating if Yin is depleted.

5. Pulse

Choppy (Se), wiry, or firm.

Slow or irregular depending on coexisting Cold or Heat.

6. Treatment Principles

Move Liver Qi and Blood.

Dispel Blood stasis.

Harmonize Liver, regulate menstruation.

Nourish Yin or Yang if deficiency is present.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

LR 3 – Move Liver Qi, alleviate stagnation.

LR 14 – Spread Liver Qi, regulate menstruation.

SP 10 – Invigorate Blood, resolve stasis.

BL 17 – Influential point of Blood, move stasis.

BL 18 – Liver Back-Shu, nourish and move Liver Blood.

CV 6 – Tonify Qi, move Blood.

ST 36 – Strengthen Spleen, support Blood production.

KI 3 – Support Kidney, strengthen root of Blood.

GB 34 – Move Liver Qi, relieve hypochondriac pain.

SP 6 – Harmonize Liver, Spleen, Kidney; nourish Blood.

LR 8 – Tonify Liver Blood, resolve stasis.

DU 20 – Lift and move stagnant Qi, support circulation.

8. Homeopathy Medicines

Lachesis 200 – Stasis, menstrual irregularities, emotional irritability.

Arnica 200 – Blood stagnation from trauma, injury, or surgery.

China officinalis 200 – Weakness, dizziness, blood deficiency with stasis.

Belladonna 200 – Acute stasis with pain, heat sensation, red complexion.

9. Mother Tinctures

Hamamelis Q – Promote circulation, relieve stasis, bruise pain.

Aesculus Q – Circulatory support, relieve abdominal cramps and stasis.

Calendula Q – Improve blood flow, tissue healing.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-57 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Blood stasis, menstrual cramps, abdominal pain.

R-58 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Circulatory weakness, hypochondriac pain.

11. Bio-combination Salts

BC 9 – Painful menstrual cramps, blood stasis, abdominal pain.

BC 17 – Fatigue, blood deficiency with stasis.

BC 26 – Hypochondriac and flank pain, Liver stasis.

BC 33 – Circulatory weakness, poor Blood movement.

BC 45 – Emotional tension, irritability from stasis.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern is Liver Blood Stasis, caused by emotional stress, trauma, Cold invasion, or chronic illness, leading to fixed stabbing pain, menstrual irregularities, dark complexion, dizziness, and poor tendon/nail health. The therapeutic aim is to move Liver Qi and Blood, resolve stasis, harmonize Liver, and support Blood and Yin/Yang if deficient, using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 1: Gallbladder Qi Deficiency

1. Etiology

Chronic fatigue or overwork → weakens Liver and Gallbladder Qi.

Emotional stress, indecision, anxiety → stagnates Gallbladder Qi.

Poor diet (greasy, heavy foods) → impair digestive function, weaken Gallbladder.

Aging → natural decline of Gallbladder Qi and Spleen function.

Chronic illness → depletes Qi of Gallbladder and Liver.

Buy Indian

2. Pathology

Gallbladder stores and regulates decision-making and courage in TCM; deficiency → indecisiveness, timidity.

Weak Gallbladder Qi fails to ensure smooth flow of Liver Qi → stagnation may develop.

Dysfunction of Gallbladder and Spleen → poor bile secretion, digestive inefficiency.

Long-term deficiency may lead to Phlegm accumulation or Heat.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Lack of courage, indecision, hesitation in decision-making.

Easily frightened or timid.

Fatigue, lethargy, low motivation.

Dizziness, blurred vision.

Nausea, poor appetite, bloating after meals.

Weak or hesitant voice.

Mild hypochondriac discomfort or distention.

Depression or mood swings in chronic cases.

4. Tongue

Pale tongue, thin white coating.

Slightly flabby or soft body.

5. Pulse

Weak (Xi), slightly wiry on the left side.

Deficient in Gallbladder position (left Guan).

6. Treatment Principles

Tonify Gallbladder Qi.

Support Liver Qi to ensure smooth flow.

Strengthen decision-making and resolve.

Support Spleen and overall Qi.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

GB 40 – Source point, tonifies Gallbladder Qi.

GB 34 – Influential point of tendons, harmonizes Liver/Gallbladder.

LR 3 – Smooth Liver Qi, support Gallbladder function.

ST 36 – Tonify Spleen and Qi.

SP 6 – Strengthen Spleen, harmonize Liver.

CV 12 – Tonify middle Jiao, support digestion.

CV 6 – Tonify Qi, support courage and vitality.

UB 18 – Liver Back-Shu, regulate Liver/Gallbladder.

UB 47 – Gallbladder Back-Shu, tonify GB Qi.

DU 20 – Lift spirit, support decisiveness.

GB 43 – Clear minor heat if stagnation present.

PC 6 – Calm mind, harmonize middle Jiao.

8. Homeopathy Medicines

Lycopodium 200 – Indecision, digestive weakness, fatigue.

Nux vomica 200 – Digestive sluggishness, nausea, irritability.

Argentum nitricum 200 – Anxiety, timidity, anticipatory fear.

Gelsemium 200 – Fatigue, weakness, indecision.

BC 5 – Fatigue, indecision, low courage.

BC 12 – Digestive weakness, bloating, poor appetite.

BC 27 – Nervous exhaustion, timidity.

BC 33 – Support Liver/Gallbladder Qi flow.

BC 17 – Weakness, lethargy, fatigue.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern shows Gallbladder Qi deficiency, manifesting as timidity, indecision, fatigue, poor digestion, hypochondriac discomfort, and mild dizziness. The treatment focuses on tonifying Gallbladder Qi, supporting Liver Qi, improving digestion, and lifting spirit, using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 2: Gallbladder Dampness

1. Etiology

Overconsumption of greasy, oily, or sweet foods → accumulates Dampness in Gallbladder.

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency → inability to transform fluids → Damp accumulation.

Emotional stress, frustration → disrupts Liver Qi → transforms into Damp.

Sedentary lifestyle → reduces circulation of Qi and fluids.

Aging → decline of digestive and metabolic efficiency.

2. Pathology

Gallbladder is unable to store and excrete bile properly → bile stagnation.

Dampness obstructs Liver/Gallbladder meridian → hypochondriac fullness, nausea.

Combined with Spleen Qi deficiency → generalized heaviness, poor appetite, digestive discomfort.

Prolonged Dampness → formation of Heat, leading to Gallbladder Damp-Heat.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac fullness, distension, or mild pain.

Nausea, vomiting, poor appetite, bloating.

Bitter taste in mouth, dry throat.

Heaviness in body or head.

Fatigue, lethargy, low motivation.

Loose stools or sticky stool.

Mild jaundice in chronic cases.

Emotional irritability, indecision.

4. Tongue

Pale or slightly red tongue.

Sticky, white or yellow coating, especially on sides.

5. Pulse

Slippery (Hua) and wiry (Xuan) on left side.

Weak in Gallbladder and Liver positions.

6. Treatment Principles

Resolve Dampness.

Strengthen Gallbladder and Spleen Qi.

Smooth Liver Qi to facilitate bile flow.

Improve digestion and remove stagnation.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

GB 34 – Influential point of tendons, regulates Gallbladder Qi.

GB 24 – Front-Mu of Gallbladder, clears Damp and promotes bile flow.

LR 3 – Smooth Liver Qi, relieve hypochondriac distension.

ST 36 – Strengthen Spleen and Qi.

SP 6 – Tonify Spleen and harmonize Liver.

CV 12 – Support digestion, tonify middle Jiao.
CV 6 – Tonify Qi, support vitality.
UB 18 – Liver Back-Shu, regulate Liver Qi and bile.
UB 19 – Gallbladder Back-Shu, resolve Dampness, strengthen GB.
LI 11 – Clear Heat if Damp-Heat starts.
PC 6 – Harmonize middle Jiao, calm Shen.
GB 43 – Resolve minor Damp-Heat, relieve bitter taste.

8. Homeopathy Medicines

Chelidonium 200 – Hypochondriac discomfort, bile stagnation.
Lycopodium 200 – Digestive weakness, bloating, indecision.
Carduus marianus 200 – Liver and Gallbladder support, nausea.
China officinalis 200 – Weakness, bloating, fatigue.

9. Mother Tinctures

Carduus marianus Q – Liver and Gallbladder support, detoxification.
Chelidonium Q – Gallbladder disorders, bile flow.
Avena sativa Q – Weakness, fatigue.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-42 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Digestive weakness, bloating.
R-43 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Gallbladder and liver support, hypochondriac distension.
R-74 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Fatigue, poor digestion.

11. Bio-combination Salts

BC 12 – Digestive weakness, bloating, poor appetite.
BC 27 – Fatigue, nervous weakness, low vitality.
BC 33 – Liver and Gallbladder Qi regulation.
BC 16 – Damp accumulation, heaviness, sluggishness.
BC 5 – Low courage, timidity, emotional irritability.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern shows Gallbladder Dampness, manifesting as hypochondriac fullness, nausea, bitter taste, bloating, fatigue, and emotional irritability. The treatment focuses on resolving Damp, strengthening Gallbladder and Spleen Qi, smoothing Liver Qi, and improving digestion, using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 3: Gallbladder Damp-Heat

1. Etiology

Overconsumption of greasy, oily, spicy, or sweet foods → generates Damp and Heat in Gallbladder.
Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency → Damp accumulation → transforms into Heat.
Emotional stress, frustration, anger → Liver Qi stagnation → transforms into Heat → affects Gallbladder.
Prolonged alcohol or stimulant use → damages Liver/Gallbladder function.
Sedentary lifestyle → poor Qi and blood circulation → favors Damp-Heat formation.

2. Pathology

Gallbladder fails to regulate bile flow → bile stagnates → Heat accumulates.
Damp and Heat obstruct Liver/Gallbladder meridian → hypochondriac pain, nausea, bitter taste.
Heat aggravates Yin deficiency → restlessness, irritability.
Chronic Damp-Heat → thick bile, jaundice, urinary difficulty.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Hypochondriac distension or pain, often right-sided.
Nausea, vomiting, poor appetite, bloating.
Bitter taste in mouth, dry throat.
Feeling of heaviness in head or body.
Feverish sensation or low-grade afternoon fever.
Dark, scanty urine; possible jaundice.
Emotional irritability, restlessness, indecision.
Loose, sticky, yellowish stools.
Sweating with foul odor in some cases.

4. Tongue

Red sides, especially on Gallbladder area.
Sticky yellow coating, sometimes thick.

5. Pulse

Slippery (Hua), wiry (Xuan), rapid.
Left-side positions (Liver/Gallbladder) stronger and wiry.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Damp-Heat.
Strengthen Gallbladder Qi.
Smooth Liver Qi and promote bile flow.
Support digestion and remove stagnation.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

GB 34 – Influential point of tendons, regulate Gallbladder Qi.
GB 24 – Front-Mu of Gallbladder, resolve Damp-Heat.

Pattern 4: Gallbladder and Liver Dampness-Heat

1. Etiology

Overconsumption of greasy, fried, or sweet foods → generates Dampness.

Emotional stress, anger, frustration → Liver Qi stagnation → transforms into Heat.

Alcohol or stimulants → aggravate Liver and Gallbladder.

Chronic Spleen Qi deficiency → Damp accumulation → combines with Liver Heat.

Sedentary lifestyle → poor circulation → favors Damp-Heat accumulation.

2. Pathology

Dampness obstructs Liver and Gallbladder meridians → hypochondriac pain, nausea, fullness.

Heat develops due to stagnation of Liver Qi → irritability, bitter taste, restlessness.

Combined Damp-Heat → jaundice, sticky yellow tongue coating, urinary difficulty, digestive disturbances.

Chronic pattern → damages Liver Yin and Gallbladder function.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Right or bilateral hypochondriac pain and distension.

Nausea, vomiting, poor appetite, bloating, abdominal fullness.

Bitter taste in mouth, dry throat, bad breath.

Feverish sensation, low-grade afternoon fever.

Dark, scanty urine; possible jaundice.

BC 16 – Damp-Heat accumulation, heaviness, sluggishness.

BC 33 – Liver and Gallbladder Qi regulation.

BC 5 – Emotional irritability, frustration, anger.

BC 27 – Nervous exhaustion, low vitality.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern presents combined Gallbladder and Liver Damp-Heat, including right hypochondriac pain, nausea, bitter taste, bloating, sticky yellow stools, irritability, low-grade fever, and fatigue. Treatment focuses on clearing Damp-Heat, regulating Liver and Gallbladder Qi, supporting digestion, and calming the Shen, using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 1: Pericardium Blood Deficiency

1. Etiology

Chronic illness or prolonged blood loss → depletes Blood.

Emotional stress, worry, anxiety → damages Heart and Pericardium Blood.

Poor diet or Spleen Qi deficiency → insufficient Blood production.

Overwork or exhaustion → weakens Qi and Blood circulation.

Aging → natural decline in Blood and Yin.

2. Pathology

Pericardium houses the Heart and Shen; Blood deficiency → insufficient nourishment of the Pericardium.

Insufficient Blood → Shen not anchored → palpitations, anxiety, insomnia.

Deficient Blood → poor circulation → dizziness, pallor, fatigue.

Chronic deficiency → emotional instability, forgetfulness, poor concentration.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Palpitations, skipped beats, weak heartbeat.

Dizziness, poor memory, concentration difficulty.

Insomnia, restless sleep, dream-disturbed sleep.

Anxiety, irritability, nervousness.

Pallor or sallow complexion.

Fatigue, lassitude, low vitality.

Cold hands and feet in some cases.

Dry skin, lips, or hair.

4. Tongue

Pale or slightly pale tongue.

Thin, delicate body.

Minimal coating.

5. Pulse

Thin, weak, possibly slightly rapid.

Weak in the left Cun and Guan positions (Heart/Pericardium).

6. Treatment Principles

Nourish Pericardium Blood.

Calm the Shen.

Tonify Heart and Spleen Blood.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

PC 6 – Calm Shen, open chest, regulate Heart Qi.

HT 7 – Tonify Heart Blood, calm Shen.

CV 14 – Front-Mu of Heart, tonify Heart Blood.

CV 15 – Tonify Heart Blood, calm Shen.

BL 17 – Influence point of Blood, nourish Blood.

BL 20 – Spleen Back-Shu, support Blood production.

SP 6 – Tonify Spleen, nourish Blood.

CV 4 – Nourish Blood, support Spleen and Heart.

BL 14 – Back-Shu of Pericardium, calm Shen.

BL 43 – Tonify Yin and Blood, support Heart/Pericardium.

DU 20 – Lift spirit, calm mind.

ST 36 – Tonify Qi to support Blood production.

8. Homeopathy Medicines

Coffea cruda 200 – Palpitations, nervous excitement, insomnia.

Sepia 200 – Emotional exhaustion, anxiety, palpitations.

Phosphorus 200 – Weakness, dizziness, sensitivity, palpitations.

China officinalis 200 – Blood depletion, fatigue, palpitations.

9. Mother Tinctures

Avena sativa Q – Nervous exhaustion, debility.

Viburnum Q – Restlessness, anxiety, palpitations.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Palpitations, anxiety, insomnia.

R-31 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Fatigue, nervous weakness.

11. Bio-combination Salts

BC 17 – Blood deficiency, low vitality.

BC 27 – Nervous exhaustion, anxiety.

BC 16 – Weakness, fatigue, poor circulation.

BC 12 – Pallor, dizziness, low Qi.

12. Clinical Summary

This pattern presents Pericardium Blood deficiency, manifesting as palpitations, dizziness, insomnia, anxiety, fatigue, poor memory, and emotional instability. Treatment focuses on nourishing Blood, calming the Shen, supporting Heart and Spleen function, using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 2: Pericardium Qi Stagnation

1. Etiology

Emotional stress, frustration, anger, or grief → obstructs Qi flow in Pericardium and Heart.

Long-term anxiety or depression → stagnates chest Qi.

Overwork or chronic illness → weakens Qi, leading to stagnation.

Poor diet → affects Spleen and Heart Qi, contributing to stagnation.

2. Pathology

Qi stagnation in the Pericardium → obstruction of chest circulation → chest tightness, palpitations.

Stagnant Qi fails to nourish Blood properly → dizziness, emotional instability.

Prolonged stagnation → transforms into Heat → irritability, restlessness.

Emotional stagnation → disrupts Shen → insomnia, anxiety, mood swings.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Chest tightness or oppression.

Palpitations, irregular heartbeat.

Shortness of breath on exertion.

Anxiety, restlessness, irritability.

Emotional fluctuations, moodiness.

Sighing frequently.

Poor appetite, bloating (if Spleen involved).

Fatigue or heaviness in the body.

Feeling of lump in the throat (Plum-Pit Qi).

Slightly pale or normal body.

Thin coating or slightly red edges.

Possibly slightly distended sides.

5. Pulse

Wiry, especially in the left Cun and Guan positions (Pericardium/Heart).

Slightly rapid or uneven.

6. Treatment Principles

Regulate Pericardium Qi.

Move Qi to relieve chest oppression.

Calm Shen and support Heart function.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

PC 6 – Open chest, move Qi, calm Shen.

PC 7 – Clear stagnation, calm Shen.

HT 5 – Regulate Heart Qi, relieve chest tightness.

HT 7 – Calm Shen, tonify Heart.

CV 17 – Front-Mu of Pericardium, move Qi in chest.

CV 6 – Tonify Qi, support chest circulation.

BL 14 – Back-Shu of Pericardium, regulate chest Qi.

BL 15 – Back-Shu of Heart, support Heart Qi flow.

LR 3 – Move Liver Qi to relieve Pericardium obstruction.

ST 36 – Strengthen Qi, support Spleen and Heart.

PC 4 – Xi-Cleft of Pericardium, relieve chest pain.

DU 24 – Calm Shen, relieve emotional tension.

8. Homeopathy Medicines

Ignatia 200 – Emotional stress, sighing, chest tightness, mood swings.

Nux vomica 200 – Overwork, irritability, chest oppression.

Gelsemium 200 – Anxiety, restlessness, fatigue.

Kali phosphoricum 200 – Nervousness, low energy, irritability.

9. Mother Tinctures

Viburnum Q – Emotional tension, palpitations.

Avena sativa Q – Weakness, nervous exhaustion.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-31 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Fatigue, nervous weakness, emotional instability.

R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Palpitations, restlessness.

11. Bio-combination Salts

BC 27 – Nervous exhaustion, emotional instability.

BC 16 – Weak Qi, fatigue, chest discomfort.

BC 17 – Circulatory support, Blood and Qi harmony.

BC 12 – Anxiety, emotional stress, nervousness.

12. Clinical Summary

Pericardium Qi stagnation presents as chest oppression, palpitations, anxiety, restlessness, mood swings, and sighing, often linked to emotional stress or overwork. Treatment focuses on moving Qi, relieving chest obstruction, calming the Shen, and supporting Heart and Spleen.  Sulphur 200 – Heat, flushing, irritability, night restlessness.
 Nux vomica 200 – Irritability, overwork, digestive disturbances with Fire.

9. Mother Tinctures

Avena sativa Q – Nervous exhaustion, agitation, palpitations.
 Passiflora Q – Anxiety, restlessness, emotional instability.

10. Homeopathic Patent Medicines

R-31 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Heart palpitations, restlessness, agitation.
 R-41 (Dr. Reckeweg) – Nervousness, insomnia, emotional agitation.

11. Bio-combination Salts

BC 16 – Nervous heat, agitation, emotional instability.
 BC 17 – Supports Blood and Qi balance during Fire conditions.
 BC 27 – Debility, exhaustion, nervous weakness.
 BC 12 – Calms nervous system, supports Shen.

12. Clinical Summary

Pericardium Fire manifests as palpitations, restlessness, insomnia, flushed face, bitter taste, thirst, emotional irritability, and bleeding tendencies. Treatment aims to clear Fire, calm Shen, regulate Heart Qi, and support Yin and Blood using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 5: Pericardium Phlegm and Fire

1. Etiology

Emotional stress, anger, or frustration → transforms fluids into Phlegm, then Fire.
 Overconsumption of greasy, spicy, or sweet foods → generates internal Phlegm and Heat.
 Chronic Yin deficiency → allows relative Yang to rise → Fire accumulates.
 Overwork, excessive sexual activity → weakens Yin and fluids → Phlegm-Fire accumulation.

2. Pathology

Phlegm obstructs Pericardium → disturbs Heart Qi and Shen → palpitations, mental confusion.
 Fire exacerbates agitation → insomnia, restlessness, irritability.
 Obstruction of Heart meridian → chest oppression, anxiety, delirium.
 Heat injures fluids → dry mouth, bitter taste.
 Phlegm accumulation → foggy mind, poor concentration, possible speech disturbances.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Palpitations, rapid or irregular heartbeat.
 Restlessness, agitation, irritability, insomnia.
 Mental confusion, poor concentration, dizziness.
 Bitter taste, dry mouth, thirst.
 Chest oppression, anxiety, emotional lability.
 Possible nausea, nausea-related vomiting (Phlegm accumulation).
 Tongue: red with yellow, greasy coating.
 Pulse: slippery, rapid, wiry or rolling.

4. Tongue

Red tongue, greasy yellow coating.
 Swollen tip or center (Pericardium area).

5. Pulse

Slippery, rapid, wiry.
 Left Cun/Guan positions may be forceful.

6. Treatment Principles

Clear Pericardium Fire.
 Resolve Phlegm and open Heart orifices.
 Calm Shen and regulate Heart Qi.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

PC 7 – Clear Fire, resolve Phlegm, calm Shen.
 PC 8 – Clear Fire in Pericardium, calm Shen.

This pattern represents Pericardium Phlegm-Fire, manifesting as palpitations, chest oppression, restlessness, insomnia, mental confusion, bitter taste, and greasy tongue coating. Treatment aims to clear Fire, resolve Phlegm, calm Shen, and regulate Heart Qi using acupuncture, homeopathy, mother tinctures, patent medicines, and Bio-combination salts.

Pattern 6: Pericardium Qi Stagnation turning into Blood Stasis

1. Etiology

Emotional stress, anger, or grief → stagnates Pericardium Qi.
Chronic anxiety or prolonged worry → impedes Heart-Pericardium circulation.
Cold exposure or chronic illness → may congeal Blood leading to stasis.
Poor diet, sedentary lifestyle → Qi fails to move Blood effectively.

2. Pathology

Qi stagnation in Pericardium obstructs Heart meridian → palpitations, chest oppression.
Prolonged stagnation → Blood stasis → fixed pain, cyanosis, or dark lips.
Obstruction affects Shen → irritability, anxiety, insomnia.
Qi cannot move Blood → micro-circulation problems, poor nourishment of Heart and Pericardium.

3. Signs & Symptoms

Chest oppression, tightness, or stabbing pain.
Palpitations, irregular heartbeat.
Anxiety, irritability, restlessness.
Mental confusion, poor concentration.
Cyanosis of lips or nails in severe cases.
Tongue: dark or purplish, possibly with purple spots.
Pulse: wiry, choppy, hesitant, or irregular.

4. Tongue

Purple or dark tongue, especially tip or sides.
Purple spots indicating Blood stasis.

5. Pulse

Wiry, choppy, hesitant; left Cun/Guan positions affected.

6. Treatment Principles

Move Qi and promote Blood circulation.
Remove stasis and relieve chest oppression.
Calm Shen and regulate Heart function.

7. Acupuncture Points (12 Points)

PC 6 – Move Pericardium Qi, relieve chest oppression.
PC 4 – Xi-Cleft of Pericardium, resolve Blood stasis.
HT 5 – Regulate Heart Qi, calm Shen.
